WALLACE URGES U. S.-USSR TALKS

President's Veto Changes Tax-Slashing Bill Into Hot Campaign Issue For 1948

Republicans Dispute Truman's Arguments

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The Republican chairmen of the congressional tax committees today sharply disputed President Truman's argument that an income tax cut now would be "unsafe."

But Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said in a statement that the veto message "constitutes firm assurance to the American people that the administration is determined that the finances of its government will continue to be kept on a sound basis."

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.), of the Senate Finance Committee, commented that "there is no indication from anything the President said that we'll ever have a tax reduction" and that "he'll never have a better budgetary picture in which to give it." Millikin held that the tax cut still would leave $5,200,000,000 to pay on the debt.

The Senator also told newsmen that Mr. Truman used "that same old demagoguery" in contending that the bill was unfair to persons with small incomes.

Knutson's Statement

Chairman Knutson(R-Minn.) of the House Ways and Means Committee, said the President followed the advice of those "who do not understand that we cannot long maintain full employment, full production and a sound economy and at the same time carry the present wartime tax load."

"Let me say to the workers of America," Knutson's statement declared, "that as a result of the President's veto, the tax collector will continue to take 20 per cent out of their pay envelopes until we can have tax reduction, or a President who will not play politics with our economy."

Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) summed up the position of administrationists with an assertion that "the President's logic is unanswerable" and the tax cuts proposed "are neither fair nor equitable."

"The President," he continued, "brings out clearly that the citizens in the high income brackets are given greatly preferred treatment as compared with those with low incomes."

Holland predicted that the Senate will uphold the veto "by much more than the required one-third vote."

Martin's Views

Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) declared that if the veto stands a business recession will be much harder to head off than if the tax cuts are forced through. He added in a formal statement:

"Those cuts were designed to bring the most relief to those least able to pay; to remedy in the upper brackets impediments to venture capital investments in business expansion, and the continued creation of good jobs at good wages; and to bring down prices for consumers by reducing excessive taxes involved in costs."

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), in a statement: "The President's action violates the spirit of the Constitution. Congress should always have the power of the purse strings.

"The best way to reduce government expenditures now, and in the future, is to reduce the tax income to a point which people can reasonably pay, and then conform all expenditures to that income limit. x x x The President x x x has put himself squarely on the side of the spenders who have dominated every Democratic administration."

$4,000,000,000 Cut Goes Out The Window

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP) — President Truman smashed the Republican income tax cut with a veto today.

He denounced it as "the wrong kind of a tax reduction at the wrong time."

He declared it "risky" and "unsafe" on the ground that "substantial" payments should be made on the debt in these good times.

And he left unanswered the question whether he will favor lowering taxes next year. It is "impossible to predict" when reductions can safely be made, he said.

Aroused Republicans immediately got busy to try to override the veto in the House tomorrow. But they conceded that even if they should muster the necessary two-thirds majority there, they would have no chance in the Senate, which then would vote Wednesday. And House Democratic Leader McCormick (Mass) predicted, after checking party ranks, that the veto will be sustained in the House.

Reece Sets The Pitch

So the $4,000,000,000 of income tax cuts ranging from 10.5 to 30 per cent which would have gone into effect July 1 now goes out the window.

And Bill No. 1 of the GOP-controlled Congress changes from a piece of legislation into a hot campaign issue for 1948.

Carroll Reece, Republican National Chairman, quickly set the pitch with this comment:

"Mr. Truman has committed his administration to continued support of the 'tax and tax and spend and elect and elect' philosophy of the now discredited New Deal. That philosophy was repudiated by the American people last November, and I am confident it will be repudiated again and even more emphatically in 1948. The American people have determined that there will be no fifth term."

Truman Gives Reasons For Veto

Mr. Truman gave two main reasons why:

1. It would be bad for the country's economy and for the Treasury.

2. It would give too much relief to those "in the high income brackets" and not enough "to the low income group."

The Chief Executive also gave his answer to arguments made for tax reduction:

1. "Despite many gloomy predictions, there is no convincing evidence that a recession is imminent."

2. "There is no shortage of funds" for "necessary investment and business expansion" so a tax cut is not needed to release money for that purpose.

3. The purchasing power of consumers should be increased by ironing out "the disparity" between prices and wages through "wise policies and improved practices of business and labor"; cutting taxes "is not the proper way" to do it.

Gibson Works For Early End To Ship Crisis

Curran Says Almost 700 Vessels Tied Up

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP)—Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Gibson, seeking a "quick and immediate conclusion" to an unprecedented sitdown by CIO seamen which has paralyzed shipping at many ports of the nation, conferred tonight for more than four hours with ship owners and union officials but there was no immediate solution of the maritime crisis.

The government official said at the conclusion of his talks that "after canvassing the positions of the several parties by means of separate discussions, it appears that there is sufficient basis for further meetings," and added that he had asked representatives of the union and the operators to meet again with him tomorrow.

No time was specified for the new discussions.

Gibson, who arrived here from the Capital after being assigned to the dispute by Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach, talked first with Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, largest of five unions involved in the crippling stoppage, and later with Frank J. Taylor, president of the American Merchant Marine Institute and chief negotiator for East and Gulf Coast operators.

Crew To Leave Luxury Liner

A NMU spokesman disclosed meanwhile that plans had been made for more than 600 members to walk off tomorrow noon from the luxury liner America, largest United States passenger vessel, now berthed here. Officials of United States Lines said earlier there was no change in plans for the ship to sail Wednesday for Europe.

Curran said almost 700 ships were tied up in the dispute, labeled a "strike" by operators and a "no contract, no work" stoppage by union leaders. The NMU head said 500 of the affected ships were in East Coast ports, and predicted the national total would increase to 2,000 soon if negotiations with tanker companies were unsuccessful.

Taylor, who said reports indicated seamen were aboard the ships but idle, insisted the stoppage was a "pure, simple, unadulterated strike."

Just before Gibson's assignment was announced, two federal conciliators had said further mediation sessions between union and operator representatives here had been postponed indefinitely.

Use Of Term "Lockout" Hit

Curran's instructions, effective last midnight when the unions' contract with shipowners expired, directed the seamen not to sign-on or sail vessels but he said "all crews should remain aboard as long as possible."

Union spokesmen said that if the men were put off the ships, operators would be blamed for a "lockout." Picketing is not to be conducted as long as the men are on the ships.

Taylor, however, declared this use of the team "lockout" was "entirely erroneous" and added that "negotiations having been carried on and agreement not having been reached, the union said 'no contract, no work.' "

Baltimore Strike Poll

BALTIMORE, June 16 (AP) — A strike poll was being taken in the Port of Baltimore today as approximately 3,000 CIO seamen remained idle aboard ship in compliance with their leaders' directive not to sail without a contract.

John J. Smith, acting agent of the National Maritime Union, said the poll would be completed this week.

He added that "the pin is pulled as far as we are concerned" after failure of the unions and shipowners to agree on a new contract.

There are about 118 ships in port here now. Between 50 and 60 are American flag-vessels and are affected by the union policy of "no contract, no work."

RITES FOR CRASH VICTIMS—Burial services for 10 unidentified and two identified victims of the crash of a Capital Airlines plane were conducted beside a common grave in Leesburg, Va., cemetery yesterday. A number of relatives of the victims witnessed the ceremony.

"First Step" To Guarantee World Peace

Warns Of Possibility Of New Party In U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 16—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace called on President Truman tonight to invite Premier Stalin to meet with him in Berlin as a "first step" to guarantee world peace.

"We must be practical," said the chief critic of the Truman foreign policy. "The time has come to substitute a 'get practical' policy for the Dulles-Vandenberg 'get tough' policy."

In his 3,500-word address, Wallace:

1.—Declared "there will be a new party, even if it has no chance of election success in 1948," if both parties "insist on pursuing the present suicidal course toward war and depression." He did not say he would lead such a party. President Truman's "only possible chance for election is to make the Democratic Party the party of peace," he said.

Ban On Traffic In Weapons

2.—Urged, as another "first step" toward eventual disarmament, that the United States propose a "complete ban" on international traffic in weapons of war.

3.—Suggested the administration and Democratic Party lead a campaign to nationalize domestic munitions industries. "The people should own and control our armaments plant," he said.

4.—Called on the President to exercise "vigor" in behalf of what he called "positive" programs on housing, health, educational, and other legislation.

Wallace appeared under the sponsorship of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.

Nine thousand tickets had been sold for from 60 cents to $3.60. The back of the tickets said the conference "condemns discrimination in all forms."

The House Committee on Unamerican Activities, which called the conference a "Communist front organization," said in advance it planned to have "observers" at the scene. Wallace and Clark Foreman, conference president, welcomed them and denied the conference is linked with Communists.

In his speech, Wallace expressed hope that government workers in the audience would not be "purged" because of their presence.

Says Russians Want Peace

Leading up to his proposal for a Berlin conference between American and Soviet leaders, Wallace said American hopes for a strong United Nations rest on "our ability to make peace with the Soviet Union." He suggested that Secretary of State Marshall and Foreign Minister Molotov sit in at the conference.

Asserting the Russians must have peace and destre peace, he said the Berlin conference should be called "for the avowed and announced purpose of drawing up an agreement which will cover all the points at issue between the United States and the Soviet Union."

"We cannot reach agreement on Germany until Russia and the United States have reached agreement on their individual objectives," he continued.

"We need markets—and as the world becomes increasingly short of dollars—we shall have more and more difficulty in our attempts to do business abroad.

"We can act now to develop trade relations with the Soviet Union and keep our plants in continuous operations; or we can continue to pursue a policy of arming Russia's political enemies and reap the results in depression."

Freedom Party Members Battle Hungarian Reds

Communists Break Up Szeged Meeting

SZEGED, Hungary, June 16 (AP) — Nearly 150 Communists, armed with weighted rubber hose, brass knuckles and hatchet-like Hungarian "fokos" broke up a Szabadsag (Freedom) Party meeting here today which had been called expressly to determine whether there was freedom of speech and assembly in Hungary.

In a bloody brawl, during which approximately 700 resentful Hungarian men and women fought back with their fists and wooden chairs—and even pushed one Communist out of a second story floor window—an undetermined number of persons were injured.

There was one official report, however, that five Freedom Party supporters were sent to a hospital with serious head wounds from the heavy, long-handled "fokos."

Victory For Freedom Party

Thirty grey-clad policemen who were assigned to watch the meeting, held in the second-floor ballroom of the Tisza Hotel here, rushed in with rifles and broke up the fight—after it definitely had been won by the Freedom Party—and declared the meeting adjourned.

Then, 500 policemen dispersed approximately 15,000 persons standing in the square facing the hotel.

Numerous small fights broke out in the square and, in a number of instances, police smashed their rifle butts into the faces of belligerent persons who would not move back at the first order.

Despite a police colonel's threat to use arms on the crowd, there was no gunfire.

Freedom Leader Not Present

Freedom Party Leader Dezso Sulyok, who called the Szeged meeting and who had been announced as principal speaker, did not appear to test his assertion in parliament last week that Hungary was a police state without freedom of expression and that armed Communists broke up his party's meetings.

Sulyok announced that instead he would speak "very soon" at Miskolc, northeast of Budapest, in another test of freedom of assembly.

Army, Congress Go To Cupid's Aid

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP)—The War Department and Congress went to the aid of Cupid today.

The War Department suspended a restriction that would have prohibited for a year the marriage of second lieutenants commissioned in the Army after July 1, 1949.

The action was requested by the superintendent of the United States Military Academy and approved by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief of staff.

Current regulations prohibiting marriages of West Point cadets until after graduation are still in effect.

The House passed and sent to the Senate for action two bills to help out the romances of veterans or men still in the armed services.

One would extend from July 1 to December 31, 1947, the time in which alien fiances may come to this country to marry.

The other would make it legal for brides now ineligible because of their race to join their husbands in America. It applies chiefly to Koreans and Japanese.

Puerto Rico Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON, June 16, (AP) — The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill to let the people of Puerto Rico choose their own governor, starting with the 1948 election. The Governor now is appointed by the President and approved by the Senate.

Ill-Fated Airliner Was Coming Down "Under Weather"

Bodies Of 12 Victims Buried In Mass Grave

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—A terrifying picture of a Capital Airlines plane—in normal flying position, all control surfaces in place, power on — suddenly ramming a mountain in zero visibility emerged today from official investigations.

The pilot of the ship which crashed Friday night killing all 50 aboard was coming down from 3,000 feet to fly into Washington "under the weather," reported James M. Landis, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Disclosing these details of the preliminary investigation, Landis told a news conference the procedure was standard. He said it is a supposition, but only that, that the pilot miscalculated his position when he hit the last Blue Ridge Mountain barrier on his flight from Chicago.

Common Grave For 12 Victims

The broken bodies of 12 of the victims were buried today in a 20 by 20-foot common grave in historic Fairfax Cemetery at Leesburg, Va. Ten could not be identified. Among these was the body of Mrs. John R. Dewar, Ambridge, Pa., so the identified remains of her husband were interred in the same grave. The other identified body buried there was that of Miss Minne Harman, Washington, identified at the last moment.

Meanwhile Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) introduced a resolution in the House which would require the Civil Aeronautics Administration to install radar altimeter equipment in all licensed commercial planes, ground control approach at all airports, and directional radio beam systems on all commercial airways.

Legislator Accuses CAA

His statement accused the CAA of "dilatory management" and declared that the last three crashes of DC-4s in which 146 were killed "could have been prevented" by the agency.

"Many hundreds of other innocent victims will be added to those already dead," he added, "unless this House demands the necessary action."

President Truman has appointed a five-member advisory group to study the safety problem and recommend what ought to be done by the government. It will hold its first meeting tomorrow.

Famed Violinist Dies

GENEVA, Switzerland, June 16, (AP) — Bronislaw Huberman, 64, internationally-known master and teacher of the violin, died today at his home at Nant Sur Corsier, Switzerland.

GLOBE-CIRCLING FLIGHT AROUND BOTH POLES IS PLANNED BY REYNOLDS

CHICAGO, June 16—(AP)—Milton S. Reynolds, wealthy pen manufacturer who flew around the world in April, today announced plans for a globe-girdling flight around both poles "about August 1."

Reynolds said at a news conference the new trip would not be non-stop, and that it would be "purely scientific." The plane, a converted B-32 bomber, will carry "10 or 12 scientists, and will be piloted by Capt. William Odom, skipper of the first trip.

Reynolds said he did not plan to go along, but would pay all expenses. He accompanied Odom on the first flight.

The route of the proposed flight, for which complete clearance has been obtained, will be from Washington to Greenland and thence over the North Pole to Yakutsk, Siberia; to Invercargill, N. Z., and across the South Pole to Argentina, Santiago, Chile; Balboa, C. Z.; and back to Washington.

Britain Seeking To Enlist Russia In Marshall Plan

Pravda Chills Hope For Positive Reply

LONDON, June 16, (AP) — Britain announced today she was seeking to enlist Russian participation in the aid-to-Europe project advanced by Secretary of State Marshall, but Moscow already appeared reluctant to co-operate in any continental-wide, pump-priming effort financed in large part by United States dollars.

The British overtures, a Foreign Office spokesman said, will be made through Sir Maurice Peterson, British ambassador in Moscow.

The announcement came about the same time that the first Soviet reaction to Marshall's suggestions was published in Pravda, Communist Party newspaper in Moscow. Pravda's commentary attacked the proposal as another case of "dollar diplomacy" and said it was an extension of President Truman's plan for "interference" in the internal affairs of other countries.

Foreign political observers in Moscow, after reading the Pravda reaction, said there was little hope of the Soviet Union taking part.

Foreign observers here, too, regarded the Pravda criticism as discouraging, but they said Russia's need for foreign trade, machinery and equipment which western powers could supply was a factor which might lead to a less chilly official reaction from the Kremlin.

Russian refusal to participate would mark a widening of the division between Eastern and Western Europe, it was agreed. But on the other hand, a Russian acceptance could be expected to be followed by other countries of Eastern Europe and the prospects of economic collaboration throughout the continent would be the brightest since the end of the war.

Curley's Second Appeal Rejected By High Tribunal

Court Won't Review Mayor's Conviction

WASHINGTON, June 16, (AP) — The Supreme Court threw out an appeal by Mayor James M. Curley, of Boston, for the second time today, leaving probation or executive clemency as his chief hope for avoiding a jail sentence of six to 18 months for mail fraud.

Technically, Curley could apply to the high court again for reconsideration, but such petitions have been granted very rarely.

Petitions have been circulated in Boston and Massachusetts for probation for the 72-year-old political veteran. They may be presented soon to the District Court here, where Curley was sentenced to jail and a $1,000 fine in connection with the operations of Engineers' Group, Incorporated. The government alleged that the concern realized about $60,000 by falsely representing that it could obtain war contracts for clients.

Curley In Hospital

There also has been discussion of a plea to President Truman for clemency.

Curley is in a hospital in Scituate, Mass. He was taken there last Friday suffering high blood pressure from hardening of the arteries. He was too ill to be told of the Supreme Court's new turndown.

The decision was a bare order, without opinions, in a long list of rulings.

Among its other decisions was one to hear a suit which may test the constitutionality of the War Contracts Renegotiation Act.

The General Products Company is appealing a government suit to recover $113,709 of alleged excess profits on 1943 war contracts.

Concern Denies Profits Excessive

The concern denied the profits were excessive and attacked the renegotiation law on 13 constitutional grounds. It said the act unlawfully delegates legislative power to the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board, deprives the firm of property without due process of law, and contains no standard for determining what constitutes excess profit.

Another ruling set a dividing line between workers who are "employes" for purposes of Social Security taxation and those who are not. It depends, the court held, on how much control the men have over their own work and whether they can be more successful through independent judgment and initiative.

U.N. Group Votes Down Russian Loan Proposal

LAKE SUCCESS, June 16, (AP) — The United Nations Economic and Employment Commission voted down today a Russian proposal calling for withholding approval of foreign loans such as those the United States made to Greece and Turkey.

By a vote of 9 to 6, the commission adopted a resolution "to encourage loans and credits which are directed towards economic stability and reconstruction in the interests of the peoples of the countries receiving credits."

Members Of Huntington, W. Va., School Group Blamed For Beatings

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 16 (AP) — Prosecutor Edward H. Greene announced tonight his office was investigating a series of gang beatings attributed to members of a Huntington Central High School fraternity not recognized by school authorities.

At least two cases in which victims were injured—one of them in an eye-gouging incident—will be presented to the October Grand Jury, Greene said.

He reported the investigation started after a 17-year-old member of a prominent Huntington family not identified, was attacked in his home by five youths, whose action, the prosecutor said, apparently was prompted by the fact the victim had "dated" a girl friend of one of the assailants.

The youth was thrown on the floor and one of the attackers gouged his eyes so severely that he had to undergo medical treatment, Greene said, adding that a sister-in-law who tried to intervene was bitten on the arm hard enough to draw blood.

James Wilkerson, the prosecutor's special investigator, said the inquiry had been hampered by reluctance of the victims and witnesses to talk, "apparently in fear of further beatings."

Investigation has shown the attackers apparently were members of Sigma Mu, an organization established at Central High about 15 years ago as a social fraternity, the prosecutor said.

Later, some of its activities prompted school authorities to forbid the organization to meet at the school or to use the school bulletin board in announcing its functions.

Son Fails To Prevent Woman's Death Plunge

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP) — Breaking loose from her son who sought to restrain her, Mrs. Helen Burlage, 45, leaped to her death today from the eighth floor balcony of the Jefferson Hotel, 16th and M Streets, N. W.

Scores of sepctators watched from the street below as the son, Thomas Burlage, Jr., 23, sought to pull his mother back into the room.

Mrs. Burlage rolled off the balcony and struck a seventh floor awning. Seconds later she broke through the awning and fell another story to an awning on the sixth floor. That awning gave way and she plunged to the concrete surface of a hotel driveway.

Mrs. Burlage was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital. The coroner issued a verdict of suicide.

Senate Restores Part Of Interior Dept. Funds

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The Senate today restored part but not all of the funds for western power and reclamation projects which the House cut out of the Interior Department appropriation bill.

President Truman had appealed for their restoration on the ground that the cuts would be false economy and would hurt agriculture and industry.

The partial fund restorations now must hurdle a Senate-House conference on the bill. Sen. Wherry (R.Neb), head of the Senate conferees, announced he will fight for them.

Hoover Says "Right-Wing" System Has Built Up "Quite A Plant" In U. S.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 16—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, speaking at Princeton University's celebration of its 200th anniversary, said tonight, "a God-fearing people under the right-wing system of freedoms have built up quite a plant and equipment on this continent."

The ceremonies will reach a climax tomorrow with a speech by President Truman at a bicentennial convocation under the elms before historic Nassau Hall.

In his speech, marked with anecdotes and humorous references, Hoover said the United States "is equipped with railroads, power plants, factories, highways, automobiles and death warnings. It is studded with magnificent cities and traffic jams.

"The terrible reactionaries have filled the land with legislatures, town councils, a free press, orchestras, bands, radios, jukeboxes and other noises. It has a full complement of stadiums, ball players and college yells.

"Furthermore, they have sprinkled the country with churches, laboratories, built ten thousand schools and a thousand institutions of higher learning.

"And somehow, these right-wing taxpayers are squeezing out the resources which maintain a million devoted teachers, a hundred thousand able professors, and the keep of these two million youngsters in colleges and universities.

"Possibly, another ideology could do it better in the next two hundred years. But I suggest we had better continue to suffer the evils of right-wing freedoms than to die of nostalgia."

President's Veto Changes Tax-Slashing Bill Into Hot Campaign Issue For 1948

Republicans Dispute Truman's Arguments

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The Republican chairmen of the congressional tax committees today sharply disputed President Truman's argument that an income tax cut now would be "unsafe."

But Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said in a statement that the veto message "constitutes firm assurance to the American people that the administration is determined that the finances of its government will continue to be kept on a sound basis."

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.), of the Senate Finance Committee, commented that "there is no indication from anything the President said that we'll ever have a tax reduction" and that "he'll never have a better budgetary picture in which to give it." Millikin held that the tax cut still would leave $5,200,000,000 to pay on the debt.

The Senator also told newsmen that Mr. Truman used "that same old demagoguery" in contending that the bill was unfair to persons with small incomes.

Knutson's Statement

Chairman Knutson(R-Minn.) of the House Ways and Means Committee, said the President followed the advice of those "who do not understand that we cannot long maintain full employment, full production and a sound economy and at the same time carry the present wartime tax load."

"Let me say to the workers of America," Knutson's statement declared, "that as a result of the President's veto, the tax collector will continue to take 20 per cent out of their pay envelopes until we can have tax reduction, or a President who will not play politics with our economy."

Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) summed up the position of administrationists with an assertion that "the President's logic is unanswerable" and the tax cuts proposed "are neither fair nor equitable."

"The President," he continued, "brings out clearly that the citizens in the high income brackets are given greatly preferred treatment as compared with those with low incomes."

Holland predicted that the Senate will uphold the veto "by much more than the required one-third vote."

Martin's Views

Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) declared that if the veto stands a business recession will be much harder to head off than if the tax cuts are forced through. He added in a formal statement:

"Those cuts were designed to bring the most relief to those least able to pay; to remedy in the upper brackets impediments to venture capital investments in business expansion, and the continued creation of good jobs at good wages; and to bring down prices for consumers by reducing excessive taxes involved in costs."

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), in a statement: "The President's action violates the spirit of the Constitution. Congress should always have the power of the purse strings.

"The best way to reduce government expenditures now, and in the future, is to reduce the tax income to a point which people can reasonably pay, and then conform all expenditures to that income limit. x x x The President x x x has put himself squarely on the side of the spenders who have dominated every Democratic administration."

$4,000,000,000 Cut Goes Out The Window

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP) — President Truman smashed the Republican income tax cut with a veto today.

He denounced it as "the wrong kind of a tax reduction at the wrong time."

He declared it "risky" and "unsafe" on the ground that "substantial" payments should be made on the debt in these good times.

And he left unanswered the question whether he will favor lowering taxes next year. It is "impossible to predict" when reductions can safely be made, he said.

Aroused Republicans immediately got busy to try to override the veto in the House tomorrow. But they conceded that even if they should muster the necessary two-thirds majority there, they would have no chance in the Senate, which then would vote Wednesday. And House Democratic Leader McCormick (Mass) predicted, after checking party ranks, that the veto will be sustained in the House.

Reece Sets The Pitch

So the $4,000,000,000 of income tax cuts ranging from 10.5 to 30 per cent which would have gone into effect July 1 now goes out the window.

And Bill No. 1 of the GOP-controlled Congress changes from a piece of legislation into a hot campaign issue for 1948.

Carroll Reece, Republican National Chairman, quickly set the pitch with this comment:

"Mr. Truman has committed his administration to continued support of the 'tax and tax and spend and elect and elect' philosophy of the now discredited New Deal. That philosophy was repudiated by the American people last November, and I am confident it will be repudiated again and even more emphatically in 1948. The American people have determined that there will be no fifth term."

Truman Gives Reasons For Veto

Mr. Truman gave two main reasons why:

1. It would be bad for the country's economy and for the Treasury.

2. It would give too much relief to those "in the high income brackets" and not enough "to the low income group."

The Chief Executive also gave his answer to arguments made for tax reduction:

1. "Despite many gloomy predictions, there is no convincing evidence that a recession is imminent."

2. "There is no shortage of funds" for "necessary investment and business expansion" so a tax cut is not needed to release money for that purpose.

3. The purchasing power of consumers should be increased by ironing out "the disparity" between prices and wages through "wise policies and improved practices of business and labor"; cutting taxes "is not the proper way" to do it.

Army, Congress Go To Cupid's Aid

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP)—The War Department and Congress went to the aid of Cupid today.

The War Department suspended a restriction that would have prohibited for a year the marriage of second lieutenants commissioned in the Army after July 1, 1949.

The action was requested by the superintendent of the United States Military Academy and approved by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief of staff.

Current regulations prohibiting marriages of West Point cadets until after graduation are still in effect.

The House passed and sent to the Senate for action two bills to help out the romances of veterans or men still in the armed services.

One would extend from July 1 to December 31, 1947, the time in which alien fiances may come to this country to marry.

The other would make it legal for brides now ineligible because of their race to join their husbands in America. It applies chiefly to Koreans and Japanese.

Gibson Works For Early End To Ship Crisis

Curran Says Almost 700 Vessels Tied Up

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP)—Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Gibson, seeking a "quick and immediate conclusion" to an unprecedented sitdown by CIO seamen which has paralyzed shipping at many ports of the nation, conferred tonight for more than four hours with ship owners and union officials but there was no immediate solution of the maritime crisis.

The government official said at the conclusion of his talks that "after canvassing the positions of the several parties by means of separate discussions, it appears that there is sufficient basis for further meetings," and added that he had asked representatives of the union and the operators to meet again with him tomorrow.

No time was specified for the new discussions.

Gibson, who arrived here from the Capital after being assigned to the dispute by Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach, talked first with Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, largest of five unions involved in the crippling stoppage, and later with Frank J. Taylor, president of the American Merchant Marine Institute and chief negotiator for East and Gulf Coast operators.

Crew To Leave Luxury Liner

A NMU spokesman disclosed meanwhile that plans had been made for more than 600 members to walk off tomorrow noon from the luxury liner America, largest United States passenger vessel, now berthed here. Officials of United States Lines said earlier there was no change in plans for the ship to sail Wednesday for Europe.

Curran said almost 700 ships were tied up in the dispute, labeled a "strike" by operators and a "no contract, no work" stoppage by union leaders. The NMU head said 500 of the affected ships were in East Coast ports, and predicted the national total would increase to 2,000 soon if negotiations with tanker companies were unsuccessful.

Taylor, who said reports indicated seamen were aboard the ships but idle, insisted the stoppage was a "pure, simple, unadulterated strike."

Just before Gibson's assignment was announced, two federal conciliators had said further mediation sessions between union and operator representatives here had been postponed indefinitely.

Use Of Term "Lockout" Hit

Curran's instructions, effective last midnight when the unions' contract with shipowners expired, directed the seamen not to sign-on or sail vessels but he said "all crews should remain aboard as long as possible."

Union spokesmen said that if the men were put off the ships, operators would be blamed for a "lockout." Picketing is not to be conducted as long as the men are on the ships.

Taylor, however, declared this use of the team "lockout" was "entirely erroneous" and added that "negotiations having been carried on and agreement not having been reached, the union said 'no contract, no work.' "

Baltimore Strike Poll

BALTIMORE, June 16 (AP) — A strike poll was being taken in the Port of Baltimore today as approximately 3,000 CIO seamen remained idle aboard ship in compliance with their leaders' directive not to sail without a contract.

John J. Smith, acting agent of the National Maritime Union, said the poll would be completed this week.

He added that "the pin is pulled as far as we are concerned" after failure of the unions and shipowners to agree on a new contract.

There are about 118 ships in port here now. Between 50 and 60 are American flag-vessels and are affected by the union policy of "no contract, no work."

Puerto Rico Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON, June 16, (AP) — The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill to let the people of Puerto Rico choose their own governor, starting with the 1948 election. The Governor now is appointed by the President and approved by the Senate.

RITES FOR CRASH VICTIMS—Burial services for 10 unidentified and two identified victims of the crash of a Capital Airlines plane were conducted beside a common grave in Leesburg, Va., cemetery yesterday. A number of relatives of the victims witnessed the ceremony.

Ill-Fated Airliner Was Coming Down "Under Weather"

Bodies Of 12 Victims Buried In Mass Grave

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—A terrifying picture of a Capital Airlines plane—in normal flying position, all control surfaces in place, power on — suddenly ramming a mountain in zero visibility emerged today from official investigations.

The pilot of the ship which crashed Friday night killing all 50 aboard was coming down from 3,000 feet to fly into Washington "under the weather," reported James M. Landis, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Disclosing these details of the preliminary investigation, Landis told a news conference the procedure was standard. He said it is a supposition, but only that, that the pilot miscalculated his position when he hit the last Blue Ridge Mountain barrier on his flight from Chicago.

Common Grave For 12 Victims

The broken bodies of 12 of the victims were buried today in a 20 by 20-foot common grave in historic Fairfax Cemetery at Leesburg, Va. Ten could not be identified. Among these was the body of Mrs. John R. Dewar, Ambridge, Pa., so the identified remains of her husband were interred in the same grave. The other identified body buried there was that of Miss Minne Harman, Washington, identified at the last moment.

Meanwhile Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) introduced a resolution in the House which would require the Civil Aeronautics Administration to install radar altimeter equipment in all licensed commercial planes, ground control approach at all airports, and directional radio beam systems on all commercial airways.

Legislator Accuses CAA

His statement accused the CAA of "dilatory management" and declared that the last three crashes of DC-4s in which 146 were killed "could have been prevented" by the agency.

"Many hundreds of other innocent victims will be added to those already dead," he added, "unless this House demands the necessary action."

President Truman has appointed a five-member advisory group to study the safety problem and recommend what ought to be done by the government. It will hold its first meeting tomorrow.

GLOBE-CIRCLING FLIGHT AROUND BOTH POLES IS PLANNED BY REYNOLDS

CHICAGO, June 16—(AP)—Milton S. Reynolds, wealthy pen manufacturer who flew around the world in April, today announced plans for a globe-girdling flight around both poles "about August 1."

Reynolds said at a news conference the new trip would not be non-stop, and that it would be "purely scientific." The plane, a converted B-32 bomber, will carry "10 or 12 scientists, and will be piloted by Capt. William Odom, skipper of the first trip.

Reynolds said he did not plan to go along, but would pay all expenses. He accompanied Odom on the first flight.

The route of the proposed flight, for which complete clearance has been obtained, will be from Washington to Greenland and thence over the North Pole to Yakutsk, Siberia; to Invercargill, N. Z., and across the South Pole to Argentina, Santiago, Chile; Balboa, C. Z.; and back to Washington.

Britain Seeking To Enlist Russia In Marshall Plan

Pravda Chills Hope For Positive Reply

LONDON, June 16, (AP) — Britain announced today she was seeking to enlist Russian participation in the aid-to-Europe project advanced by Secretary of State Marshall, but Moscow already appeared reluctant to co-operate in any continental-wide, pump-priming effort financed in large part by United States dollars.

The British overtures, a Foreign Office spokesman said, will be made through Sir Maurice Peterson, British ambassador in Moscow.

The announcement came about the same time that the first Soviet reaction to Marshall's suggestions was published in Pravda, Communist Party newspaper in Moscow. Pravda's commentary attacked the proposal as another case of "dollar diplomacy" and said it was an extension of President Truman's plan for "interference" in the internal affairs of other countries.

Foreign political observers in Moscow, after reading the Pravda reaction, said there was little hope of the Soviet Union taking part.

Foreign observers here, too, regarded the Pravda criticism as discouraging, but they said Russia's need for foreign trade, machinery and equipment which western powers could supply was a factor which might lead to a less chilly official reaction from the Kremlin.

Russian refusal to participate would mark a widening of the division between Eastern and Western Europe, it was agreed. But on the other hand, a Russian acceptance could be expected to be followed by other countries of Eastern Europe and the prospects of economic collaboration throughout the continent would be the brightest since the end of the war.

Senate Restores Part Of Interior Dept. Funds

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The Senate today restored part but not all of the funds for western power and reclamation projects which the House cut out of the Interior Department appropriation bill.

President Truman had appealed for their restoration on the ground that the cuts would be false economy and would hurt agriculture and industry.

The partial fund restorations now must hurdle a Senate-House conference on the bill. Sen. Wherry (R.Neb), head of the Senate conferees, announced he will fight for them.

Curley's Second Appeal Rejected By High Tribunal

Court Won't Review Mayor's Conviction

WASHINGTON, June 16, (AP) — The Supreme Court threw out an appeal by Mayor James M. Curley, of Boston, for the second time today, leaving probation or executive clemency as his chief hope for avoiding a jail sentence of six to 18 months for mail fraud.

Technically, Curley could apply to the high court again for reconsideration, but such petitions have been granted very rarely.

Petitions have been circulated in Boston and Massachusetts for probation for the 72-year-old political veteran. They may be presented soon to the District Court here, where Curley was sentenced to jail and a $1,000 fine in connection with the operations of Engineers' Group, Incorporated. The government alleged that the concern realized about $60,000 by falsely representing that it could obtain war contracts for clients.

Curley In Hospital

There also has been discussion of a plea to President Truman for clemency.

Curley is in a horpital in Scituate, Mass. He was taken there last Friday suffering high blood pressure from hardening of the arteries. He was too ill to be told of the Supreme Court's new turndown.

The decision was a bare order, without opinions, in a long list of rulings.

Among its other decisions was one to hear a suit which may test the constitutionality of the War Contracts Renegotiation Act.

Concern Denies Profits Excessive

The concern denied the profits were excessive and attacked the renegotiation law on 13 constitutional grounds. It said the act unlawfully delegates legislative power to the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board, deprives the firm of property without due process of law, and contains no standard for determining what constitutes excess profit.

Another ruling set a dividing line between workers who are "employes" for purposes of Social Security taxation and those who are not. It depends, the court held, on how much control the men have over their own work and whether they can be more successful through independent judgment and initiative.

"First Step" To Guarantee World Peace

Warns Of Possibility Of New Party In U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 16—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace called on President Truman tonight to invite Premier Stalin to meet with him in Berlin as a "first step" to guarantee world peace.

"We must be practical," said the chief critic of the Truman foreign policy. "The time has come to substitute a 'get practical' policy for the Dulles-Vandenberg 'get tough' policy."

In his 3,500-word address, Wallace:

1.—Declared "there will be a new party, even if it has no chance of election success in 1948," if both parties "insist on pursuing the present suicidal course toward war and depression." He did not say he would lead such a party. President Truman's "only possible chance for election is to make the Democratic Party the party of peace," he said.

Ban On Traffic In Weapons

2.—Urged, as another "first step" toward eventual disarmament, that the United States propose a "complete ban" on international traffic in weapons of war.

3.—Suggested the administration and Democratic Party lead a campaign to nationalize domestic munitions industries. "The people should own and control our armaments plant," he said.

4.—Called on the President to exercise "vigor" in behalf of what he called "positive" programs on housing, health, educational, and other legislation.

Wallace appeared under the sponsorship of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.

Nine thousand tickets had been sold for from 60 cents to $3.60. The back of the tickets said the conference "condemns discrimination in all forms."

The House Committee on Unamerican Activities, which called the conference a "Communist front organization," said in advance it planned to have "observers" at the scene. Wallace and Clark Foreman, conference president, welcomed them and denied the conference is linked with Communists.

In his speech, Wallace expressed hope that government workers in the audience would not be "purged" because of their presence.

Says Russians Want Peace

Leading up to his proposal for a Berlin conference between American and Soviet leaders, Wallace said American hopes for a strong United Nations rest on "our ability to make peace with the Soviet Union." He suggested that Secretary of State Marshall and Foreign Minister Molotov sit in at the conference.

Asserting the Russians must have peace and desire peace, he said the Berlin conference should be called "for the avowed and announced purpose of drawing up an agreement which will cover all the points at issue between the United States and the Soviet Union."

"We cannot reach agreement on Germany until Russia and the United States have reached agreement on their individual objectives," he continued.

"We need markets—and as the world becomes increasingly short of dollars—we shall have more and more difficulty in our attempts to do business abroad.

"We can act now to develop trade relations with the Soviet Union and keep our plants in continuous operations; or we can continue to pursue a policy of arming Russia's political enemies and reap the results in depression."

U.N. Group Votes Down Russian Loan Proposal

LAKE SUCCESS, June 16, (AP) — The United Nations Economic and Employment Commission voted down today a Russian proposal calling for withholding approval of foreign loans such as those the United States made to Greece and Turkey.

By a vote of 9 to 0, the commission adopted a resolution "to encourage loans and credits which are directed towards economic stability and reconstruction in the interests of the peoples of the countries receiving credits."

Members Of Huntington, W. Va., School Group Blamed For Beatings

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 16 (AP) — Prosecutor Edward H. Greene announced tonight his office was investigating a series of gang beatings attributed to members of a Huntington Central High School fraternity not recognized by school authorities.

At least two cases in which victims were injured—one of them in an eye-gouging incident—will be presented to the October Grand Jury, Greene said.

He reported the investigation started after a 17-year-old member of a prominent Huntington family not identified, was attacked in his home by five youths, whose action, the prosecutor said, apparently was prompted by the fact the victim had "dated" a girl friend of one of the assailants.

The youth was thrown on the floor and one of the attackers gouged his eyes so severely that he had to undergo medical treatment, Greene said, adding that a sister-in-law who tried to intervene was bitten on the arm hard enough to draw blood.

James Wilkerson, the prosecutor's special investigator, said the inquiry had been hampered by reluctance of the victims and witnesses to talk, "apparently in fear of further beatings."

Investigation has shown the attackers apparently were members of Sigma Mu, an organization established at Central High about 15 years ago as a social fraternity, the prosecutor said.

Later, some of its activities prompted school authorities to forbid the organization to meet at the school or to use the school bulletin board in announcing its functions.

Son Fails To Prevent Woman's Death Plunge

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP) — Breaking loose from her son who sought to restrain her, Mrs. Helen Burlage, 45, leaped to her death today from the eighth floor balcony of the Jefferson Hotel, 16th and M Streets, N. W.

Scores of sepctators watched from the street below as the son, Thomas Burlage, Jr., 23, sought to pull his mother back into the room.

Mrs. Burlage rolled off the balcony and struck a seventh floor awning. Seconds later she broke through the awning and fell another story to an awning on the sixth floor. That awning gave way and she plunged to the concrete surface of a hotel driveway.

Mrs. Burlage was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital. The coroner issued a verdict of suicide.

Hoover Says "Right-Wing" System Has Built Up "Quite A Plant" In U. S.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 16—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, speaking at Princeton University's celebration of its 200th anniversary, said tonight, "a God-fearing people under the right-wing system of freedoms have built up quite a plant and equipment on this continent."

The ceremonies will reach a climax tomorrow with a speech by President Truman at a bicentennial convocation under the elms before historic Nassau Hall.

In his speech, marked with anecdotes and humorous references, Hoover said the United States "is equipped with railroads, power plants, factories, highways, automobiles and death warnings. It is studded with magnificent cities and traffic jams.

"The terrible reactionaries have filled the land with legislatures, town councils, a free press, orchestras, bands, radios, jukeboxes and other noises. It has a full complement of stadiums, ball players and college yells.

"Furthermore, they have sprinkled the country with churches, laboratories, built ten thousand schools and a thousand institutions of higher learning.

"And somehow, these right-wing taxpayers are squeezing out the resources which maintain a million devoted teachers, a hundred thousand able professors, and the keep of these two million youngsters in colleges and universities.

"Possibly, another ideology could do it better in the next two hundred years. But I suggest we had better continue to suffer the evils of right-wing freedoms than to die of nostalgia."

House Approves Bill To Protect Wool Producers

Shunted To Senate; Veto Is Anticipated

WASHINGTON, June 18, (AP) — Adamant in the face of an anticipated presidential veto, the House endorsed anew today a policy of protection for American wool producers from foreign competition despite declarations that the step may scuttle the Geneva trade conference.

It approved a bill pegging wool support prices at their present level and directing the Chief Executive to fix quotas on wool imports or boost the tariff if and when he finds foreign wool is interfering with domestic prices.

The decision was by voice vote only a few mnutes after the House, on a roll call tally, voted 191 to 166, against sending the bill back to a joint House-Senate conference committee for further study.

Voting against the motion to send the bill back to conference committee were 154 Republicans and 37 Democrats. For recommittal were 46 Republicans, 119 Democrats and Rep. Marcantonio, of New York, only member of the American Labor Party in Congress.

The measure will be shunted now to the Senate for probable approval and then on to President Truman's desk.

The final form of the measure is the product of a joint Senate-House committee appointed to reconcile differences between the two chambers.

As originally passed by the Senate, the measure did not contain the quota-tariff provisions which administration spokesmen — among them Secretary of State Marshall, Undersecretary of State Will Clayton, Henry L. Stimson and Cordell Hull — have protested as endangering world trade.

Virginia Oystermen Advocate Legislation

COLONIAL BEACH, Va., June 16—(AP)—Legislation to permit use of small dredges and to put some enforcement teeth into laws against the taking of undersize oysters was advocated by Virginia oystermen here today at a public hearing on the problem of the vanishing Potomac River oyster.

Spokesmen for the Potomac River Oystermen's Association, an organization of Virginians who work the public Potomac rocks, told a joint Maryland-Virginia legislative study commission that:

(1) Revision of the law which theoretically prohibits taking oysters under three inches in size, so as to impose stiff penalties on violators, plus rigid enforcement of this law, would go a long way toward helping restore the Potomac's depleted oyster resources.

(2) Legalization of dredging is desired unanimously by Virginia oystermen who hold that this practice, in which many of them now indulge illegally, is necessary if they are to make a living.

Crash Described By Eyewitnesses

BAINBRIDGE, Md., June 16 (AP)—The last airborne moments of an Eastern Airlines plane which carried 53 persons to their death in a woods near Port Deposit, Md., May 30 were described today to the Civil Aeronautics Board by eyewitnesses who differed on details.

The majority said fragments came off the plane as it plunged into the fatal dive. Others said they observed no disintegration while the big DC-4 transport was still in flight.

Robert W. Chrisp, presiding CAB officer, adjourned the public hearing until an unspecified date when it will be resumed in New York for the presentation of expert testimony.

Chrisp said later it "seems definite" that a structural defect in the reconverted Army transport was to blame for the disaster, worst in the history of United States commercial aviation.

Witnesses who declared they saw chunks fly off the airliner before it crashed included C. S. Keller and his son, Russell, Ferdinand Grove, Jr., Edwin E. Ennis, all of the Port Deposit area, and Chief Boatswain's Mate W. C. Gorham and Seaman First Class Frank Welch, of the naval training center.

Tiniest Of Mont. Quads Fed From Eye-Dropper

MILES CITY, Mont., June 16 (AP)—The tiniest of the Randash quadruplets, one-pound, 12 ounce Donna Mae, began taking her first food from an eye-dropper today, but Dr. Elna Howard, who delivered the babies, said the girl was in a "very precarious" condition.

Two special nurses have been assigned to caref or the quads—the first in Montana's recorded history—born to Mrs. Edward Randash, 34-puyear-old Baker, Mont., beauty operator, Saturday morning.

Daisy Prentice, premature birth consultant from Helena, said the other two girls and boy were reported to be "holding their own."

Irgun Requests U.N. Group To Intercede With British On Behalf Of Doomed Jews

Three Are Sentenced To Die For Terrorism

JERUSELEM, June 16 (AP) — A British military court sentenced three young Jews to death for terrorism today as the United Nations Commission on Palestine began its task of finding a formula for bringing peace to the Holy Land.

The Jewish underground organization Irgun Zvai Leumi promptly appealed to the commisson to intercede with the British on behalf of the condemned men.

The action of the military court and a peaceful general strike by 1,500,000 Arabs to underscore the decision of the Palestine Arab Higher Committee to boycott the 11-nation commission took the spotlight away from its opening session.

Parents Plead For Mercy

A plea for mercy for the three condemned men on behalf of their parents also was sent by Attorney Asher Levistsky to Lt. Gen. Gordon MacMillan, commander of British troops in Palestine. He must confirm the sentences before they are carried out.

The appeal from Irgun Zvai Leumi was handed just before 4 p. m. to Victor Hoo, secretary general of the United Nations Special Commission. It was typed in English, French and Hebrew, with a copy for each of the 11 commission members.

The court sentenced the three Jews to death and two others to life sentences on charges they took part in the daring prison break at Acre on May 4 in which 251 prisoners escaped and 16 persons were killed. All five were alleged Irgun members.

Commission Chairman's View

Chairman Emil Sandstroem, of Sweden, asked earlier what the commission would do if such a plea were presented, answered, "we have not treated this question." He added that the commission had no power to grant immunity to anyone giving testimony to the United Nations group.

Irgun's appeal contended that as an authorized representative of the United Nations the commission "is obliged to prevent through official intervention with the government of Britain continued use of force in the coming period."

Vesper Service Opens Women's Short Course

COLLEGE PARK, Md., June 16 — (AP) A vesper service with Rev. O. Aubrey Young, Hagerstown, Md., as the speaker, opened here tonight the 21st annual University of Maryland Rural Women's Short Course.

More than 800 Free State farm women began registering this morning for the sessions.

Dr. T. B. Symons, dean of the College of Agriculture and director of its extension service, will welcome the delegates tomorrow.

Edward Holter, Middletown, State Grange master, and Howard Leaverton, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau, also will speak.

Beginning tomorrow and continuing through Friday the visitors will attend classes they have selected.

Mississippi River Is Rising Rapidly

KEOKUK, Ia., June 16. (AP)—The rapidly-rising waters of the Mississippi River forced one riverfront industrial plant to close here today and the Weather Bureau predicted within two or three days flood levels exceeding the record crests of last week between here and Quincy, Ill.

Just below Keokuk the flood waters of the Des Moines River were pouring into the Mississippi and at Alexandria, Mo., a few miles upstream from the Des Moines' mouth, water was several feet deep in the town.

Throughout Iowa the flood crisis had passed at nearly all points except the villages of Bonaparte and Farmington on the lower Des Moines and at Iowa City on the Iowa River.

At Iowa City pumps were in operation at the University of Iowa's fine arts and union buildings as flood water ran into the basements. The water reached 18.1 feet there, highest since 1918, and a crest of 18.5 feet was expected tonight.

In flood-battered Ottumwa, Iowa's hardest-hit city, the Des Moines River had fallen about three feet below Sunday's crest but much of the city still remained inundated and several thousand persons still could not return to their homes.

Search Launched For Two Missing Plane Occupants

NORFOLK, Va., June 16. (AP)—An air search over the area between Norfolk and Washington was instituted today by the Coast Guard in an attempt to locate two South Norfolk men missing since Saturday morning when they took off from here for Washington.

Occupants of the missing plane are Chief Signalman Phillip Landry, USN, 25, and Walter Dews, 20. They were flying in a two-passenger Globe-Swift plane.

It was reported that Landry was pilot of the plane. Dews also is an airplane pilot. Landry was in Washington last Thursday and reported there to the Navy Bureau of Recruiting and Discharge. He was due to report back there Saturday.

Russia Proposes Additional Study Of Police Issue

LAKE SUCCESS, June 16—(AP)—Russia proposed today that the entire question of a world police force be tossed back to the United Nations Military Staff Committee for further study as soon as the Security Council completes its discussions of the committee's report.

The Soviet proposal, made by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, was coupled with an indirect warning that any vote on controversial parts of the report at this time might bring into play the big power veto.

Gromyko told the council that if a showdown is attempted now "we might not be able to take a positive decision on the most important parts of the military staff report."

Although no decision was taken on the Soviet proposal, it appeared likely that it would be accepted.

The council earlier had voted 9 to 0, with Russia and Poland abstaining, to continue its debate in open meeting instead of going into closed sessions.

The debate will be continued Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. (EST).

Gov. Lane Has New Official Limousine

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 16, (AP)—Gov. Lane had at his disposal today a new official limousine to replace one which was in bad condition — but it is not yet completely equipped.

In the past the Governor's car had a two-way radio set — the kind used by the State Police and tuned to the police frequency. The old radio is going to be transferred to the new eight-cylinder, seven-passenger job.

The Governor also has to get a new license for the car — not that the state wouldn't provide him with one if he wanted it, but he just prefers it that way.

Treason Suspect Will Demand Trial In Tokyo

LOS ANGELES, June 16 (AP)—Tomoya Kawakita, American-born Japanese charged with treason for his treatment of American prisoners during a term as a Japanese prison camp foreman, will demand trial in Tokyo, his attorney said today.

Morris Lavine won a one-week continuance in Kawakita's arraignment on a grand jury indictment by telling United States District Judge William C. Mathes he would attack jurisdiction of the federal court here. He said, however, that he had been employed too recently to have the necessary papers prepared.

"We will contend," he declared, "that Kawakita should be tried in Japan where he can subpoena witnesses in his own defense. The entire theory of American justice is that a person accused of a crime should be tried at the place and in the district where the alleged offense was committed."

"Voice Of America" May Receive Stop-Gap Funds

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—A stop-gap appropriation of $6,000,000 for the "Voice of America" foreign broadcasts while the Senate looks into the State Department's information and cultural service was reported receiving Republican support in both Houses of Congress today.

Rep. Mundt (R-SD) said Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) informed him Senate Republicans had been discussing "the possibility of approving a stop-gap appropriation to maintain standby operations of the Benton office until the Senate had ample opportunity to determine what fundamental changes might be desired in the program before final action is taken on this question in this session of the 80th Congress or the next."

House Approves Bill To Protect Wool Producers

Shunted To Senate; Veto Is Anticipated

WASHINGTON, June 18, (AP) — Adamant in the face of an anticipated presidential veto, the House endorsed anew today a policy of protection for American wool producers from foreign competition despite declarations that the step may scuttle the Geneva trade conference.

It approved a bill pegging wool support prices at their present level and directing the Chief Executive to fix quotas on wool imports or boost the tariff if and when he finds foreign wool is interfering with domestic prices.

The decision was by voice vote only a few mnutes after the House, on a roll call tally, voted 191 to 166, against sending the bill back to a joint House-Senate conference committee for further study.

Voting against the motion to send the bill back to conference committee were 154 Republicans and 37 Democrats. For recommittal were 46 Republicans, 119 Democrats and Rep. Marcantonio, of New York, only member of the American Labor Party in Congress.

The measure will be shunted now to the Senate for probable approval and then on to President Truman's desk.

The final form of the measure is the product of a joint Senate-House committee appointed to reconcile differences between the two chambers.

As originally passed by the Senate, the measure did not contain the quota-tariff provisions which administration spokesmen — among them Secretary of State Marshall, Undersecretary of State Will Clayton, Henry L. Stimson and Cordell Hull — have protested as endangering world trade.

LIFE THREATENED—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-N.J.), chairman of the House Committee on Unamerican Activities, reports receiving a death threat from an amateur poet which he regards as more serious than the usual run of "crackpot" mail. The note has been turned over to the FBI.

Virginia Oystermen Advocate Legislation

COLONIAL BEACH, Va., June 16—(AP)—Legislation to permit use of small dredges and to put some enforcement teeth into laws against the taking of undersize oysters was advocated by Virginia oystermen here today at a public hearing on the problem of the vanishing Potomac River oyster.

Spokesmen for the Potomac River Oystermen's Association, an organization of Virginians who work the public Potomac rocks, told a joint Maryland-Virginia legislative study commission that:

(1) Revision of the law which theoretically prohibits taking oysters under three inches in size, so as to impose stiff penalties on violators, plus rigid enforcement of this law, would go a long way toward helping restore the Potomac's depleted oyster resources.

(2) Legalization of dredging is desired unanimously by Virginia oystermen who hold that this practice, in which many of them now indulge illegally, is necessary if they are to make a living.

Crash Described By Eyewitnesses

BAINBRIDGE, Md., June 16 (AP)—The last airborne moments of an Eastern Airlines plane which carried 53 persons to their death in a woods near Port Deposit, Md., May 30 were described today to the Civil Aeronautics Board by eyewitnesses who differed on details.

The majority said fragments came off the plane as it plunged into the fatal dive. Others said they observed no disintegration while the big DC-4 transport was still in flight.

Robert W. Chrisp, presiding CAB officer, adjourned the public hearing until an unspecified date when it will be resumed in New York for the presentation of expert testimony.

Chrisp said later it "seems definite" that a structural defect in the reconverted Army transport was to blame for the disaster, worst in the history of United States commercial aviation.

Witnesses who declared they saw chunks fly off the airliner before it crashed included C. S. Keller and his son, Russell, Ferdinand Grove, Jr., Edwin E. Ennis, all of the Port Deposit area, and Chief Boatswain's Mate W. C. Gorham and Seaman First Class Frank Welch, of the naval training center.

Tiniest Of Mont. Quads Fed From Eye-Dropper

MILES CITY, Mont., June 16 (AP)—The tiniest of the Randash quadruplets, one-pound, 12 ounce Donna Mae, began taking her first food from an eye-dropper today, but Dr. Elna Howard, who delivered the babies, said the girl was in a "very precarious" condition.

Two special nurses have been assigned to caref or the quads—the first in Montana's recorded history—born to Mrs. Edward Randash, 34-puyear-old Baker, Mont., beauty operator, Saturday morning.

Daisy Prentice, premature birth consultant from Helena, said the other two girls and boy were reported to be "holding their own."

Irgun Requests U.N. Group To Intercede With British On Behalf Of Doomed Jews

Three Are Sentenced To Die For Terrorism

JERUSELEM, June 16 (AP) — A British military court sentenced three young Jews to death for terrorism today as the United Nations Commission on Palestine began its task of finding a formula for bringing peace to the Holy Land.

The Jewish underground organization Irgun Zvai Leumi promptly appealed to the commisson to intercede with the British on behalf of the condemned men.

The action of the military court and a peaceful general strike by 1,500,000 Arabs to underscore the decision of the Palestine Arab Higher Committee to boycott the 11-nation commission took the spotlight away from its opening session.

Parents Plead For Mercy

A plea for mercy for the three condemned men on behalf of their parents also was sent by Attorney Asher Levistaky to Lt. Gen. Gordon MacMillan, commander of British troops in Palestine. He must confirm the sentences before they are carried out.

The appeal from Irgun Zvai Leumi was handed just before 4 p. m. to Victor Hoo, secretary general of the United Nations Special Commission. It was typed in English, French and Hebrew, with a copy for each of the 11 commission members.

The court sentenced the three Jews to death and two others to life sentences on charges they took part in the daring prison break at Acre on May 4 in which 251 prisoners escaped and 16 persons were killed. All five were alleged Irgun members.

Commission Chairman's View

Chairman Emil Sandstroem, of Sweden, asked earlier what the commission would do if such a plea were presented, answered, "we have not treated this question." He added that the commission had no power to grant immunity to anyone giving testimony to the United Nations group.

Irgun's appeal contended that as an authorized representative of the United Nations the commission "is obliged to prevent through official intervention with the government of Britain continued use of force in the coming period."

Vesper Service Opens Women's Short Course

COLLEGE PARK, Md., June 16 — (AP) A vesper service with Rev. O. Aubrey Young, Hagerstown, Md., as the speaker, opened here tonight the 21st annual University of Maryland Rural Women's Short Course.

More than 800 Free State farm women began registering this morning for the sessions.

Dr. T. B. Symons, dean of the College of Agriculture and director of its extension service, will welcome the delegates tomorrow.

Edward Holter, Middletown, State Grange master, and Howard Leaverton, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau, also will speak.

Beginning tomorrow and continuing through Friday the visitors will attend classes they have selected.

Mississippi River Is Rising Rapidly

KEOKUK, Ia., June 16. (AP)—The rapidly-rising waters of the Mississippi River forced one riverfront industrial plant to close here today and the Weather Bureau predicted within two or three days flood levels exceeding the record crests of last week between here and Quincy, Ill.

Just below Keokuk the flood waters of the Des Moines River were pouring into the Mississippi and at Alexandria, Mo., a few miles upstream from the Des Moines' mouth, water was several feet deep in the town.

Throughout Iowa the flood crisis had passed at nearly all points except the villages of Bonaparte and Farmington on the lower Des Moines and at Iowa City on the Iowa River.

At Iowa City pumps were in operation at the University of Iowa's fine arts and union buildings as flood water ran into the basements. The water reached 18.1 feet there, highest since 1918, and a crest of 18.5 feet was expected tonight.

In flood-battered Ottumwa, Iowa's hardest-hit city, the Des Moines River had fallen about three feet below Sunday's crest but much of the city still remained inundated and several thousand persons still could not return to their homes.

Search Launched For Two Missing Plane Occupants

NORFOLK, Va., June 16. (AP)—An air search over the area between Norfolk and Washington was instituted today by the Coast Guard in an attempt to locate two South Norfolk men missing since Saturday morning when they took off from here for Washington.

Occupants of the missing plane are Chief Signalman Phillip Landry, USN, 25, and Walter Dews, 20. They were flying in a two-passenger Globe-Swift plane.

It was reported that Landry was pilot of the plane. Dews also is an airplane pilot. Landry was in Washington last Thursday and reported there to the Navy Bureau of Recruiting and Discharge. He was due to report back there Saturday.

Russia Proposes Additional Study Of Police Issue

LAKE SUCCESS, June 16—(AP)—Russia proposed today that the entire question of a world police force be tossed back to the United Nations Military Staff Committee for further study as soon as the Security Council completes its discussions of the committee's report.

The Soviet proposal, made by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, was coupled with an indirect warning that any vote on controversial parts of the report at this time might bring into play the big power veto.

Gromyko told the council that if a showdown is attempted now "we might not be able to take a positive decision on the most important parts of the military staff report."

Although no decision was taken on the Soviet proposal, it appeared likely that it would be accepted.

The council earlier had voted 9 to 0, with Russia and Poland abstaining, to continue its debate in open meeting instead of going into closed sessions.

The debate will be continued Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. (EST).

Gov. Lane Has New Official Limousine

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 16, (AP)—Gov. Lane had at his disposal today a new official limousine to replace one which was in bad condition — but it is not yet completely equipped.

In the past the Governor's car had a two-way radio set — the kind used by the State Police and tuned to the police frequency. The old radio is going to be transferred to the new eight-cylinder, seven-passenger job.

The Governor also has to get a new license for the car — not that the state wouldn't provide him with one if he wanted it, but he just prefers it that way.

Five Generations Represented In Keyser Family

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., June 16 — The name Ellen is borne by each of the five generations in the family of Mrs. Martha Ellen Roberts, 87, West Piedmont Street, who was born shortly before the Civil War and recalls seeing Union and Confederate soldiers passing by her childhood home on Shirley Lane Road in Welton District.

Others bearing the name of Ellen are her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Ellen Dreyer, 55; her granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret Ellen Leary, 36; her great-granddaughter, Mrs. June Ellen Green, 17, and her great-great-granddaughter, Sue Ellen Green.

Mrs. Roberts has 84 direct descendants who are living. Besides Mrs. Dreyer, her other children are Mrs. Jane Stover and Mrs. Ruth Gardner, Willard, O.; Thomas G. Roberts and Mrs. Maggie Tasker, Keyser; Mrs. Emma Snyder, Route 1, Keyser; and Mrs. Delia Harrison, New Creek Drive. She has 26 grandchildren, 51 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

A native of Mineral County, Mrs. Roberts is a daughter of the late Thomas A. and Mary E. Rogers McDowell. Her husband, John Wright Roberts, died 40 years ago. She resides with her daughter, Mrs. Tasker.

Harry Sharp Dies

Harry Summers Sharp, 64, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Blankenship, 226 Mozelle Street, with whom he and his wife resided, at 9:30 a. m. Sunday. He had been ill for several months. Before his illness he was engaged in carpenter work.

He was a native of Greenbrier County, a son of the late Henry and Anna Dotson Sharp, Rennick. He came to Keyser 30 years ago.

Besides his daughter, Mr. Sharp is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emma Jane Perry Sharp; one sister, Mrs. Mary Overholt, Three Rivers, Mich.; one brother, Frederick Sharp, Herkimer, N. Y., and one grandson.

A funeral service will be held at the residence at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, with Rev. L. R. Bridgers, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, officiating. Interment will be in the Duling Church Cemetery.

Woman Is Injured

Mrs. Myrtle Ludwick, Kokomo, Ind., was discharged from Potomac Valley Hospital yesterday after receiving treatment for an arm injury suffered Saturday in an automobile accident on Route 50 near Stoney River bridge in Grant County.

Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff of the West Virginia State Police, who investigated, said that the car in which Mrs. Ludwick was ridnig swerved into a ditch near the bridge to avoid a headon collision with an approaching machine which was passing another car.

The woman's husband, Harry Ludwick, who was driving, and their daughter and two granddaughters, escaped injury, Cpl. Karickoff said.

Broadcast Made

F. Arnet Swisher, Keyser, former lieutenant commander in the Navy; Lt. Comdr. Max J. McIntyre, USN, Washington; George Freeland, radio operator, Romney; Reginald Richards, Washington, and Richard Shepp, Keyser, composed a party making an experimental broadcast from the summit of Spruce Knob in Pendleton County, the highest point in West Virginia, Saturday and Sunday.

Though weather conditions were unfavorable because of rain, the experiment was pronounced a success. Points in Texas, Kansas, Missouri and Illionis were contacted as well as points in nearby states. One of the clearest contacts was that with the Cooper Rock station, Morgantown, W. Va.

Personals

Potomac Valley Hospital reports three births over the weekend—a son to Mr. and Mrs. David Ritchie, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keller, both of Keyser; and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fields, Piedmont.

Those admitted to the hospital include Mrs. Pearl Ellifritz, Mrs. Sarah Staggers, Mrs. Dickson Barnum, Edward G. Kimmell and James Haynes, Keyser; Mrs. Charles Clark and Earl Twist, Luke, Md.; Mrs. Gilbert Agolo, Westernport, Md.; Miss Dorothy Oates, New Creek, and Frank Garvey, Bloomington, Md.

F. A. Swisher, who served in the Navy during World War II, went to Washington today to take two weeks of training as a reserve officer with the rank of lieutenant commander.

Mrs. J. H. Tettenburn and Mrs. George Barker joined a group of 150 women from Cumberland, Md., for a week of study in the Rural Women's Short Course at the University of Maryland, College Park.

Just to prove that distance is no obstacle to the phone service a recording of conversation from the "Train of Tomorrow" to the British luxury liner Queen Elizabeth, after it was two days out of New York was played for the guests. Ship and train crews talked for long minutes wishing each other pleasant trips.

General Motors and Baltimore and Ohio officials spoke of their regret once the train left Cumberland that they could not wait for the approximately 800 persons who were turned away to pass through the four coaches. "But a schedule is a schedule, even on an exhibition tour," they asserted.

Besides the three members of the crew, Cumberland guests who made the trip to Martinsburg today included H. F. Wyatt, superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio, Cumberland Division; M. W. Grove, traveling passenger agent; Albert Wenner, employed in the B. and O. superintendent's office; C. H. Rafferty, local representative of the General Motors acceptance corporation; J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times; James Hunt and Frank Southerland, Morgantown, W. Va., and this reporter.

In Martinsburg a group of approximately 180 newspapermen, railroad officials and G.M. representatives were taken on for a similar trip, to Clear Spring, Md.

Rocky Graziano Stops Fiorello

TOLEDO, O., June 16. (AP)—Middleweight Contender Rocky Graziano, of New York, won a technical knockout over Jerry Fiorello, of Brooklyn, in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-rounder before an estimated 6,000 fans at Swayne Field tonight. Graziano weighed 159½; Fiorello 158½.

Referee Barney Ross, former welterweight champion, stopped the fight at 1:30 of the fifth frame, ruling that the Brooklyn battler would be unable to continue because of a deep cut over his left eye.

Absorbing punishment from Rocky's two-fisted attack, Fiorello gamely refused to drop to the canvas and was attempting to stage a rally when Ross awarded Graziano the TKO victory.

Forcing the battle, Graziano poured rights and lefts to Fiorello's head and body midway through the first round, and continued his savage attack to gain the edge in each of the first four stanzas.

A sharp overhand right cut Fiorello's eye in the second, and Graziano concentrated his barrage on the orb in succeeding rounds until Ross stopped the bout because of the flow of blood and possible serious injury to the Brooklyn fighter's eye.

Cable Reported Damaged By Shot

Long-distance operators of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company reported last night that a break in a cable near Dillon's Orchard, approximately two miles west of Hancock, cut out all eight direct circuits between Cumberland and Hagerstown at about 7:45 o'clock.

Telephone crews were on the scene making repairs to the cable, which was reportedly damaged when a shot was fired through it, but service over the circuits had not been restored early this morning.

State police at Cumberland, Frederick and Hagerstown, as well as the Washington County sheriff's office in Hagerstown, said they had received no report of damage to the cable. The state police teletype here went out of commission shortly before 8 p. m., however.

Long distance calls from Cumberland to eastern points were being routed through Pittsburgh, one operator said.

Five Generations Represented In Keyser Family

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., June 16 — The name Ellen is borne by each of the five generations in the family of Mrs. Martha Ellen Roberts, 87, West Piedmont Street, who was born shortly before the Civil War and recalls seeing Union and Confederate soldiers passing by her childhood home on Shirley Lane Road in Welton District.

Others bearing the name of Ellen are her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Ellen Dreyer, 55; her granddaughter, Mrs. Margaret Ellen Leary, 36; her great-granddaughter, Mrs. June Ellen Green, 17, and her great-great-granddaughter, Sue Ellen Green.

Mrs. Roberts has 84 direct descendants who are living. Besides Mrs. Dreyer, her other children are Mrs. Jane Stover and Mrs. Ruth Gardner, Willard, O.; Thomas G. Roberts and Mrs. Maggie Tasker, Keyser; Mrs. Emma Snyder, Route 1, Keyser; and Mrs. Delia Harrison, New Creek Drive. She has 26 grandchildren, 51 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

A native of Mineral County, Mrs. Roberts is a daughter of the late Thomas A. and Mary E. Rogers McDowell. Her husband, John Wright Roberts, died 40 years ago. She resides with her daughter, Mrs. Tasker.

Harry Sharp Dies

Harry Summers Sharp, 64, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Blankenship, 226 Mozelle Street, with whom he and his wife resided, at 9:30 a. m. Sunday. He had been ill for several months. Before his illness he was engaged in carpenter work.

He was a native of Greenbrier County, a son of the late Henry and Anna Dotson Sharp, Rennick. He came to Keyser 30 years ago.

Besides his daughter, Mr. Sharp is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emma Jane Perry Sharp; one sister, Mrs. Mary Overholt, Three Rivers, Mich.; one brother, Frederick Sharp, Herkimer, N. Y., and one grandson.

A funeral service will be held at the residence at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, with Rev. L. R. Bridgers, pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, officiating. Interment will be in the Duling Church Cemetery.

Woman Is Injured

Mrs. Myrtle Ludwick, Kokomo, Ind., was discharged from Potomac Valley Hospital yesterday after receiving treatment for an arm injury suffered Saturday in an automobile accident on Route 50 near Stoney River bridge in Grant County.

Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff of the West Virginia State Police, who investigated, said that the car in which Mrs. Ludwick was ridnig swerved into a ditch near the bridge to avoid a headon collision with an approaching machine which was passing another car.

The woman's husband, Harry Ludwick, who was driving, and their daughter and two granddaughters, escaped injury, Cpl. Karickoff said.

Broadcast Made

F. Arnet Swisher, Keyser, former lieutenant commander in the Navy; Lt. Comdr. Max J. McIntyre, USN, Washington; George Freeland, radio operator, Romney; Reginald Richards, Washington, and Richard Shepp, Keyser, composed a party making an experimental broadcast from the summit of Spruce Knob in Pendleton County, the highest point in West Virginia, Saturday and Sunday.

Though weather conditions were unfavorable because of rain, the experiment was pronounced a success. Points in Texas, Kansas, Missouri and Illionis were contacted as well as points in nearby states. One of the clearest contacts was that with the Cooper Rock station, Morgantown, W. Va.

Personals

Potomac Valley Hospital reports three births over the weekend—a son to Mr. and Mrs. David Ritchie, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keller, both of Keyser; and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fields, Piedmont.

Those admitted to the hospital include Mrs. Pearl Ellifritz, Mrs. Sarah Staggers, Mrs. Dickson Barnum, Edward G. Kimmell and James Haynes, Keyser; Mrs. Charles Clark and Earl Twist, Luke, Md.; Mrs. Gilbert Agolo, Westernport, Md.; Miss Dorothy Oates, New Creek, and Frank Garvey, Bloomington, Md.

P. A. Swisher, who served in the Navy during World War II, went to Washington today to take two weeks of training as a reserve officer with the rank of lieutenant commander.

Mrs. J. H. Tettenburn and Mrs. George Barker joined a group of 150 women from Cumberland, Md., for a week of study in the Rural Women's Short Course at the University of Maryland, College Park.

G. M. Super Train

to Albert A. Daniels, train service manager of the General Motors Corporation, will not interfere with radio-telephone service that is available.

Just to prove that distance is no obstacle to the phone service a recording of conversation from the "Train of Tomorrow" to the British luxury liner Queen Elizabeth, after it was two days out of New York was played for the guests. Ship and train crews talked for long minutes wishing each other pleasant trips.

General Motors and Baltimore and Ohio officials spoke of their regret once the train left Cumberland that they could not wait for the approximately 800 persons who were turned away to pass through the four coaches. "But a schedule is a schedule, even on an exhibition tour," they asserted.

Besides the three members of the crew, Cumberland guests who made the trip to Martinsburg today included H. F. Wyatt, superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio, Cumberland Division; M. W. Grove, traveling passenger agent; Albert Wenner, employed in the B. and O. superintendent's office; C. H. Rafferty, local representative of the General Motors acceptance corporation; J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times; James Hunt and Frank Southerland, Morgantown, W. Va., and this reporter.

In Martinsburg a group of approximately 180 newspapermen, railroad officials and G.M. representatives were taken on for a similar trip, to Clear Spring, Md.

Westcott family of Morden, England, can expect to find the rugs chewed, slippers tattered and be confronted regularly by household crises since little Janice, 3, came home with two hefty pups given to her by a neighbor. Well aware of what might happen in the future, the tot's parents could not turn the pups away after looking at her happy expression.

Rocky Graziano Stops Fiorello

TOLEDO, O., June 16. (AP)—Middleweight Contender Rocky Graziano, of New York, won a technical knockout over Jerry Fiorello, of Brooklyn, in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-rounder before an estimated 6,000 fans at Swayne Field tonight. Graziano weighed 159½; Fiorello 158½.

Referee Barney Ross, former welterweight champion, stopped the fight at 1:30 of the fifth frame, ruling that the Brooklyn battler would be unable to continue because of a deep cut over his left eye.

Absorbing punishment from Rocky's two-fisted attack, Fiorello gamely refused to drop to the canvas and was attempting to stage a rally when Ross awarded Graziano the TKO victory.

Forcing the battle, Graziano poured rights and lefts to Fiorello's head and body midway through the first round, and continued his savage attack to gain the edge in each of the first four stanzas.

A sharp overhand right cut Fiorello's eye in the second, and Graziano concentrated his barrage on the orb in succeeding rounds until Ross stopped the bout because of the flow of blood and possible serious injury to the Brooklyn fighter's eye.

Cable Reported Damaged By Shot

Long-distance operators of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company reported last night that a break in a cable near Dillon's Orchard, approximately two miles west of Hancock, cut out all eight direct circuits between Cumberland and Hagerstown at about 7:45 o'clock.

Telephone crews were on the scene making repairs to the cable, which was reportedly damaged when a shot was fired through it, but service over the circuits had not been restored early this morning.

State police at Cumberland, Frederick and Hagerstown, as well as the Washington County sheriff's office in Hagerstown, said they had received no report of damage to the cable. The state police teletype here went out of commission shortly before 8 p. m., however.

Long distance calls from Cumberland to eastern points were being routed through Pittsburgh, one operator said.

Be Careful While Taking Sunbaths In The Summer

Most people enjoy basking in the health-giving rays of the sun, but many have learned from painful experience that it's possible to get too much of a good thing, even when that good thing is sunshine. A healthful tan is beneficial and attractive, but a serious burn is a dangerous thing whether it comes from the sun or from some other source. While sunbathing without burning is healthful for most people, for some it is very harmful. Old people or those with heart trouble or any other serious disease should consult a doctor before sunbathing.

Perhaps you are the type of person who freckles and burns while your friends are acquiring deep tans. People differ in their reactions to the sun's rays. Blondes are more sensitive than brunettes and children of any complexion are more sensitive than adults of the same complexion.

To get that enviable suntan without enduring the painful, sunburned stage, keep your first sunbath of the season down to 15 minutes, unless you take it after 4 p. m., when the sun's rays are less direct. Even after four, a half hour is long enough for the first day. Remember that ultra-violet rays penetrate clouds and fog, and you can be sunburned under an overcast sky. Even during a short sunbath it is a sensible precaution to use a suntan oil, cream or lotion.

Basking in the sun is apt to produce drowsiness. If you are afraid you may fall asleep during a sunbath, set an alarm clock or arrange to have someone wake you. People have suffered severe burns as a result of falling asleep in the sunshine.

If you do get a mild sunburn (redness without fever or swelling) you can relieve the discomfort by dusting your skin with a medicinal powder or ointment. For any more serious sunburn call your doctor. In severe cases, there may be chills, fever, headache and delirium. A bad sunburn needs as prompt and thorough treatment as any other severe burn.

Your summer vacation is an excellent time to enjoy the outdoors and forget your cares and worries. Don't mar this pleasant experience by suffering the miseries of a dangerous, avoidable sunburn.

Up Goes Meat

Early last week, as meat prices began soaring upward again, reporters tried to get a reasonable explanation for this phenomenon. They failed. Experts offered opinions, as usual, but they were conflicting. Some blamed the rise on abnormal foreign buying and others said no such thing was going on. No one seemed able to account for what was happening. No figures were to be had on how much meat the government is shipping to Germany.

The price of steers and yearlings reached an all-time high on the Chicago market. Consequently the quest for the key to the riddle started all over and this time, apparently, it succeeded. The packers, according to news reports, lay the high prices to an "amazing" domestic consumer demand, especially for beef.

That sounds reasonable, although it is probably not the whole story. There is the added explanation that the usual hot-weather slump has not materialized. It has been a cold spring and it is easy to believe that most people have not shifted to a lighter summer diet. This factor, together with high employment, has produced an unusual situation.

There is not a great deal of comfort in this solution to the mystery. It implies that meat prices are likely to hold at high levels until the warm days arrive in all parts of the country and may not fall much as long as there are nearly 60,000,000 Americans earning money—or until the supply grows a great deal bigger. Unless, of course, housewives simply refuse to buy.

De Gasperi's Problem

Dr. De Gasperi's efforts to form a new government in Italy must be watched with concern not only in Europe but in the United States. Whether he succeeds, or how he succeeds if he is again installed as premier, will reflect the strength of the forces now struggling to shape the destiny of the Italian people.

In Italy, as in France, liberty and communism are fighting for supremacy. Until recently, coalition governments containing communist members have ruled both countries. Now France has a regime in which the communists have no part, because Premier Ramadier had the temerity to expel the communist ministers when they refused to support his wage-freeze program. If that example should be followed in Italy, communism will have received two significant setbacks in a matter of weeks.

But though the basic issue in Italy is the same as in France, De Gasperi's problem is even more difficult than the one that confronted Premier Ramadier. Communists are comparatively less numerous in Italy than in France, but their ties with the socialists are close. De Gasperi, a Christian Democrat, indicates that he hopes to form a government without the communists. But a cabinet composed chiefly of ministers from his own party would have to have support either from the right or left.

The outcome of the discussions now under way is uncertain in the extreme. Italy is a fertile field for communism, and Russia is cultivating it energetically.

The New Naval Reserve

The New Naval Reserve provides an opportunity to eligible men to perform a distinct and essential service to their country—and to become proficient in skills which are of value to the min civilian pursuits.

The record of the Naval Reserve is known to everyone. It has performed magnificently in time of crisis. In the last war it provided a trained nucleus upon which our great fighting fleets were built. Its basic purpose is the defense of the United States.

Reserve instruction involves spare time courses not only in the military sciences, but in a long list of technical subjects and trades. Recreational activities are regularly scheduled by Reserve units. And Reserve groups on the coasts of the nation and the Great Lakes are assigned Navy ships for short training cruises in local waters.

Membership in the New Naval Reserve is open to citizens between the ages of 17 and 39. War veterans will be given the grades they held when on active service. The Reserve offers its members a splendid chance to serve both the nation and themselves.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

DIGESTIVE disturbances can occur in newborn infants and it is a wonder that they are not more common. The little intestinal tracts are brand new and sometimes difficulty is encountered in handling the food. Such upsets, which are less likely to affect the breastfed, usually are minor and soon disappear. With the bottle baby, symptoms vanish when the proper formula is found.

But the condition called "epidemic diarrhea of the newborn" is extremely serious. It generally attacks children during the first week of life and is probably the most dreaded of diseases of the newborn. Treatment is not always effective and half of the victims may succumb. This is why the visitation is looked upon with horror.

No one knows the cause and the disorder may arise even though the rules of hygiene are obeyed. Many organisms have been implicated, including a virus, a dysentery bacillus, the streptococcus, etc. The problem remains puzzling because studies on infants of this size are not easy to perform. Their alimentary canals rarely harbor organisms at the moment of birth. Several hours later, however, the normal inhabitants of the area can be found and it is not always possible to differentiate between the good and the bad.

At any rate, outbreaks in snstitutions start suddenly and spread quickly to a fair percentage of the babes as they lie in their basinettes. The ailment is suspected when the little tikes begin to lose appetite and appear drowsy; instead of gaining, weight remains stationary of is lost. Many are fretful and, after a day or so, actually refuse food. Meanwhile, the number of daily stools increases. During the first 24 to 48 hours the severity of the situation may not be appreciated. But soon the abdomen becomes distended, vomiting ensues, the temperature rises, the complexion becomes ashy-gray, and signs of toxicity develop. By now the bobies look sick and are sick.

An air of hopelessness surrounds the nursery because the disease is inclined to progress in spite of the best treatment available. The ill youngsters are isolated immediately and the nurses are not allowed near the well children. Now and then the entire maternity section of the hospital is closed until the epidemic subsides. Not all the babies who are exposed become afflicted although premature and immature tots are in the greatest danger. This is one reason why it is so important to recognize the malady early so that precautionary measures can be taken.

Food by mouth is withheld but fluids and nourishment are supplied hypodermically. Occasionally blood transfusions are required. Feedings are resumed with caution and at first protein milk or boiled mother's milk is given. Considerable research has been done with the sulfonamides, penicillin, and streptomycin. The latter is capable of subduing most of the bacteria in the digestive tract and, in some cases, this has been helpful, but in others, the outcome is not influenced. Notwithstanding the lack of a specific remedy, many lives are saved by combating dehydration and toxemia. Prevention is encouraged by breastfeeding and maintaining scrupulous cleanliness.

Yes, a form of osteoarthritis.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

According to the Shanghai Evening Post all five newspapers in Wusih, the local industrial center, closed down because the employees insisted on being paid in rice.

This amounts to sort of a sit down strike with chopsticks.

If the employes win their rice demands, they'll probably call in Artie Shaw as city editor.

And in case anybody tries to hold up a reporter and take his pay check, he can always sprinkle a little salt on his wallet and swallow it.

One reporter was asked if he wanted to go to Shanghai as a foreign correspondent or stay here. It was a tossup. Should he get paid off in that American stuff that's nice and crispy or that Chinese stuff that's rice and kripy?

Of course, over there there's no such thing as inflation. To them it's just another case of puffed rice.

I heard about one guy on the paper who lost his job but it didn't bother him. He just brought a farm and grew his own money.

But somehow I don't think it would work out paying our newspapermen with food.

When a reporter came running in yelling, "I've got a scoop," you wouldn't know whether he just landed a story or got paid off in ice cream.

THE WAY OF A BORROWED MOWER

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Big-Business Lobby Finds Republican Pastures Green, Pearson Says; Lewis Probably Won't Get Mine Safety Bill; Boys Put Chandler On Spot

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—When it comes to taxes, the big-business lobby never changes. A peek behind-the-scenes with the House Ways and Means Committee shows that the same group of wire-pullers who have tried to mould taxes in the past are more in the saddle than ever today.

Here is how they operate: Three years ago, Randolph Paul, then Counsel of the Treasury Department, was asked to meet with five men described to him as "controlling the tax policy of the United States." When he sat down with them, he found that these five were:

1. Wall Street banker John W. Hanes, chief owner of the Martin Aviation Co., investor in various big tobacco companies, and the largest orchid-grower in the world.

2. J. Cheever Cowdin, head of the National Association of Manufacturers' tax committee, chairman of Universal Pictures and Trans World Airlines; director of Curtiss-Wright, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry Gyroscope, Fort Instrument Co., Waterbury Tool and half a dozen others.

3. Ellsworth Alvord, tax lobbyist for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and former tax lawyer for Andrew W. Mellon.

4. Lewis Brown of the Johns-Manville Co.

5. Roswell Magill, Wall Street tax lawyer.

This is the little group which described themselves as "controlling U. S. tax policy." And while they had little luck with Randolph Paul, today they have finally come into their own. It has recently been discovered that Republican Chairman Knutson of the House Ways and Means Committee has now actually appointed three of the above — Cheever Cowdin, John Hanes and Roswell Magill—as a tax committee to advise Congress on how to write the tax law.

In other words, Mr. Cowdin, a multimillionaire and Mr. Hanes, another multimillionaire, together with Mr. Magill, an attorney for several millionaires, now are given the official right to help fix the nation's taxes.

Unhappy Chandler

Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler, once a versatile Senate debater, has been on a lot of hot spots in his day. But it took the nine-year-old son of Broadway Columnist Leonard Lyons to put him on another.

Having heard that Leonard Lyons' two sons were up in arms over the suspension of Brooklyn Dodgers' Leo Durocher, Happy sent the two boys a note which read:

"It grieves me to know that you do not approve of my action in suspending Leo Durocher. But I am sure that if you were familiar with all the facts, you would agree that my action was in the interest of baseball. I have no other interest except to preserve the integrity of our national pastime."

To which George Lyons wrote back:

"Poppa was right in telling you that we don't think you did right in suspending Leo Durocher. Poppa explained to use the part of your letter where you said 'I am sure that if you were familiar with all the facts that you would agree that my action was in the interest of baseball.'

"I am nine and a half years old. My brother Warren is seven. We play baseball and follow all the scores. We sometimes see games and root for Joe DiMaggio and for the Dodgers. So according to how Poppa explained what you said, I think we are the interest of baseball and the future of baseball. So could you please send up a few facts that maybe would tell us why you were right in suspending Leo Durocher.

"Maybe you should have punished him with only a money fine. We don't know the facts unless you give us some."

The Lyons boys have not yet received a reply from Happy Chandler.

Mine Safety Lags

John L. Lewis, who has tried to swing the miners to the Republican party during every election since 1936, now faces an interesting situation at the hands of his Republican friends. The question is: Will the Republicans give him the mine-safety bill he has been demanding?

For a good many years, Lewis has been trying to pass an adequate mine-safety bill—without success. About once a year public indignation gets aroused over a horrible mine tragedy, after which public apathy sets in and no-mine safety bill is passed.

Real fact is that most of the mine owners don't want Federal inspection of their mines, or a really airtight mine-safety bill.

At this congressional session, however, definite action was hoped for.

Three mine-safety bills have been introduced: two by Republican Congressman Gerald Landis of Indiana, a former coal miner; one by Democratic Senator Harley Kilgore of West Virginia, long known as the miners' best friend in Congress. As a reward for his friendship, however, Kilgore was vigorously opposed by Lewis at the last election.

When the two Landis bills came before Republican Congressman Max Schwabe of Missouri, chairman of a labor subcommittee, however, he decided to consult Speaker Joe Martin and GOP leader Charley Halleck of Indiana. They hesitated. The coal operators' lobby is strong and one of their arguments, incidentally, is that used by the Democrats — interference with states rights.

So despite the public outcry during the Centralia tragedy, it doesn't look likely that a mine-safety bill will be passed by the House.

In the Senate, there is a better chance. Senators Dworkshak of Idaho and Cordon of Oregon, Republicans, both indicate support for Kilgore's mine-safety bill.

However, one interesting political question mark has arisen. "If John L. Lewis fought the re-election of Senator Kilgore, the man who has done most for mine safety," ask some Republicans, "what is the use of going down the line for him?"

Efforts Made To Enlighten Public On Truman Doctrine

By MARK SULLIVAN

During three months America has experienced an extraordinary attempt at public enlightenment. Made up largely of conscious and official effort, party of spontaneaus contributions, the sum of it is the most vital thing in motion in the world today. The subject attempted to be explained to the country is, as commonly phrased, "the Truman doctrine."

Beginning with the address in which Mr. Truman laid it before Congress and the country March 12, there have been more than a score of addresses by top level public men, aimed specifically toward explaining the new doctrine to the country or bearing upon it. These include two formal speeches by Secretary of State Marshall, one formal statement to the country and several statements on the Senate floor by Republican leader on foreign affairs Vandenberg, a formal address by Republican advisor and participant in foreign negotiations Dulles; two formal statements, comprehensive and detailed, by ex-President Hoover, in the form of letters to the committees of Congress. In connection with the first concrete step in the Truman doctrine, the grant of aid to Greece, the doctrine has been discussed in Congress comprehensively with leaders of both parties participating, almost wholly in a bi-partisan spirit.

The efforts of the State Department to enable the country to understand the Truman doctrine have been painstaking and far-reaching. In addition to addresses to the public by several officials, one effort by the Department was extraordinarily conceived and carried out. The department devoted three days to continuous conference, informal and off-the-record but thoroughly organized for enlightenment, in which officials including Secretary Marshall addressed leaders of public thought whom it had invited. These included heads of church organizations, college presidents, heads of veterans organizations, labor leaders and heads of industrial groups. The aggregate of them, it was intended and estimated, represented 75,000,000 members, every adult in the country.

The sum of the efforts toward enlightenment has been successful, the country is Truman's doctrine conscious. In an election to fill a vacancy in Congress in the state of Washington the doctrine was an issue, made so by the Republican candidate who supported the doctrine and won the election. Yet if the electors in that district, and the public generally, grasp the underlying idea of the Truman doctrine and approved it, they do not know the precise form and its details. They cannot, for the doctrine was not born full-fledged and could not be, it is not a static document in a State Department vault It is a thing being evolved in the minds of men; and many of the addresses about it, while firmly favoring the basic idea, have been criticism contributing to the evolution. It need not be surprising if the progress of evolution, changing from day to day, creates occasional mystification. Over the recent weekend, the note of puzzlement on the part of the public was conspicious. Firm through every stage of the evolution is the conditions which makes the doctrine a necessity. This was put in one sentence by ex-President Hoover in his letter to Senator Bridges for publication this week: "There is greater danger of political and economic chaos in the world today than at any time since the war ended."

To avert this danger, to make the world and especially Europe a going economic concern, is the purpose of the Truman doctrine. Because the first announcement of the doctrine was accompanied by a concrete step in it, the grant of aid to Greece and Turkey, it was assumed that the Truman doctrine would consist of successive separate grants to other countries on much the same basis. Quick realization that for several reasons, including possible cost to us, this would not be the best way, led to an important step in the evolution of the doctrine. As put in a careful address by Secretary Marshall, we should not undertake to draw up unilaterally a program designed to place Europe on its feet econmically; the initiative . . . must come from Europe." Action by the countries of Europe toward putting themselves on a self-supporting basis includes pooling of their resources, a kind of economic federation of Europe. Steps toward this are now underway, taken promptly by Britain and France, with a statement by British Prime Minister Bevin almost ecstatic in its approval of Secretary Marshall's address, which Mr. Bevin said, "may well rank as one of the greatest in the world's history."

Lawrence Raps Catholic Unit For Criticizing Labor Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 16 — An amazing statement has just been issued by the Social Action Department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference—amazing because it is a partisan attack on the Labor Relations bill now before President Truman for approval or disapproval.

To mix the church with politics in America has long been looked upon with disfavor by laymen of all denominations. For an influential national organization of Catholics to issue a statement which, in effect, applies pressure on the president to veto the pending Labor Bill gives the impression that all Catholics perhaps think the same way about it or that at least one official agency of the Catholic Church in America endorses the views expressed.

Some time ago this writer took ocasion to protest against the statements on current issues expressed by a protestant group—The Social Research Department of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America—because it appeared to be going beyond the application of moral influence to economic questions. Now a Catholic agency comes in for criticism because the principle in both cases is the same. Religious groups which involve themselves in partisan political and economic issues serve only to weaken the rightful influence of the churches upon individuals.

When a statement is made, for instance, by a church group that taxes the credulity of observers, it necessarily tends to weaken confidence in such a church group's impartiality or objectivity. Thus the Catholic Social Action Department says:

"The Taft-Hartley Bill does little or nothing to encourage labor-management cooperation. On the contrary it approaches the complicated problem from a narrow and excessively legalistic point of view."

Who is to say that treating management and unions alike will not bring labor-management cooperation? Anyone who is familiar with the text of the proposed law knows, moreover, that it is no more legalistic than the original Wagner Act, whose phrases have been the basis of thousands of rulings and decisions already in which hair-splitting and equivocal rulings have been made by the Labor Board affecting the employer.

The Social Action Department didn't protest against the enactment of the original Wagner law and certainly has not called for its repeal or revision so that employers and unions would be treated alike. The statment just issued goes further in denouncing the present bill than most critics outside the labor-union movement have gone. Indeed it reads as if it were prepared by a labor-union leader and does not give any impression of awareness of the abuses that have led up to the passage by both Houses of Congress of a law to correct such abuses.

"The bill," says the statement, "is an open invitation to management to have recourse to the courts and to the Labor Board at almost every turn and thus to sidetrack or evade the normal processes of collective bargaining."

Such a claim is wholly unrealistic because a careful reading of the bill will show that, unlike the Wagner Act, the new bill not only puts upon employers an obligation to bargain collectively but spells out the meaning of that obligation.

But in any event it is not the function of a church unit at a national headquarters, using the name "Catholic," to enter into a detailed discussion of the merits of highly technical legal provisions and to urge, in effect, on the President of the United States that the Catholic voters share or might share these views and that hence Mr. Truman might better heed the advice given or perhaps lose some of the Catholic votes.

This sort of statement by the Catholic group is an interjection into politics which thoughtful Catholic leaders may not wish to approve. A repudiation of the statement issued by the Social Action Department would seem to be called for or at least the definition of a limited authority behind the issuance of the highly controversial pronouncement.

The province of all the churches of all denominations is to exert an influence for individual honesty and self-restraint endeavoring to make laymen responsive to spiritual interest so that they themselves will be fair and objective both in the writing of laws and in taking rightful political action.

There is not the slightest objection to the expression of views by individual clergymen on public questions when they are plainly acting as individual citizens. But for any church unit, functioning as an institution, to mix in as a pressure group on specific laws in the economic or political field is to involve America in unfortunate controversies where the influence of the churches will be weakened instead of strengthened.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

The Mysberg Case

It used to be that the trader could move from country to country, find out how to trade in each one, study the laws, and move goods and services. Today the trader is subject to indignities and even imprisonment.

Swan, Culbertson and Fritz is an American firm that has long existed in China. On March 3, the Chinese police in Shanghai raided the premises of this reliable American firm, seized 38 ten-ounce gold bars and a quantity of foreign currency notes. This was done under the Emergency Economic Measures of February 17, 1947. The currencies were the property of the Abis Company, incorporated under the laws of the United States. Its manager, Frederick Mysberg a Dutch national, was arrested charged with dealing in gold and foreign currency notes. Bail was refused him.

During the first day, he was shackled in chains to 40 other prisoners. The Dutch made a terrific noise about that, so they let him out of the chain gang.

Mysberg's trial started on March 22 before Judge Meng Ting-ku of the Shanghai District Court. On April 14, Mysberg was sentenced to one year's imprisonment. US $40,000 and HK $20,000 were confiscated.

Now, it turned out that the gold bars and US $21,201 of the foreign currency were property of a Chinese client of the firm, that no transactions in gold or bullion occurred after February 18. I do not need to go into all the involved financial dealings except to point out that this firm has for decades been engaged in the foreign exchange business as an American firm. In the trial, it was brought out that the "Measures" had never been enacted into law by the Legislative Yuan; that even the "Measures" did not forbid the type of transaction this firm principally engaged in, namely, telegraphic transfers and demand drafts; and that even under the "Measures," mere possession of foreign exchange is not prohibited.

The judge, however, took the position that the "economic policy" of the government was paramount and that the government in pursuit of policy could take any steps it chose. That, of course, would leave any private individual doing business high and dry because not basing his transactions on known law but on guesses as to what policy the government might at a given moment pursue, he would not know what to do.

A friend from Shanghai writes me:

"One of the disturbing new Chinese police regulations is that no foreigners can obtain an 'exit permit' if there are any court proceedings, civil or criminal, against him and/or his companies. There have been instances in the past of blackmailing individuals who have caused court proceedings to be instituted in order to blackmail the departing resident."

The "China Weekly Review," an American newspaper in Shanghai, describes the trial as follows:

". . . This trial . . . could not have been considered legal in a kindergarten. There was never the slightest proof that Mysberg violated the so-called law, the law had not been passed at the time of his arrest and, in fact, was not passed by the Legislative Yuan until after he was convicted. During the trial the court was continually interrupted by uniformed officers of the Woosung-Shanghai Garrison, who upbraided the counsel for the defense as being a 'traitor' for defending a foreigner. This type of Hitler-like racialism has been demonstrated in several recent trials involving foreigners. In one, the defendant was referred to as 'a foreign dog.'"

It is necessary to call attention to these facts because if this country is to engage in foreign trade, as so many hope, the policy of our government must be to protect the trader. Americans cannot export capital only to have it confiscated and their employees arrested at whim. I know all the parties to this action personally. Chester Fritz and Chuck Culbertson went out to China as young men 30 or more years ago and built solid businesses from which China benefited. They are constructive-minded citizens. They suffered throughout the Japanese occupation, being imprisoned. They returned to China as soon as they could to take up where they left off. Yet, they have been hit down in this way. It is very discouraging to enterprising Americans.

Sustaining Power

I can sincerely testify to the sustaining power of prayer as the greatest force toward inward happiness that there is in this world. Prayer sweeps out the mind of all its petty worries, conditions the consciousness toward God, and leaves one enriched in body, as well as spirit.

Dr. Alexis Carrell, one of the world's great physicians and scientists, and a winner of the Nobel prize, said this: "The influence of prayer on the human mind and body is as demonstrable as that of secreting glands. Its results can be measured in terms of increased physical buoyancy, greater intellectual vigor, moral stamina, and a deeper understanding of the realities underlying human relationship."

Prayer is not the process of asking for things, but of seeking a sustaining power to guide us out of selfishness into a unity with forces far beyond our frailty and helplessness. It's an opening of the heart to an Unseen Power that has not only created the universe but given to every human being its entity. We are one with God the moment that we start talking to Him.

Every time we pray our spiritual energy is both enriched and increased, and we establish a way of life that connects us with the eternal verities. All truth, all beauty, all the wonders and mysteries of life are made more understandable. And prayer wipes out all fear. "No man," said Emerson, "ever prayed without learning something."

No eloquence is essential—just the simple outpouring of the heart in words that are fashioned in the heart. It's the one sure way to educate the heart and make it honestly responsive to every call of emergency in life. Prayer can completely change a man and place him upon an even keel with his fellowman, and in tune with the Infinite.

There is a flame of hope ever burning in the contrite heart. Prayer gives to this flame its illumination, brightening each succeeding day, and giving to life its unconquerable courage. Prayer is the path to an enlightened humility, and prayer constantly repairs a wavering faith. It is the source of all peace and tranquility.

Be Careful While Taking Sunbaths In The Summer

Most people enjoy basking in the health-giving rays of the sun, but many have learned from painful experience that it's possible to get too much of a good thing, even when that good thing is sunshine. A healthful tan is beneficial and attractive, but a serious burn is a dangerous thing whether it comes from the sun or from some other source. While sunbathing without burning is healthful for most people, for some it is very harmful. Old people or those with heart trouble or any other serious disease should consult a doctor before sunbathing.

Perhaps you are the type of person who freckles and burns while your friends are acquiring deep tans. People differ in their reactions to the sun's rays. Blondes are more sensitive than brunettes and children of any complexion are more sensitive than adults of the same complexion.

To get that enviable suntan without enduring the painful, sunburned stage, keep your first sunbath of the season down to 15 minutes, unless you take it after 4 p. m., when the sun's rays are less direct. Even after four, a half hour is long enough for the first day. Remember that ultra-violet rays penetrate clouds and fog, and you can be sunburned under an overcast sky. Even during a short sunbath it is a sensible precaution to use a suntan oil, cream or lotion.

Basking in the sun is apt to produce drowsiness. If you are afraid you may fall asleep during a sunbath, set an alarm clock or arrange to have someone wake you. People have suffered severe burns as a result of falling asleep in the sunshine.

If you do get a mild sunburn (redness without fever or swelling) you can relieve the discomfort by dusting your skin with a medicinal powder or ointment. For any more serious sunburn call your doctor. In severe cases, there may be chills, fever, headache and delirium. A bad sunburn needs as prompt and thorough treatment as any other severe burn.

Your summer vacation is an excellent time to enjoy the outdoors and forget your cares and worries. Don't mar this pleasant experience by suffering the miseries of a dangerous, avoidable sunburn.

Up Goes Meat

Early last week, as meat prices began soaring upward again, reporters tried to get a reasonable explanation for this phenomenon. They failed. Experts offered opinions, as usual, but they were conflicting. Some blamed the rise on abnormal foreign buying and others said no such thing was going on. No one seemed able to account for what was happening. No figures were to be had on how much meat the government is shipping to Germany.

The price of steers and yearlings reached an all-time high on the Chicago market. Consequently the quest for the key to the riddle started all over and this time, apparently, it succeeded. The packers, according to news reports, lay the high prices to an "amazing" domestic consumer demand, especially for beef.

That sounds reasonable, although it is probably not the whole story. There is the added explanation that the usual hot-weather slump has not materialized. It has been a cold spring and it is easy to believe that most people have not shifted to a lighter summer diet. This factor, together with high employment, has produced an unusual situation.

There is not a great deal of comfort in this solution to the mystery. It implies that meat prices are likely to hold at high levels until the warm days arrive in all parts of the country and may not fall much as long as there are nearly 60,000,000 Americans earning money—or until the supply grows a great deal bigger. Unless, of course, housewives simply refuse to buy.

De Gasperi's Problem

Dr. De Gasperi's efforts to form a new government in Italy must be watched with concern not only in Europe but in the United States. Whether he succeeds, or how he succeeds if he is again installed as premier, will reflect the strength of the forces now struggling to shape the destiny of the Italian people.

In Italy, as in France, liberty and communism are fighting for supremacy. Until recently, coalition governments containing communist members have ruled both countries. Now France has a regime in which the communists have no part, because Premier Ramadier had the temerity to expel the communist ministers when they refused to support his wage-freeze program. If that example should be followed in Italy, communism will have received two significant setbacks in a matter of weeks.

But though the basic issue in Italy is the same as in France, De Gasperi's problem is even more difficult than the one that confronted Premier Ramadier. Communists are comparatively less numerous in Italy than in France, but their ties with the socialists are close. De Gasperi, a Christian Democrat, indicates that he hopes to form a government without the communists. But a cabinet composed chiefly of ministers from his own party would have to have support either from the right or left.

The outcome of the discussions now under way is uncertain in the extreme. Italy is a fertile field for communism, and Russia is cultivating it energetically.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

DIGESTIVE disturbances can occur in newborn infants and it is a wonder that they are not more common. The little intestinal tracts are brand new and sometimes difficulty is encountered in handling the food. Such upsets, which are less likely to affect the breastfed, usually are minor and soon disappear. With the bottle baby, symptoms vanish when the proper formula is found.

But the condition called "epidemic diarrhea of the newborn" is extremely serious. It generally attacks children during the first week of life and is probably the most dreaded of diseases of the newborn. Treatment is not always effective and half of the victims may succumb. This is why the visitation is looked upon with horror.

No one knows the cause and the disorder may arise even though the rules of hygiene are obeyed. Many organisms have been implicated, including a virus, a dysentery bacillus, the streptococcus, etc. The problem remains puzzling because studies on infants of this size are not easy to perform. Their alimentary canals rarely harbor organisms at the moment of birth. Several hours later, however, the normal inhabitants of the area can be found and it is not always possible to differentiate between the good and the bad.

At any rate, outbreaks in institutions start suddenly and spread quickly to a fair percentage of the babes as they lie in their basinettes. The ailment is suspected when the little tikes begin to lose appetite and appear droway; instead of gaining, weight remains stationary of is lost. Many are fretful and, after a day or so, actually refuse food. Meanwhile, the number of daily stools increases. During the first 24 to 48 hours the severity of the situation may not be appreciated. But soon the abdomen becomes distended, vomiting ensues, the temperature rises, the complexion becomes ashy-gray, and signs of toxicity develop. By now the bobies look sick and are sick.

An air of hopelessness surrounds the nursery because the disease is inclined to progress in spite of the best treatment available. The ill youngsters are isolated immediately and the nurses are not allowed near the well children. Now and then the entire maternity section of the hospital is closed until the epidemic subsides. Not all the babies who are exposed become afflicted although premature and immature tots are in the greatest danger. This is one reason why it is so important to recognize the malady early so that precautionary measures can be taken.

Food by mouth is withheld but fluids and nourishment are supplied hypodermically. Occasionally blood transfusions are required. Feedings are resumed with caution and at first protein milk or boiled mother's milk is given. Considerable research has been done with the sulfonamides, penicillin, and streptomycin. The latter is capable of subduing most of the bacteria in the digestive tract and, in some cases, this has been helpful, but in others, the outcome is not influenced. Notwithstanding the lack of a specific remedy, many lives are saved by combating dehydration and toxemia. Prevention is encouraged by breastfeeding and maintaining scrupulous cleanliness.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

According to the Shanghai Evening Post all five newspapers in Wusih, the local industrial center, closed down because the employees insisted on being paid in rice.

This amounts to sort of a sit down strike with chopsticks.

If the employes win their rice demands, they'll probably call in Artie Shaw as city editor.

And in case anybody tries to hold up a reporter and take his pay check, he can always sprinkle a little salt on his wallet and swallow it.

One reporter was asked if he wanted to go to Shanghai as a foreign correspondent or stay here. It was a tossup. Should he get paid off in that American stuff that's nice and crispy or that Chinese stuff that's rice and kripy?

Of course, over there there's no such thing as inflation. To them it's just another case of puffed rice.

I heard about one guy on the paper who lost his job but it didn't bother him. He just brought a farm and grew his own money.

But somehow I don't think it would work out paying our newspapermen with food.

When a reporter came running in yelling, "I've got a scoop," you wouldn't know whether he just landed a story or got paid off in ice cream.

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—When it comes to taxes, the big-business lobby never changes. A peek behind-the-scenes with the House Ways and Means Committee shows that the same group of wire-pullers who have tried to mould taxes in the past are more in the saddle than ever today.

Here is how they operate: Three years ago, Randolph Paul, then Counsel of the Treasury Department, was asked to meet with five men described to him as "controlling the tax policy of the United States." When he sat down with them, he found that these five were:

1. Wall Street banker John W. Hanes, chief owner of the Martin Aviation Co., investor in various big tobacco companies, and the largest orchid-grower in the world.
2. J. Cheever Cowdin, head of the National Association of Manufacturers' tax committee, chairman of Universal Pictures and Trans World Airlines; director of Curtiss-Wright, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry Gyroscope, Fort Instrument Co., Waterbury Tool and half a dozen others.
3. Ellsworth Alvord, tax lobbyist for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and former tax lawyer for Andrew W. Mellon.
4. Lewis Brown of the Johns-Manville Co.
5. Roswell Magill, Wall Street tax lawyer.

This is the little group which described themselves as "controlling U. S. tax policy." And while they had little luck with Randolph Paul, today they have finally come into their own. It has recently been discovered that Republican Chairman Knutson of the House Ways and Means Committee has now actually appointed three of the above — Cheever Cowdin, John Hanes and Roswell Magill—as a tax committee to advise Congress on how to write the tax law.

In other words, Mr. Cowdin, a multimillionaire and Mr. Hanes, another multimillionaire, together with Mr. Magill, an attorney for several millionaires, now are given the official right to help fix the nation's taxes.

Unhappy Chandler

Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler, once a versatile Senate debater, has been on a lot of hot spots in his day. But it took the nine-year-old son of Broadway Columnist Leonard Lyons to put him on another.

Having heard that Leonard Lyons' two sons were up in arms over the suspension of Brooklyn Dodgers' Leo Durocher, Happy sent the two boys a note which read:

"It grieves me to know that you do not approve of my action in suspending Leo Durocher. But I am sure that if you were familiar with all the facts, you would agree that my action was in the interest of baseball. I have no other interest except to preserve the integrity of our national pastime."

To which George Lyons wrote back:

"Poppa was right in telling you that we don't think you did right in suspending Leo Durocher. Poppa explained to use the part of your letter where you said 'I am sure that if you were familiar with all the facts that you would agree that my action was in the interest of baseball.'

"I am nine and a half years old. My brother Warren is seven. We play baseball and follow all the scores. We sometimes see games and root for Joe DiMaggio and for the Dodgers. So according to how Poppa explained what you said, I think we are the interest of baseball and the future of baseball. So could you please send up a few facts that maybe would tell us why you were right in suspending Leo Durocher.

"Maybe you should have punished him with only a money fine. We don't know the facts unless you give us some."

The Lyons boys have not yet received a reply from Happy Chandler.

Mine Safety Lags

John L. Lewis, who has tried to swing the miners to the Republican party during every election since 1936, now faces an interesting situation at the hands of his Republican friends. The question is: Will the Republicans give him the mine-safety bill he has been demanding?

For a good many years, Lewis has been trying to pass an adequate mine-safety bill—without success. About once a year public indignation gets aroused over a horrible mine tragedy, after which public apathy sets in and no-mine safety bill is passed.

Real fact is that most of the mine owners don't want Federal inspection of their mines, or a really airtight mine-safety bill.

At this congressional session, however, definite action was hoped for.

Three mine-safety bills have been introduced: two by Republican Congressman Gerald Landis of Indiana, a former coal miner; one by Democratic Senator Harley Kilgore of West Virginia, long known as the miners' best friend in Congress. As a reward for his friendship, however, Kilgore was vigorously opposed by Lewis at the last election.

When the two Landis bills came before Republican Congressman Max Schwabe of Missouri, chairman of a labor subcommittee, however, he decided to consult Speaker Joe Martin and GOP leader Charley Halleck of Indiana. They hesitated. The coal operators' lobby is strong and one of their arguments, incidentally, is that used by the Democrats — interference with states rights.

So despite the public outcery during the Centralia tragedy, it doesn't look likely that a mine-safety bill will be passed by the House.

In the Senate, there is a better chance. Senators Dworkshak of Idaho and Cordon of Oregon, Republicans, both indicate support for Kilgore's mine-safety bill.

However, one interesting political question mark has arisen. "If John L. Lewis fought the re-election of Senator Kilgore, the man who has done most for mine safety," ask some Republicans, "what is the use of going down the line for him?"

Efforts Made To Enlighten Public On Truman Doctrine

By MARK SULLIVAN

During three months America has experienced an extraordinary attempt at public enlightenment. Made up largely of conscious and official effort, party of spontaneous contributions, the sum of it is the most vital thing in motion in the world today. The subject attempted to be explained to the country is, as commonly phrased, "the Truman doctrine."

Beginning with the address in which Mr. Truman laid it before Congress and the country March 12, there have been more than a score of addresses by top level public men, aimed specifically toward explaining the new doctrine to the country or bearing upon it. These include two formal speeches by Secretary of State Marshall, one formal statement to the country and several statements on the Senate floor by Republican leader on foreign affairs Vandenberg, a formal address by Republican advisor and participant in foreign negotiations Dulles; two formal statements, comprehensive and detailed, by ex-President Hoover, in the form of letters to the committees of Congress. In connection with the first concrete step in the Truman doctrine, the grant of aid to Greece, the doctrine has been discussed in Congress comprehensively with leaders of both parties participating, almost wholly in a bi-partisan spirit.

The efforts of the State Department to enable the country to understand the Truman doctrine have been painstaking and far-reaching. In addition to addresses to the public by several officials, one effort by the Department was extraordinarily conceived and carried out. The department devoted three days to continuous conference, informal and off-the-record but thoroughly organized for enlightenment, in which officials including Secretary Marshall addressed leaders of public thought whom it had invited. These included heads of church organizations, college presidents, heads of veterans organizations, labor leaders and heads of industrial groups. The aggregate of them, it was intended and estimated, represented 75,000,000 members, every adult in the country.

The sum of the efforts toward enlightenment has been successful, the country is Truman's doctrine conscious. In an election to fill a vacancy in Congress in the state of Washington the doctrine was an issue, made so by the Republican candidate who supported the doctrine and won the election. Yet if the electors in that district, and the public generally, grasp the underlying idea of the Truman doctrine and approved it, they do not know the precise form and its details. They cannot, for the doctrine was not born full-fledged and could not be, it is not a static document in a State Department vault It is a thing being evolved in the minds of men; and many of the addresses about it, while firmly favoring the basic idea, have been criticism contributing to the evolution. It need not be surprising if the progress of evolution, changing from day to day, creates occasional mystification. Over the recent weekend, the note of puzzlement on the part of the public was conspicious. Firm through every stage of the evolution is the conditions which makes the doctrine a necessity. This was put in one sentence by ex-President Hoover in his letter to Senator Bridges for publication this week: "There is greater danger of political and economic chaos in the world today than at any time since the war ended."

To avert this danger, to make the world and especially Europe a going economic concern, is the purpose of the Truman doctrine. Because the first announcement of the doctrine was accompanied by a concrete step in it, the grant of aid to Greece and Turkey, it was assumed that the Truman doctrine would consist of successive separate grants to other countries on much the same basis. Quick realization that for several reasons, including possible cost to us, this would not be the best way, led to an important step in the evolution of the doctrine. As put in a careful address by Secretary Marshall, we should not undertake to draw up unilaterally a program designed to place Europe on its feet econmically; the initiative . . . must come from Europe." Action by the countries of Europe toward putting themselves on a self-supporting basis includes pooling of their resources, a kind of economic federation of Europe. Steps toward this are now underway, taken promptly by Britain and France, with a statement by British Prime Minister Bevin almost ecstatic in its approval of Secretary Marshall's address, which Mr. Bevin said, "may well rank as one of the greatest in the world's history."

Lawrence Raps Catholic Unit For Criticizing Labor Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 16 — An amazing statement has just been issued by the Social Action Department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference—amazing because it is a partisan attack on the Labor Relations bill now before President Truman for approval or disapproval.

To mix the church with politics in America has long been looked upon with disfavor by laymen of all denominations. For an influential national organization of Catholics to issue a statement which, in effect, applies pressure on the president to veto the pending Labor Bill gives the impression that all Catholics perhaps think the same way about it or that at least one official agency of the Catholic Church in America endorses the views expressed.

Some time ago this writer took ocasion to protest against the statements on current issues expressed by a protestant group—The Social Research Department of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America—because it appeared to be going beyond the application of moral influence to economic questions. Now a Catholic agency comes in for criticism because the principle in both cases is the same. Religious groups which involve themselves in partisan political and economic issues serve only to weaken the rightful influence of the churches upon individuals.

When a statement is made, for instance, by a church group that taxes the credulity of observers, it necessarily tends to weaken confidence in such a church group's impartiality or objectivity. Thus the Catholic Social Action Department says:

"The Taft-Hartley Bill does little or nothing to encourage labor-management cooperation. On the contrary it approaches the complicated problem from a narrow and excessively legalistic point of view."

Who is to say that treating management and unions alike will not bring labor-management cooperation? Anyone who is familiar with the text of the proposed law knows, moreover, that it is no more legalistic than the original Wagner Act, whose phrases have been the basis of thousands of rulings and decisions already in which hair-splitting and equivocal rulings have been made by the Labor Board affecting the employer.

The Social Action Department didn't protest against the enactment of the original Wagner law and certainly has not called for its repeal or revision so that employers and unions would be treated alike. The statment just issued goes further in denouncing the present bill than most critics outside the labor-union movement have gone. Indeed it reads as if it were prepared by a labor-union leader and does not give any impression of awareness of the abuses that have led up to the passage by both Houses of Congress of a law to correct such abuses.

"The bill," says the statement, "is an open invitation to management to have recourse to the courts and to the Labor Board at almost every turn and thus to sidetrack or evade the normal processes of collective bargaining."

Such a claim is wholly unrealistic because a careful reading of the bill will show that, unlike the Wagner Act, the new bill not only puts upon employers an obligation to bargain collectively but spells out the meaning of that obligation.

But in any event it is not the function of a church unit at a national headquarters, using the name "Catholic," to enter into a detailed discussion of the merits of highly technical legal provisions and to urge, in effect, on the President of the United States that the Catholic voters share or might share these views and that hence Mr. Truman might better heed the advice given or perhaps lose some of the Catholic votes.

This sort of statement by the Catholic group is an interjection into politics which thoughtful Catholic leaders may not wish to approve. A repudiation of the statement issued by the Social Action Department would seem to be called for or at least the definition of a limited authority behind the issuance of the highly controversial pronouncement.

The province of all the churches of all denominations is to exert an influence for individual honesty and self-restraint endeavoring to make laymen responsive to spiritual interest so that they themselves will be fair and objective both in the writing of laws and in taking rightful political action.

There is not the slightest objection to the expression of views by individual clergymen on public questions when they are plainly acting as individual citizens. But for any church unit, functioning as an institution, to mix in as a pressure group on specific laws in the economic or political field is to involve America in unfortunate controversies where the influence of the churches will be weakened instead of strengthened.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

The Mysberg Case

It used to be that the trader could move from country to country, find out how to trade in each one, study the laws, and move goods and services. Today the trader is subject to indignities and even imprisonment.

Swan, Culbertson and Fritz is an American firm that has long existed in China. On March 3, the Chinese police in Shanghai raided the premises of this reliable American firm, seized 38 ten-ounce gold bars and a quantity of foreign currency notes. This was done under the Emergency Economic Measures of February 17, 1947. The currencies were the property of the Abis Company, incorporated under the laws of the United States. Its manager, Frederick Mysberg a Dutch national, was arrested charged with dealing in gold and foreign currency notes. Bail was refused him.

During the first day, he was shackled in chains to 40 other prisoners. The Dutch made a terrific noise about that, so they let him out of the chain gang.

Mysberg's trial started on March 22 before Judge Meng Ting-ku of the Shanghai District Court. On April 14, Mysberg was sentenced to one year's imprisonment. US $40,000 and HK $20,000 were confiscated.

Now, it turned out that the gold bars and US $21,201 of the foreign currency were property of a Chinese client of the firm, that no transactions in gold or bullion occurred after February 18. I do not need to go into all the involved financial dealings except to point out that this firm has for decades been engaged in the foreign exchange business as an American firm. In the trial, it was brought out that the "Measures" had never been enacted into law by the Legislative Yuan; that even the "Measures" did not forbid the type of transaction this firm principally engaged in, namely, telegraphic transfers and demand drafts; and that even under the "Measures," mere possession of foreign exchange is not prohibited.

The judge, however, took the position that the "economic policy" of the government was paramount and that the government in pursuit of policy could take any steps it chose. That, of course, would leave any private individual doing business high and dry because not basing his transactions on known law but on guesses as to what policy the government might at a given moment pursue, he would not know what to do.

A friend from Shanghai writes me:

"One of the disturbing new Chinese police regulations is that no foreigners can obtain an 'exit permit' if there are any court proceedings, civil or criminal, against him and/or his companies. There have been instances in the past of blackmailing individuals who have caused court proceedings to be instituted in order to blackmail the departing resident."

The "China Weekly Review," an American newspaper in Shanghai, describes the trial as follows:

". . . This trial . . . could not have been considered legal in a kindergarten. There was never the slightest proof that Mysberg violated the so-called law, the law had not been passed at the time of his arrest and, in fact, was not passed by the Legislative Yuan until after he was convicted. During the trial the court was continually interrupted by uniformed officers of the Woosung-Shanghai Garrison, who upbraided the counsel for the defense as being a 'traitor' for defending a foreigner. This type of Hitler-like racialism has been demonstrated in several recent trials involving foreigners. In one, the defendant was referred to as 'a foreign dog.'"

It is necessary to call attention to these facts because if this country is to engage in foreign trade, as so many hope, the policy of our government must be to protect the trader. Americans cannot export capital only to have it confiscated and their employees arrested at whim. I know all the parties to this action personally. Chester Fritz and Chuck Culbertson went out to China as young men 30 or more years ago and built solid businesses from which China benefited. They are constructive-minded citizens. They suffered throughout the Japanese occupation, being imprisoned. They returned to China as soon as they could to take up where they left off. Yet, they have been hit down in this way. It is very discouraging to enterprising Americans.

Sustaining Power

I can sincerely testify to the sustaining power of prayer as the greatest force toward inward happiness that there is in this world. Prayer sweeps out the mind of all its petty worries, conditions the consciousness toward God, and leaves one enriched in body, as well as spirit.

Dr. Alexis Carrell, one of the world's great physicians and scientists, and a winner of the Nobel prize, said this: "The influence of prayer on the human mind and body is as demonstrable as that of secreting glands. Its results can be measured in terms of increased physical buoyancy, greater intellectual vigor, moral stamina, and a deeper understanding of the realities underlying human relationship."

Prayer is not the process of asking for things, but of seeking a sustaining power to guide us out of selfishness into a unity with forces far beyond our frailty and helplessness. It's an opening of the heart to an Unseen Power that has not only created the universe but given to every human being its entity. We are one with God the moment that we start talking to Him.

Every time we pray our spiritual energy is both enriched and increased, and we establish a way of life that connects us with the eternal verities. All truth, all beauty, all the wonders and mysteries of life are made more understandable. And prayer wipes out all fear. "No man," said Emerson, "ever prayed without learning something."

No eloquence is essential—just the simple outpouring of the heart in words that are fashioned in the heart. It's the one sure way to educate the heart and make it honestly responsive to every call of emergency in life. Prayer can completely change a man and place him upon an even keel with his fellowman, and in tune with the Infinite.

There is a flame of hope ever burning in the contrite heart. Prayer gives to this flame its illumination, brightening each succeeding day, and giving to life its unconquerable courage. Prayer is the path to an enlightened humility, and prayer constantly repairs a wavering faith. It is the source of all peace and tranquility.

Listen World

By ELSIE ROBINSON

A famous woman died in Washington the other day. Her name was Evalyn Walsh McLean.

As a child she had lived in the mining camps of the west. And if you have ever known hardship, that's it. Then "father struck it rich" and with millions pouring out of the abundant earth he decided bigosh to make a lady of his daughter or break her neck. Daughter didn't agree. She liked mining camps. Papa didn't succeed. He didn't understand city streets although he came near to paving them with gold. But between them they raised a ruckus that would have made a diamond back rattler slick his coils and surrender.

You think money did the trick? Get over it. Sure, Evalyn had money to burn—and burned it. As one writer has aptly said, "She clanked with diamonds." Likewise—as I know, for I knew her—she called kings by their first names. She suffered the agonies of dope addiction after she had seen her brother killed by her side in an automobile crash and had her own skull nearly fractured. Later her daughter was to be a suicide.

There was almost no experience on earth denied this woman—no powerful human she had not met—no hellfire risk she had not taken—no freedom she had not strained to the breaking point. She was a law unto herself, incredible, limitless, defying all tradition and convention. Yet, when she died from pneumonia the other night, some of the greatest men in America stood beside her bed.

You wonder, don't you, what was her secret? How did she turn the trick?

She had no secret. She turned no tricks. She had only one quality which always works whether it functions in the raggedest beggar or the proudest star.

She dared to be herself. And because she dared to be herself there was a strength and magnetism in her that drew humanity up as surely as the law of gravitation draws down.

In my 30 years as a columnist and my 64 years as a human being I have met many great and potent people but I have yet to meet one whose power was not based on that same fact, they had the courage to be themselves. Some were very wise, some were very reckless, some were very suave, some were very rough. They all had many, many flaws. They worked in every department from the White House to the locomotive cab. Yet always, those who were really great drew others to them not because of money or power or education, but because they dared to be natural . . . they dared to be themselves.

Of all human qualities I believe naturalness is the greatest. For naturalness cannot exist with fear. And it is in our timid human nature to follow the strong even though they weave a tangled trail.

There's no percentage in copying. There's no percentage in trying to be or act or think like someone else. The only thing you can register in your brief and battered years is the one immortal essential—dare to be yourself.

✔ STOMACH GAS
✔ ACID INDIGESTION

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the 888 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 888 Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Listen World

By ELSIE ROBINSON

A famous woman died in Washington the other day. Her name was Evalyn Walsh McLean.

As a child she had lived in the mining camps of the west. And if you have ever known hardship, that's it. Then "father struck it rich" and with millions pouring out of the abundant earth he decided bigosh to make a lady of his daughter or break her neck. Daughter didn't agree. She liked mining camps. Papa didn't succeed. He didn't understand city streets although he came near to paving them with gold. But between them they raised a ruckus that would have made a diamond back rattler slick his coils and surrender.

You think money did the trick? Get over it. Sure, Evalyn had money to burn—and burned it. As one writer has aptly said, "She clanked with diamonds." Likewise—as I know, for I knew her—she called kings by their first names. She suffered the agonies of dope addiction after she had seen her brother killed by her side in an automobile crash and had her own skull nearly fractured. Later her daughter was to be a suicide.

There was almost no experience on earth denied this woman—no powerful human she had not met—no hellfire risk she had not taken—no freedom she had not strained to the breaking point. She was a law unto herself, incredible, limitless, defying all tradition and convention. Yet, when she died from pneumonia the other night, some of the greatest men in America stood beside her bed.

You wonder, don't you, what was her secret? How did she turn the trick?

She had no secret. She turned no tricks. She had only one quality which always works whether it functions in the raggedest beggar or the proudest star.

She dared to be herself. And because she dared to be herself there was a strength and magnetism in her that drew humanity up as surely as the law of gravitation draws down.

In my 30 years as a columnist and my 64 years as a human being I have met many great and potent people but I have yet to meet one whose power was not based on that same fact, they had the courage to be themselves. Some were very wise, some were very reckless, some were very suave, some were very rough. They all had many, many flaws. They worked in every department from the White House to the locomotive cab. Yet always, those who were really great drew others to them not because of money or power or education, but because they dared to be natural . . . they dared to be themselves.

Of all human qualities I believe naturalness is the greatest. For naturalness cannot exist with fear. And it is in our timid human nature to follow the strong even though they weave a tangled trail.

There's no percentage in copying. There's no percentage in trying to be or act or think like someone else. The only thing you can register in your brief and battered years is the one immortal essential—dare to be yourself.

Smelly Story

BOSTON — (AP) — A red-haired, freckled youngster employed in the stock room of a large Boston department store's cosmetic department recently threw up his job. He explained that his clothing became so impregnated with the odor of a wide variety of perfumes and other preparations that his pals thought he was becoming a sissy.

Maryland Bull Receives Distinguished Designation

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., June 16 — Dunloggin Master Stroke 769577 (V.G), herd sire owned by McKendree Walker, Gaithersburg, Md., has become the 70th Holstein-Friesian bull in the nation to receive the distinguished designation of "Gold Medal Proven Sire". This award is made by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America in recognitan of the hgh producton and outstanding type of his daughters.

Of his 51 daughters which have been classified for type, one scored "excellent", which is the highest score an animal can receive, and 12 scored "very good". The average score for all the classified daughters was 81.1. Seventeen of his daughters have completed official production records in either Advanced Registry or Herd Test and 13 of these exceeded Advanced Registry butterfat requirements by 50 per cent. Highest among these was the record of 664 pounds of fat made in Herd Test by Rolling Knoll Matador Mistress 2264718 at the age of 2 years 11 months, 2X milking, 365 days.

Poets say raindrops tap on window panes but soil conservationists claim the drops hurtle down upon soil surfaces with force enough to knock 100 tons of top soil off an acre of bare land in a single storm. Cover crops keep rain from eroding soil.

Friends Provide Restricted Quarters

PORTLAND, Me. — (AP) — "Where have you been living lately?" Assistant County Attorney Daniel C. McDonald asked a man facing an intoxication charge in Municipal Court. "With friends on Monroe Street," was the reply. The man admitted later the street number was the address of the Cumberland County jail.

Good News For Folks Who Suffer From

- ✓ STOMACH GAS
- ✓ SOUR FOOD TASTE
- ✓ ACID INDIGESTION

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that astonishing 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the 888 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 888 Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalisers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is 888 Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people 888 Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of 888 Tonic from your drug store today. 888 Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

June Smith Becomes Bride Of Walter Edward Pierce

Ceremony Performed In Williamsburg

Wren Chapel of William and Mary College was the setting for the wedding of Miss June Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde B. Smith, St. Louis, Mo., to Walter Edward Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Pierce, 700 Washington Street, Saturday at 4:30. The altar, lighted by tall Cathedral candles, was flanked with standards of white gladioli, larkspur and palms.

Dr. Archibald F. Ward, Jr., minister of Williamsburg Baptist Church, officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. J. Hardcastle Pennock, Philadelphia, was her cousin's matron of honor and Miss Ann Hull, Palm Beach, Fla., was the bridesmaid. Mr. Pierce served as his son's best man and Townes Lea, Danville, Va., and James Black, city, were the ushers.

Preceding the ceremony a brief musical program was played by Carl Fehr.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of blush pink point d 'esprit and a matching sweetheart bonnet, trimmed with veiling. The dress was fashioned with a fitted bodice, dropped shoulder effect, long sleeves and a full sweeping tiered skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses, gardenias and stephanotis.

Her attendants wore identical dresses of pink marquisette with matching hats and mits. Their flowers were pink carnations and delphinium. Mrs. Smith wore a pale grey crepe dress with matching hat and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Pierce chose a black sheer dress with pink and black hat and a corsage of pink roses for her son's wedding.

The bride attended the University of Missouri, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. The bridegroom attended Washington College, Chestertown and is a graduate of William and Mary College. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and O. D. K. Mr. Pierce is affiliated with Townes Lea in the tobacco business in Danville, Va., and Whiteville, N. C.

Tricks For Home Milliners

BUTTON UP YOUR HAT . . . A simple straw calot, easy to make at home, becomes a flattering picture hat when a big brim is buttoned on. The buttons are bright ceramic flowers available in chain and variety stores everywhere.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Since all the famous hat designers such as Lilly Dache, Sally Victor and John Frederics are showing two-way hats this season, with detachable brims, crowns and trimmings, a field day is in sight for home milliners.

An ingenious gal equipped with a few untrimmed hat bodies, needle, thread, scissors, buttons and imagination, can come up with some really chipper chapeaux. One of the neatest tricks of the season is to make a felt or straw beanie, trimmed with some of the handsome new buttons available at notion counters, and add a big brim that buttons on to the beanie. This gives you a three-way hat. You may wear the beanie as is, you may add the brim and have a picture hat or you may wear the brim alone and have a crownless cartwheel for summer garden parties and such.

Some of these slick new effects may be achieved even by remaking old hats stored in the attic. Button-on bands and trimmings also may be worked out, so that you can change your hat-band to match your dress every day if you like.

Get out the hat boxes and the button box, girls—the sky's the limit.

June Smith Becomes Bride Of Walter Edward Pierce

Ceremony Performed In Williamsburg

Wren Chapel of William and Mary College was the setting for the wedding of Miss June Smith,, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde B. Smith, St. Louis, Mo., to Walter Edward Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Pierce, 700 Washington Street, Saturday at 4:30. The altar, lighted by tall Cathedral candles, was flanked with standards of white gladioli, larkspur and palms.

Dr. Archibald F. Ward, Jr., minister of Williamsburg Baptist Church, officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. J. Hardcastle Pennock, Philadelphia, was her cousin's matron of honor and Miss Ann Hull, Palm Beach, Fla., was the bridesmaid. Mr. Pierce served as his son's best man and Townes Lea, Danville, Va., and James Black, city, were the ushers.

Preceding the ceremony a brief musical program was played by Carl Fehr.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of blush pink point d 'esprit and a matching sweetheart bonnet, trimmed with veiling. The dress was fashioned with a fitted bodice, dropped shoulder effect, long sleeves and a full sweeping tiered skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses, gardenias and stephanotis.

Her attendants wore identical dresses of pink marquisette with matching hats and mits. Their flowers were pink carnations and delphinium. Mrs. Smith wore a pale grey crepe dress with matching hat and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Pierce chose a black sheer dress with pink and black hat and a corsage of pink roses for her son's wedding.

The bride attended the University of Missouri, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. The bridegroom attended Washington College, Chestertown and is a graduate of William and Mary College. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and O. D. K. Mr. Pierce is affiliated with Townes Lea in the tobacco business in Danville, Va., and Whiteville, N. C.

Tricks For Home Milliners

BUTTON UP YOUR HAT . . . A simple straw calot, easy to make at home, becomes a flattering picture hat when a big brim is buttoned on. The buttons are bright ceramic flowers available in chain and variety stores everywhere.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Since all the famous hat designers such as Lilly Dache, Sally Victor and John Frederics are showing two-way hats this season, with detachable brims, crowns and trimmings, a field day is in sight for home milliners.

An ingenious gal equipped with a few untrimmed hat bodies, needle, thread, scissors, buttons and imagination, can come up with some really chipper chapeaux. One of the neatest tricks of the season is to make a felt or straw beanie, trimmed with some of the handsome new buttons available at notion counters, and add a big brim that buttons on to the beanie. This gives you a three-way hat. You may wear the beanie as is, you may add the brim and have a picture hat or you may wear the brim alone and have a crownless cartwheel for summer garden parties and such.

Some of these slick new effects may be achieved even by remaking old hats stored in the attic. Button-on bands and trimmings also may be worked out, so that you can change your hat-band to match your dress every day if you like.

Get out the hat boxes and the button box, girls—the sky's the limit.

India May Curb Cost Of Weddings

BOMBAY, India (AP)—A bill pending in the united provinces legislative assembly seeks to curb extravagances in Hindu weddings by fixing maximum amounts which could be expended for wedding receptions.

The bill, which would limit expenditures according to the means of the contracting parties, not only would punish violation with jail sentences for the parents or guardians of the wedding principals, but also would provide jail sentences for the priest preforming a more elaborate ceremony and on the barber who gives the groom his ceremonial haircut.

This School Has Own United Nations

BOSTON (AP)—Boys and girls of 32 nationalities work and play together in a Boston public grammar school, named for Abraham Lincoln.

Head Master William J. Cunningham lists the children's backgrounds as follows:

Albania, Arabia, Armenia, Austria, Canada, England, Ireland, Scotland, Japan, Newfoundland China, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Lithuania, Philippine Islands, Holland, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Russia, including Hebrews and Ukrainians—Spain, Sweden, Syria, Turkey, and United States, Negro and white.

Single Though Married

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Some people in Brazil are legally single yet married. This country, which does not allow divorce, permits the granting of a "desquite" or legal separation but without the right to remarry. Fourteen thousand couples were married in this South American capital last year while less than 200 were granted "desquits."

Paris Pastry Ration

PARIS—(AP)—Pastry, which went off rationing about ten months ago, is to be sold again with coupons only. French papers called this "token" rationing but warned their readers there might be a bread shortage in France in June, unless peasants increase their deliveries of wheat.

In 1946 New York led the other states with federal income tax payments of $7,730,385,959, of which $3,477,618,551 represented individual income taxes.

YOUR NEW REGULAR ARMY WANTS YOU TO KNOW HOW VOLUNTEERS ARE SELECTED

OUT OF EVERY 100 VOLUNTEERS WHO APPLY

20.24% . . . . . fail to pass the mental tests
11.36% . . . . . fail to pass the physical tests
6.42% . . . . . fail for moral or sub-standard administrative reasons

TOTALS

38.02% . . . . . fail to pass
61.98% . . . . . are accepted

(Based on figures for January, 1947, when 35,478 men enlisted and 1702 extended their enlistments.)

Would it surprise you to know that only about 60 out of every 100 volunteers for the new Regular Army can measure up to today's requirements for a soldier?

Only the top 60% of American youth—mentally, morally and physically—can pass the rigid tests.

There are reasons for this which your Army wants you to know:

1 The men we send overseas must represent you to millions of people who are struggling towards democracy. They must be typical of our best.

2 The truly modern Army requires a far higher type of soldier than ever before. The wide use of scientific materiel and the broad program of research necessitate a superior man. Your Army must lead the world in the caliber of its men if it is to provide adequate defense in the atomic age.

These are reasons why Army enlistment standards today are higher than ever before—why your new Regular Army, although comparatively small in size—is performing its world-wide duties well.

In Japan, for example, ours is the smallest occupation force per capita in world history—yet there is no record of greater achievement in such a short space of time.

If you can measure up to these standards, you will find enlistment in the new Regular Army a good career. You will live and work with friends whom you will value always. You will have opportunity for travel and high adventure, and a chance to qualify for Officer Candidate Schools and Technical Schools. Above all, you will have the deep satisfaction of doing an important job for your country.

Wauslee Davis Wins Class Top Awards

Plainfield High School announces that Wauslee Ann (Bonnie) Davis is being graduated as the first ranking student in her class of 398 pupils, Miss Lola K. Hoff, dean of girls, reports. Miss Davis is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank U. Davis, 24 Washington Street.

Miss Davis was an outstanding student throughout the year, appearing on the high honor roll each report period. She also has been recipient of other coveted awards. She received the French prize, awarded by the Alliance Francaise, to the person in third year French making the highest grade in a competitive oral and written examinations.

She was also awarded the Citizenship medal which is awarded to the girl and boy in the senior class who best examplifies the qualities of good citizenship. This selection is made by the vote of the entire faculty.

Certificates of excellency for theme writing were also won by Miss Davis, who did not confine her interests to academic achievements, but also participated in sports and won the badminton singles tournament; and was active on school and class committees.

Dr. and Mrs. Davis and their son attended the commencement exercises and accompanied by their daughter, made a weekend trip before returning home.

Club Plans Picnic

The Twigtown Homemakers Club formulated plans for the July meeting and also discussed plans for a community picnic at the meeting, Saturday at the home of Mrs. Charles Frost, Hinkle Road.

The picnic will be held August 9 at the home of Mrs. Austin D. Twigg. Poems commemorating flag day were given by Mrs. Charles Barger and Mrs. Marvin Hinkle. Mrs. Richard Thomas also presented a piece.

Mrs. Twigg was named county delegate to the Rural Women's Short Course.

India May Curb Cost Of Weddings

BOMBAY, India (AP)—A bill pending in the united provinces legislative assembly seeks to curb extravagances in Hindu weddings by fixing maximum amounts which could be expended for wedding receptions.

The bill, which would limit expenditures according to the means of the contracting parties, not only would punish violation with jail sentences for the parents or guardians of the wedding principals, but also would provide jail sentences for the priest preforming a more elaborate ceremony and on the barber who gives the groom his ceremonial haircut.

This School Has Own United Nations

BOSTON (AP)—Boys and girls of 32 nationalities work and play together in a Boston public grammar school, named for Abraham Lincoln.

Head Master William J. Cunningham lists the children's backgrounds as follows:

Albania, Arabia, Armenia, Austria, Canada, England, Ireland, Scotland, Japan, Newfoundland China, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Lithuania, Philippine Islands, Holland, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Russia, including Hebrews and Ukrainians—Spain, Sweden, Syria, Turkey, and United States, Negro and white.

Single Though Married

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Some people in Brazil are legally single yet married. This country, which does not allow divorce, permits the granting of a "desquite" or legal separation but without the right to remarry. Fourteen thousand couples were married in this South American capital last year while less than 200 were granted "desquits."

Paris Pastry Ration

PARIS—(AP)—Pastry, which went off rationing about ten months ago, is to be sold again with coupons only. French papers called this "token" rationing but warned their readers there might be a bread shortage in France in June, unless peasants increase their deliveries of wheat.

In 1946 New York led the other states with federal income tax payments of $7,730,385,959, of which $3,477,618,551 represented individual income taxes.

YOUR NEW REGULAR ARMY WANTS YOU TO KNOW HOW VOLUNTEERS ARE SELECTED

OUT OF EVERY 100 VOLUNTEERS WHO APPLY

20.24% — fail to pass the mental tests
11.36% — fail to pass the physical tests
6.42% — fail for moral or sub-standard administrative reasons

TOTALS

38.02% — fail to pass
61.98% — are accepted

(Based on figures for January, 1947, when 35,478 men enlisted and 1702 extended their enlistments.)

Would it surprise you to know that only about 60 out of every 100 volunteers for the new Regular Army can measure up to today's requirements for a soldier?

Only the top 60% of American youth—mentally, morally and physically—can pass the rigid tests.

There are reasons for this which your Army wants you to know:

1. The men we send overseas must represent you to millions of people who are struggling towards democracy. They must be typical of our best.
2. The truly modern Army requires a far higher type of soldier than ever before. The wide use of scientific materiel and the broad program of research necessitate a superior man. Your Army must lead the world in the caliber of its men if it is to provide adequate defense in the atomic age.

These are reasons why Army enlistment standards today are higher than ever before—why your new Regular Army, although comparatively small in size—is performing its world-wide duties well.

In Japan, for example, ours is the smallest occupation force per capita in world history—yet there is no record of greater achievement in such a short space of time.

If you can measure up to these standards, you will find enlistment in the new Regular Army a good career. You will live and work with friends whom you will value always. You will have opportunity for travel and high adventure, and a chance to qualify for Officer Candidate Schools and Technical Schools. Above all, you will have the deep satisfaction of doing an important job for your country.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Wife Is In Quandry As Husband Comes Up With Story Hard To Believe

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

When, by the way of explaining his apparent infidelity, a husband comes up with a story that is hard for his wife to believe, what is she to do? Should she pretend to believe it and try to keep her relationship with her husband as it was before the incident occurred, or should she tell him flatly that she thinks he is making the whole thing up? That is the quandry in which one of my correspondents finds herself. She tells me this story:

"After 12 years of marriage, my husband came home four weeks ago with two love-letters from another woman in his pocket. I found them there. He told me he had left them there for me to find because he couldn't tell me himself, not wanting to hurt me.

"He ask me what I was going to do and I told him it was up to him, as he was the one in love with somebody else. But I said I would not take it sitting down; that he could go to his new love, but he would have to support his son and myself. So then he said he did not want to go away, that he loved me.

"After that fe got along gne for a week. Then he began to bring it up again, and seemed to take pleasure in telling me how much the other woman loves him. Because I am so much in love with him myself, I made up my mind everything would have to be over between us, because, from the way he acted, I really believed he wanted her, so I told him to go. Then he told me that the letters were all a put-up job, written for him by another girl so he could get me to show more love for him, as he thinks I do not do enough to prove my love.

"What I'd like to know is, should I go on with him, taking his word that it was a put-up job? I don't believe his story. I think it is just his way of getting out of a bad situation. But because I love him and also because I believe my son should have a happy home, I could drop the subject and let him think I believe it is as he says. But could I learn to trust him again? Would he make a dope out of me again? If I should go on with him, would I ever have peace and happiness again?

"I know the woman who is supposed to have written the letters for him. Should I go and have it out with her before I go on any further?"

I certainly would not advise this wife to go to the woman who is supposed to have written the love-letters for her husband. The only satisfaction she would get out of it would be to tell her what she thought of her. It would not help her in solving the problem but would, instead, only complicate it by involving the woman in the trouble between herself and her husband.

I am afraid this husband is definitely not a trustworthy person, nor one who is very likely to bring his wife much happiness. Even assuming the facts are as he claims, it was a very low trick indeed and I am sorry to say I doubt that, even though the letters were manufactured, they were all there was to the situation. If he did ask this woman to write any such letters, it was probably a fantastic scheme to devise an elaborate cover-up for some affair he had himself.

If this woman loves her husband enough to get something out of life with him, even though she knows him to be untrustworthy, then it may be she would be less unhappy with him than she would be without him. But I doubt very much if she is going to find the "peace and happiness" with him of which she speaks.

One of the byproducts of the atomic bomb is a method of asking plants what they have been eating. Traces of radioactive materials placed in fertilizers taken up by plants can be traced with a Geiger counter. If the plant eats the treated fertilizer the radioactive material will make the counter click but, if the fertilizer is not used, the counter will remain silent. FAMILY MESSAGE NUMBER 19

How to get the MOST out of that Home you Buy!

Nearly every American family naturally wants to own its own home. But buying a home, under today's unusual conditions, calls for careful consideration. Before investing in a home, the best authorities suggest you get answers to these questions

Q. Is a home a good investment?

A. A home is a good investment in happiness and peace of mind, if you don't spend more on it than you can afford, and the cost to carry it will not be a heavy burden. It gives you greater comfort, security and satisfaction.

But don't think of it as a money-making investment. In the long run, few homes are re-sold at a profit.

Q. What price can I afford to pay?

A. That depends on how much money you make, and how much you have saved. A helpful guide that many follow is, don't pay more than one-and-a-half to two-and-a-half times the amount of your net annual income (that is, the income you have left after allowing for income tax).

You should put up as large a part of the purchase price as you can. The more cash you put up, the sooner you'll own your home free and clear.

Q. How can I tell if the price is fair?

A. Unless you are very experienced in real estate matters, you had better get some advice from a competent and impartial source.

Some neighborhoods are "going up" and some are "going down." Some communities have lower real estate tax rates than others. You should get all the facts before you buy.

Q. What will it cost to carry the house?

A. While you are paying off the mortgage you will have certain other charges to pay. Budget monthly for such items as interest, taxes, insurance, repairs and upkeep. Try to keep these costs, plus what you pay to reduce your mortgage, down to about one-fourth of your monthly income.

You should pay off your mortgage just as fast as you reasonably can, and have a little reserve so that if hard times come, as they have a way of doing, you'll be in a better position to weather the storm.

Q. Suppose I die before the mortgage is paid off?

A. If you are not sure your widow's income will enable her to continue the monthly payments, you can arrange a portion of your life insurance so that it will pay off the balance of the mortgage, if need be.

Mortgage payments and other carrying charges which come up every month should be handled the same way as your taxes and life insurance.

The Life Insurance Companies and their Agents

HOW TO PLAN FOR FAMILY HAPPINESS

Planning to get the most out of your new home is only part of sound money planning. You'll be more likely to have enough money on hand when you need it, if you'll follow these few simple rules:

For Today . . . The hardest thing, for most families, is to take care of the larger fixed items such as rent, taxes, insurance, mortgage and installment payments.

So first add up all your fixed items for the year, divide by 52, and set aside that amount weekly.

Also every family should have a "rainy day" fund equal to at least four weeks' income. Set aside a little every week until you have that much.

When you have done that, you'll know how much you can safely spend for food, clothing, heat, light, household furnishings, amusements, and so forth.

For Tomorrow . . . We live in a changing world. Family needs and circumstances change . . . living costs . . . taxes. If you have not had your life insurance program gone over lately, the chances are 2 to 1 that it should be brought up to date.

There are so many ways in which you can use your life insurance, that you should have the life insurance you now own checked to see if it is suited to your needs. This is a service that comes with your life insurance.

The person best equipped to help you with this is the well-trained life insurance agent. Get in touch with your agent, or write your life insurance company.

FAMILY MESSAGE NUMBER 19

How to get the MOST out of that Home you Buy!

Nearly every American family naturally wants to own its own home. But buying a home, under today's unusual conditions, calls for careful consideration. Before investing in a home, the best authorities suggest you get answers to these questions

Q. Is a home a good investment?

A. A home is a good investment in happiness and peace of mind, if you don't spend more on it than you can afford, and the cost to carry it will not be a heavy burden. It gives you greater comfort, security and satisfaction.

But don't think of it as a money-making investment. In the long run, few homes are re-sold at a profit.

Q. What price can I afford to pay?

A. That depends on how much money you make, and how much you have saved. A helpful guide that many follow is, don't pay more than one-and-a-half to two-and-a-half times the amount of your net annual income (that is, the income you have left after allowing for income tax).

You should put up as large a part of the purchase price as you can. The more cash you put up, the sooner you'll own your home free and clear.

Q. How can I tell if the price is fair?

A. Unless you are very experienced in real estate matters, you had better get some advice from a competent and impartial source.

Some neighborhoods are "going up" and some are "going down." Some communities have lower real estate tax rates than others. You should get all the facts before you buy.

Q. What will it cost to carry the house?

A. While you are paying off the mortgage you will have certain other charges to pay. Budget monthly for such items as interest, taxes, insurance, repairs and upkeep. Try to keep these costs, plus what you pay to reduce your mortgage, down to about one-fourth of your monthly income.

You should pay off your mortgage just as fast as you reasonably can, and have a little reserve so that if hard times come, as they have a way of doing, you'll be in a better position to weather the storm.

Q. Suppose I die before the mortgage is paid off?

A. If you are not sure your widow's income will enable her to continue the monthly payments, you can arrange a portion of your life insurance so that it will pay off the balance of the mortgage, if need be.

Mortgage payments and other carrying charges which come up every month should be handled the same way as your taxes and life insurance.

HOW TO PLAN FOR FAMILY HAPPINESS

Planning to get the most out of your new home is only part of sound money planning. You'll be more likely to have enough money on hand when you need it, if you'll follow these few simple rules:

For Today . . . The hardest thing, for most families, is to take care of the larger fixed items such as rent, taxes, insurance, mortgage and installment payments.

So first add up all your fixed items for the year, divide by 52, and set aside that amount weekly.

Also every family should have a "rainy day" fund equal to at least four weeks' income. Set aside a little every week until you have that much.

When you have done that, you'll know how much you can safely spend for food, clothing, heat, light, household furnishings, amusements, and so forth.

For Tomorrow . . . We live in a changing world. Family needs and circumstances change . . . living costs . . . taxes. If you have not had your life insurance program gone over lately, the chances are 2 to 1 that it should be brought up to date.

There are so many ways in which you can use your life insurance, that you should have the life insurance you now own checked to see if it is suited to your needs. This is a service that comes with your life insurance.

The person best equipped to help you with this is the well-trained life insurance agent. Get in touch with your agent, or write your life insurance company.

Sportsmen's Dog Training Ground Ready For Use

200 Acres Available For Area Owners

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, June 16—Officers of the Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association report that many local dog owners are joining the association in order to avail themselves of the privilege of coursing the dogs on the 200 acre dog training area recently secured by the club.

The area, consisting of 160 acres of wooded land and 40 acres of brush land in Piney Woods at the rear of Beall High School, was posted with signs last week, stating that the area is set aside under special permit, provided by an act of the Maryland General Assembly of 1947 for the coursing of dogs. Entering the area for the purpose of hunting or disturbing game or permitting dogs to enter without proper authorization is punishable by a fine of $25 for each offense.

Former Mayor Fred B. Crowe, who secured the perimit for the area from the State Game Commission, states that the area will be available to members of the Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association, who must show their membership card and a state hunting license. This area is one of five authorized in each county of Maryland. Dogs may be trained on Sundays as well as week days.

The tract was visited Sunday by Regional Game Warden Joseph Minke, Crowe, Game Warden Joe Keating and Evan Lloyd, custodian of the area. They reported the section ideal for training dogs and reported that no one, excepting the owners of the property, would be permitted to enter for the purpose of cutting timber.

Accepts Position

Frostburg relatives of Herschel Abramson, New York, a former resident of Frostburg, who had been connected with the Helene Rubenstein Cosmetic concern, has accepted a position as art director for Look magazine. Abramson, a graduate of Beall High School, is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Abramson, this city. After leaving high school he took a course at the Maryland Art Institute and studied for a year in Paris. He is a brother of Myer Adramson, Cumberland, a past exalted ruler of Frostburg Lodge, No. 470 B. P. O. Elks.

Will Take Course

Rev. Justus H. Liesmann, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, will leave July 1, to take a summer course at the Union Theological Seminary, Columbia University, New York City. During his absence the church services will be in charge of supply pastors as follows, July 6, 13 and 20, Stanley Whitson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Whitson, of Cumberland. He is a veteran of World War II, a graduate of Allegany High School, 1936 and Gettysburg College, 1941 and is now a second year student at the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, Pa.

July 27 and August 3, Robert F. Parker, of Fairfield, Iowa, a veteran of World War II and a second year student at the Lutheran Theological Seminary; August 10, Frank A. Stone, of Cumberland, a student at Frostburg State Teachers' College. Rev. Liesmann will resume his duties August 17.

Proclamation Spale Irks Mountain Mayor

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—The mayor of this mountain state municipality is proclamation-happy. But he doesn't intend to stay that way.

In a rebellious mood, Mayor Douglas C. Tomkies complained, "It's getting so that almost every other day is being proclaimed a special day of some sort."

He promptly put his foot down. From now on, he served notice, he won't issue any more proclamations "except in the most special and deserving circumstances."

Sportsmen's Dog Training Ground Ready For Use

200 Acres Available For Area Owners

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, June 16—Officers of the Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association report that many local dog owners are joining the association in order to avail themselves of the privilege of coursing the dogs on the 200 acre dog training area recently secured by the club.

The area, consisting of 160 acres of wooded land and 40 acres of brush land in Piney Woods at the rear of Beall High School, was posted with signs last week, stating that the area is set aside under special permit, provided by an act of the Maryland General Assembly of 1947 for the coursing of dogs. Entering the area for the purpose of hunting or disturbing game or permitting dogs to enter without proper authorization is punishable by a fine of $25 for each offense.

Former Mayor Fred B. Crowe, who secured the perimit for the area from the State Game Commission, states that the area will be available to members of the Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association, who must show their membership card and a state hunting license. This area is one of five authorized in each county of Maryland. Dogs may be trained on Sundays as well as week days.

The tract was visited Sunday by Regional Game Warden Joseph Minke, Crowe, Game Warden Joe Keating and Evan Lloyd, custodian of the area. They reported the section ideal for training dogs and reported that no one, excepting the owners of the property, would be permitted to enter for the purpose of cutting timber.

Brooklyn Cracks Losing Streak By Downing Cubs

Two Unearned Runs Give Bums Victory

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP)—Brooklyn cracked a five-game losing streak and elbowed Chicago out of a chance to tie Boston for the National League lead today with a thinly-sliced 2-1 victory over the Cubs on Rookie Harry Taylor's six-hit pitching.

Both the Dodger runs were unearned, coming as a result of errors by first baseman Ed Watikus in the second and fifth innings.

Chicago had scored first in the initial inning when Don Johnson doubled down the left field line and scored on Phil Cavaretta's single to center.

Chicago's Doyle Lade was in hot water in the second. Johnny Jorgensen beat out a bunt for a hit and went around to third on Pee Wee Reese's single on a hit-and-run play. Gil Hodges was called out on strikes and then Taylor tapped to Lade. Jorgensen was trapped on third and run down. Ed Stanky had a lift when Waitkus fumbled his grounder, loading the bases. Jackie Robinson walked, forcing in Reese with the tying run.

Long Hitters Hold Edge In PGA Match

DETROIT, June 16 (AP) — Sam Byrd, the former New York Yankee outfielder who is host pro at the National PGA Golf Championship opening here Wednesday at Plum Hollow Golf Club, is convinced the long hitters will bear the closest watching in the seven-day match play scramble over Plum Hollow's rolling, stretching fairways.

Lengthened by 117 yards for the championship, the tourney layout measures 6,907 yards with five par 5's and as many one-shotters in its par of 72, but there's nothing short about the one-shot holes, four of which are 197 yards or longer with one of them, the picturesque 12th, measuring 235.

"It's definitely a layout for the long hitters," Byrd declared, mentioning specifically slamming Sam Snead, runner-up to Lew Worsham in the National Open; Ben Hogan, the little 135-pound belter who is the defending PGA Champion, and Jimmy Demaret, the crooning Texan who currently is at the top of his game.

Officials said that more than half the field of 138 which plays the first round of its 36-hole qualifying test Wednesday already is on hand, coming here directly from the National Open in St. Louis.

Lew Worsham, the open king, is here fresh from his playoff triumph over Snead. So are Ed (Porky) Oliver and Bobby Locke, the South African, who prolonged his American stay to compete here. Oliver and Locke tied for third place in the open with 72-hole scores of 285.

Stadium Committee Seeks Federal Funds

BALTIMORE, June 16 (AP) — The Mayor's Stadium Committee turned to the Federal Government today in its search for funds to supplement the $2,500,000 the city has at its disposal for building a new bowl.

Committee Chairman Glenn L. Martin wrote to Maryland's Senators asking them to explore the possibility of obtaining federal aid for the proposed city-state memorial stadium.

Some time ago, the committee sought to enlist state aid for the project. It proposed a joint Baltimore-Maryland undertaking to erect the stadium as a "live" memorial to those Marylanders who died in World War II.

At the time, Governor Lane said there were no state funds available.

However, a sub-committee of the stadium group is scheduled to call on the governor shortly to discuss the matter formally.

First Methodist Stops Episcopal In Playoff Tilt

First Methodist extended its winning streak to 12 games by beating Episcopal 7 to 6 in Sunday School Softball league playoff contest yesterday at Allegany. In the other playoff game Grace Methodist took advantage of a weakened St. John's team to win 6 to 3 at Fort Hill.

Episcopal took an early lead in the first inning with Thom, Brooks and Tribut scoring. The winners came back in their half of the first when Shrout and Sisk crossed the plate. The Methodist, tied up the game in the third, forged ahead in the fourth but St. John's tallied three in the sixth to take the lead, 6-5. Sisk's single won the game for the league leaders, bringing in Livingood and Gardner. Sisk then tallied on a long fly.

Behind five hit pitching by Jimmy Eckhart, Grace Methodist scored one in the first, and three in the third and one each in the fourth and fifth innings. The losers got their three runs in the sixth.

George Davidson homered for Grace and Garry Moler tallied with a circuit smash with one on for the losers.

St. John's team was weakened by the loss of four players, regulars who were playing with Cumberland Junior Legion team.

Grace and First Methodist will meet tomorrow afternoon in the first of a three game series for the loop title.

French Stables Present Threat At Ascot Meet

By GLENN WILLIAMS

LONDON, June 16 (AP) — French turfmen, encouraged by the surprising victory of Baron Geoffrey de Waldner's Pearl Diver in the English derby, hope to dominate the four-day Ascot meeting, starting tomorrow, and make off with a good share of the 57,800 pounds ($231,200) in prize money.

With approximately 30 French horses quartered in the roomy Ascot stables, British race writers are preparing their followers for another series of foreign victories.

The British Press Association handicapper picked French horses to win four of the opening day's six races and chose two of them as the best coupling for the daily double.

Tudor Minstrel, hailed as Britain's "horse of the century" until he finished fourth with Jockey Gordon Richards in the Derby, was selected to win the last race of the day, the one-mile St. James Palace Stakes. There were no French horses entered in this event.

There was considerable advance "viewing with alarm." Some thought a French raid, making off with a big slice of the Ascot booty, might have a serious effect on the future of British racing.

Yugoslavia Wins

ZAGREB, June 16 (AP) — Yugoslavia today conquered South Africa, three matches to two, and advanced to the final round of the European Zone Davis Cup competition. The Yugoslavs will meet Czechoslovakia in an all-Slav, best-of-five series for the European title next month.

The winner of this series, which must be completed by July 15, will oppose the North American zone survivor for the right to challenge the cup-holding U. S. team. The European Zone finale likely will be held here.

Coaches Are Changed

NEW YORK (AP)—Following the Basketball Association of America's first session, there have been three coaching changes. Joe Lapchick, St. John's U. mentor for 11 years, has replaced Neil Cohalan as coach of the New York Knickerbockers, Pittsburgh released Paul Birch and the Providence Steamrollers accepted the resignation of Bob Morris.

McQuinn Stars In American League "Cinderella Story" Of The Year

Always Wanted To Play For Yankees

George McQuinn

The quiet, unassuming fellow from Arlington, Va., always wanted to play first base in the big New York Stadium but just about the time that Lou Gehrig was running down, McQuinn was drafted from the Yank farm system by the St. Louis Browns.

Although he played for the Brownies' first pennant winners and starred in the World Series, McQuinn never quite made the headlines. Finally the Browns shipped him to the A's for Dick Siebert and George thought of quitting. He changed his mind, played out the year in Philadelphia but was cut adrift at the end of the season.

McQuinn reported to the Yankee training camp at St. Petersburg this spring and worked himself into fine condition. Figuring he had to give him a chance, although Tommy Henrich then appeared to be the regular first baseman, Manager Bucky Harris started him in a ball game against the Cardinals.

The enthusiastic veteran collected four hits and he hasn't stopped yet. Batting second in the league at .348, McQuinn already has doubled his 1946 home run total. He collected his fifth and sixth yesterday as the Yanks won two from the Browns and took over first place.

Around first base, McQuinn is in a class of his own. He is the most graceful first sacker in the majors, digging low throws out of the dust or prancing in on the infield grass to start a difficult first-to-second-to-first double play. In the latest All-Star voting, he was way out front.

"I always wanted to play in New York," McQuinn says with a satisfied grin. "It's been a long time coming but it's wonderful to be here."

Calhoun To Compete

SALISBURY, Md., June 16 — Ed Calhoun, state skeet champion, said today he would compete in the Great Eastern Skeet Championship at Lordship, Conn., June 20-22.

He will compete against Dick Shaughnessy, Egypt, Mass., whom she outfired with a perfect 200 score last month during the North-South annual shoot at Washington, D. C.

Yankees Defeat White Sox 4-3

NEW YORK, June 16—(AP)—The New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-3 tonight, scoring the winning run in the ninth inning on a perfectly executed squeeze bunt by Phil Rizzuto which enabled Joe DiMaggio to cross the plate. A crowd of 52,633 saw the Yankees stretch their American League lead to a game and a half over the idle Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

A two-run triple by Tommy Henrich, which chased two Yankees over the plate in the eighth, sent the teams into the ninth deadlocked at 3-3. Joe DiMaggio opened the ninth with a double. George McQuinn was purposely passed. Bill Johnson sacrificed, whereupon Larry Berra drew another intentional pass, setting up the squeeze. Rizzuto's bunt toward first went for a hit as no play could be made.

Jack Wallaesa poled his fifth home run with the bases empty in the eighth.

Joe Haynes held the Yanks scoreless until the seventh when singles by Renrich and Lindell and DiMaggio's force out gave them their first tally. Earl Caldwell replaced Haynes after Henrich's triple and was charged with the defeat. Lefty Joe Page, who relieved Shea in the ninth was the winner.

Caseys Seek 10th Win In Game With Legion

The Knights of Columbus will be striving to keep their record unblemished when they play Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, today in a Rocking Chair Softball League game at Fort Hill.

Manager Jim Browning's tossers have won nine consecutive games.

The second place B. P. O. Elks will play Texcel at Campobello, The Loyal Order of Moose and Potomac Edison clash on the Rolling Mill diamond and the Jaycees oppose the Cumberland Outdoor Club at East Side in other league games on tap for today.

Slaughter Is Leading Hitter In Senior Loop

NEW YORK, June (AP)16.—With St. Louis Cardinals finally beginning to come into their own, it's only natural that Enos Slaughter, the Red Birds' left field, has taken over the National League batting lead with a .359 average.

Sidelined for a few days as a result of a home plate collision with Walker Cooper of the New York Giants, Slaughter has resumed his every day job and passed Harry Walker of Philadelphia who is hitting .356.

Other averages, based on games through Sunday, show Carl Furillo of Brooklyn, in third place with a .340 mark. Bert Haas of Cincinnati, continues at a consistent .333, good enough for fourth place, nine points ahead of Boston's Bob Elliott, fifth at .324.

Johnny Mize, Giants' slugging first sacker hit two homers during the week, upping his league-leading total to 17 which, incidentally, now is five behind Babe Ruth's record 1927 pace. Mize continues to lead with 51 runs scored and 46 runs batted in.

Frank Baumholz of Cincinnati clung to first place in the total hits classification with 69 and shares the doubles leadership with Del Ennis of Philadelphia. Each has hit 14 two-baggers. Walker Cooper, Bruce Edwards of Brooklyn and Slaughter are tied with four triples and Jackie Robinson's eight stolen bases for Brooklyn still is tops.

The strikeout race finds Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell out in front with 65 victims. Although Blackwell has a fine 9-2 won and lost record, the pitching leader is Schoolboy Rowe of Philadelphia who has won eight and lost one. Warren Spahn of Boston, is the first 10-game winner in the majors with his 10-2 season record.

Ted Williams Is Darling Of Fans

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP) — Ted Williams, the star of last year's All-Star baseball snow but a disappointment in the World Series, is still a darling of the fans.

The fans balloting to pick the starting lineups for this season's contest have installed the lanky Boston outfielder as the leading vote-getter of either league.

The latest tabulation of votes, William has been selected on 65,318 ballots, to replace Joe DiMaggio, of New York, as the individual leader. DiMaggio has received 63,104 votes.

The poll is being conducted by 193 newspapers, radio stations and magazines. Voting will end June 26.

Frostburg VFW Plays At Westvaco Saturday

The postponed game between Westvaco and the Frostburg V. F. W. will be played Saturday, June 21, at Memorial Park, Westernport, at 4 p. m., it was announced yesterday by Alexander "Pop" Nicol, president of the Bi-State Baseball League.

The game was scheduled last Saturday but was postponed on account of rain.

Two other postponed games will be played off this week. Westvaco and Hyndman will tangle Wednesday at 5:30 p. m. in Westernport while on Thursday the Cumberland Amvets will play Frostburg VFW in Frostburg at 5:30 o'clock.

Lou Boudreau Leads American League Hitters

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP) — Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's manager-shortstop, backed into the lead in the American League batting race this week.

In statistics through Sunday's games, Boudreau was hitting at a .350 pace—a drop of six points from the last mark that gave him a tie with Joe Di Maggio of New York for the lead last week. During this week, however, Di Maggio had slipped 23 points to fifth place.

George McQuinn, Yankee first baseman booted his mark 13 points to claim second place with a .348 average. Stan Spence of Washington held third place with .338 total, and George Kell of Detroit was fourth with .337.

Ted Williams of Boston replaced Charley Keller of New York as leading scorer with 41 runs. Keller retained leadership in the home run department with 13 and runs batted in with 36.

McQuinn was new leader in total hits, with 65, and Mullin continued to pace the double-hitters with 17. Paul Lehner of St. Louis, Dave Philley of Chicago, and Tommy Henrich of New York each had five triples.

In the pitching department, the Yankees' Freshman Frank Shea, was listed as top hurler with a 7-2 mark. Bobby Feller of Cleveland was unmatched with 87 strikeouts.

Condition Of Winn Reported "Very Good"

CHICAGO, June 16 — (AP) — The condition of Col. Matt J. Winn, veteran horse racing promoter, was reported "very good" today by attendants at St. Lukes Hospital.

Winn, 85, was taken to the hospital Friday night suffering from a cold and fever.

Boggs Wins Pro Sweepstakes At Catoctin Club

Local Pro Shoots 71 At Frederick

FREDERICK, Md., June 16 (AP)—George Diffenbaugh of the Kenwood Club, Bethesda, won a pro-amateur golf tourney sponsored by the Maryland State Golf Association at the Catoctin Club today with a score of 72, or two over par for 18 holes.

The pro sweepstakes was taken by Carroll Boggs of the Cumberland Country Club, who came in with a card of 71.

Fifty-three started the play, including 38 amateurs and 15 pros.

The low amateur entries included G. R. Borsari, who had a 64, net; Eddie Semler, 64, and R. J. Herford, 70, all of the Kenwood Club, who toured the course with Diffenbaugh.

Semler had the low gross for amateurs—a 73.

Andy Gibson, Country Club of Maryland, 73; Al Houghton, Prince George's Countr. Club, 75; Al Jamison, Quantico, Va., 75; Jimmy Flattery, Forest Park Country Club, 75; Walter Bogley, Prince George's Club, 75; Ralph Beach, Suburban Country Club, 75.

Irvin Schloss, Mt. Pleasant Club, 76; John Flattery, Green Spring Valley Hunt Club, 77; Bob Grove, Catoctin Club, 79; Carroll MacMaster, Woodholme Club, 80; and John Musser, Allview Club, Baltimore, no card.

Everything Happens To Pete Reiser

CHICAGO, June 16—(AP)—Everything happens to Pete Reiser.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' battered outfielder, who recently suffered a head concussion in a collision with an Ebetts Field wall, was standing in the outfield today during batting practice, minding his own business, when pitcher Clyde King caught a fly ball on the run, bounced into Carl Furillo and spun into Reiser.

Furillo, who saw King coming, was merely side-swiped. Reiser took the impact and went down badly shaken.

Trainer "Doc" Wendler said Reiser's pulse was normal. That didn't go for manager Burt Shotton whose Dodgers lost five straight with Pete out of the lineup.

Ten channel bass weighing from 25 to 40 pounds each were taken at Hatteras, N. C., recently, and surf fishing at Ocracoke, N. C., a party from Greensboro took 12 channel bass weighing between 20 and 40 pounds.

Brooklyn Cracks Losing Streak By Downing Cubs

Two Unearned Runs Give Bums Victory

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP)—Brooklyn cracked a five-game losing streak and elbowed Chicago out of a chance to tie Boston for the National League lead today with a thinly-sliced 2-1 victory over the Cubs on Rookie Harry Taylor's six-hit pitching.

Both the Dodger runs were unearned, coming as a result of errors by first baseman Ed Watikus in the second and fifth innings.

Chicago had scored first in the initial inning when Don Johnson doubled down the left field line and scored on Phil Cavaretta's single to center.

Chicago's Doyle Lade was in hot water in the second. Johnny Jorgensen beat out a bunt for a hit and went around to third on Pee Wee Reese's single on a hit-and-run play. Gil Hodges was called out on strikes and then Taylor tapped to Lade, Jorgensen was trapped on third and run down. Ed Stanky had a lift when Waitkus fumbled his grounder, loading the bases. Jackie Robinson walked, forcing in Reese with the tying run.

Long Hitters Hold Edge In PGA Match

DETROIT, June 16 (AP) — Sam Byrd, the former New York Yankee outfielder who is host pro at the National PGA Golf Championship opening here Wednesday at Plum Hollow Golf Club, is convinced the long hitters will bear the closest watching in the seven-day match play scramble over Plum Hollow's rolling, stretching fairways.

Lengthened by 117 yards for the championship, the tourney layout measures 6,907 yards with five par 5's and as many one-shotters in its par of 72, but there's nothing short about the one-shot holes, four of which are 197 yards or longer with one of them, the picturesque 12th, measuring 235.

"It's definitely a layout for the long hitters," Byrd declared, mentioning specifically slamming Sam Snead, runner-up to Lew Worsham in the National Open; Ben Hogan, the little 135-pound belter who is the defending PGA Champion, and Jimmy Demaret, the crooning Texan who currently is at the top of his game.

Officials said that more than half the field of 138 which plays the first round of its 36-hole qualifying test Wednesday already is on hand, coming here directly from the National Open in St. Louis.

Lew Worsham, the open king, is here fresh from his playoff triumph over Snead. So are Ed (Porky) Oliver and Bobby Locke, the South African, who prolonged his American stay to compete here. Oliver and Locke tied for third place in the open with 72-hole scores of 285.

Stadium Committee Seeks Federal Funds

BALTIMORE, June 16 (AP) — The Mayor's Stadium Committee turned to the Federal Government today in its search for funds to supplement the $2,500,000 the city has at its disposal for building a new bowl.

Committee Chairman Glenn L. Martin wrote to Maryland's Senators asking them to explore the possibility of obtaining federal aid for the proposed city-state memorial stadium.

Some time ago, the committee sought to enlist state aid for the project. It proposed a joint Baltimore-Maryland undertaking to erect the stadium as a "live" memorial to those Marylanders who died in World War II.

At the time, Governor Lane said there were no state funds available.

However, a sub-committee of the stadium group is scheduled to call on the governor shortly to discuss the matter formally.

First Methodist Stops Episcopal In Playoff Tilt

First Methodist extended its winning streak to 12 games by beating Episcopal 7 to 6 in Sunday School Softball league playoff contest yesterday at Allegany. In the other playoff game Grace Methodist took advantage of a weakened St. John's team to win 6 to 3 at Fort Hill.

Episcopal took an early lead in the first inning with Thom Brooks and Tribut scoring. The winners came back in their half of the first when Shrout and Sisk crossed the plate. The Methodist, tied up the game in the third, forged ahead in the fourth but St. John's tallied three in the sixth to take the lead, 6-5. Sisk's single won the game for the league leaders, bringing in Livingood and Gardner. Sisk then tallied on a long fly.

Behind five hit pitching by Jimmy Eckhart, Grace Methodist scored one in the first, and three in the third and one each in the fourth and fifth innings. The losers got their three runs in the sixth.

George Davidson homered for Grace and Garry Moler tallied with a circuit smash with one on for the losers.

St. John's team was weakened by the loss of four players, regulars who were playing with Cumberland Junior Legion team.

Grace and First Methodist will meet tomorrow afternoon in the first of a three game series for the loop title.

French Stables Present Threat At Ascot Meet

By GLENN WILLIAMS

LONDON, June 16 (AP) — French turfmen, encouraged by the surprising victory of Baron Geoffrey de Waldner's Pearl Diver in the English derby, hope to dominate the four-day Ascot meeting, starting tomorrow, and make off with a good share of the 57,800 pounds ($231,200) in prize money.

With approximately 30 French horses quartered in the roomy Ascot stables, British race writers are preparing their followers for another series of foreign victories.

The British Press Association handicapper picked French horses to win four of the opening day's six races and chose two of them as the best coupling for the daily double.

Tudor Minstrel, hailed as Britain's "horse of the century" until he finished fourth with Jockey Gordon Richards in the Derby, was selected to win the last race of the day, the one-mile St. James Palace Stakes. There were no French horses entered in this event.

There was considerable advance "viewing with alarm." Some thought a French raid, making off with a big slice of the Ascot booty, might have a serious effect on the future of British racing.

Yugoslavia Wins

ZAGREB, June 16 (AP) — Yugoslavia today conquered South Africa, three matches to two, and advanced to the final round of the European Zone Davis Cup competition. The Yugoslavs will meet Czechoslovakia in an all-Slav, best-of-five series for the European title next month.

The winner of this series, which must be completed by July 15, will oppose the North American zone survivor for the right to challenge the cup-holding U. S. team. The European Zone finale likely will be held here.

Coaches Are Changed

NEW YORK (AP)—Following the Basketball Association of America's first session, there have been three coaching changes. Joe Lapchick, St. John's U. mentor for 11 years, has replaced Neil Cohalan as coach of the New York Knickerbockers, Pittsburgh released Paul Birch and the Providence Steamrollers accepted the resignation of Bob Morris.

Coupling a victory at the expense of the Maccabee Club and the upset win of John Reed's over Lacy's, yesterday the Amvet entry in the City Softball League captured first place by a few percentage points.

Paced by Lou Riehl who garnered four hits in four times at the plate, the Amvets downed Maccabees 10 to 7 at Taylor Field. The new loop leaders won the game in the sixth by clubbing Tommy Cramblitt for five hits to produce five runs. Cramblitt held the batting honors for the losers with three hits, one of which was a homer.

In an extra inning contest, the surpising John Reed outfit topped the Lacy's 11 to 10, when Pete Elliott's single scored Hixenbaugh in the eighth. Elliott and Johnson were top men at the batter's box for the winners with three apiece. Two of Johnson's safeties were two baggers.

The V. F. W. crew downed Astor Cab at Rolling Mill field by a 11-4 score. Lewis, Vets left fielder, hit a home run in the fourth inning with the bases loaded to put the winners into lead. Jim Gaffney smashed a circuit blow for the losers with one on in the first inning.

At Stitcher Field, Concord Clothiers were stopped by North End by a 6 to 5 tally. Widdows won the game for the North End Club with a single in the last of the fifth scoring Rice and Keinofer. Wheeler, Concord second baseman had a home run for the losers.

McQuinn Stars In American League "Cinderella Story" Of The Year

Always Wanted To Play For Yankees

George McQuinn

The quiet, unassuming fellow from Arlington, Va., always wanted to play first base in the big New York Stadium but just about the time that Lou Gehrig was running down, McQuinn was drafted from the Yank farm system by the St. Louis Browns.

Although he played for the Brownies' first pennant winners and starred in the World Series, McQuinn never quite made the headlines. Finally the Browns shipped him to the A's for Dick Siebert and George thought of quitting. He changed his mind, played out the year in Philadelphia but was cut adrift at the end of the season.

McQuinn reported to the Yankee training camp at St. Petersburg this spring and worked himself into fine condition. Figuring he had to give him a chance, although Tommy Henrich then appeared to be the regular first baseman, Manager Bucky Harris started him in a ball game against the Cardinals.

The enthusiastic veteran collected four hits and he hasn't stopped yet. Batting second in the league at .348, McQuinn already has doubled his 1946 home run total. He collected his fifth and sixth yesterday as the Yanks won two from the Browns and took over first place.

Around first base, McQuinn is in a class of his own. He is the most graceful first sacker in the majors, digging low throws out of the dust or prancing in on the infield grass to start a difficult first-to-second-to-first double play. In the latest All-Star voting, he was way out front.

"I always wanted to play in New York," McQuinn says with a satisfied grin. "It's been a long time coming but it's wonderful to be here."

Calhoun To Compete

SALISBURY, Md., June 16 — Ed Calhoun, state skeet champion, said today he would compete in the Great Eastern Skeet Championship at Lordship, Conn., June 20-22.

He will compete against Dick Shaughnessy, Egypt, Mass., whom she outfired with a perfect 200 score last month during the North-South annual shoot at Washington, D. C.

Yankees Defeat White Sox 4-3

NEW YORK, June 16—(AP)—The New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-3 tonight, scoring the winning run in the ninth inning on a perfectly executed squeeze bunt by Phil Rizzuto which enabled Joe DiMaggio to cross the plate. A crowd of 52,633 saw the Yankees stretch their American League lead to a game and a half over the idle Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

A two-run triple by Tommy Henrich, which chased two Yankees over the plate in the eighth, sent the teams into the ninth deadlocked at 3-3. Joe DiMaggio opened the ninth with a double. George McQuinn was purposely passed. Bill Johnson sacrificed, whereupon Larry Berra drew another intentional pass, setting up the squeeze. Rizzuto's bunt toward first went for a hit as no play could be made.

Jack Wallaesa poled his fifth home run with the bases empty in the eighth.

Joe Haynes held the Yanks scoreless until the seventh when singles by Renrich and Lindell and DiMaggio's force out gave them their first tally. Earl Caldwell replaced Haynes after Henrich's triple and was charged with the defeat. Lefty Joe Page, who relieved Shea in the ninth was the winner.

Caseys Seek 10th Win In Game With Legion

The Knights of Columbus will be striving to keep their record unblemished when they play Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, today in a Rocking Chair Softball League game at Fort Hill.

Manager Jim Browning's tossers have won nine consecutive games.

The second place B. P. O. Elks will play Texcel at Campobello. The Loyal Order of Moose and Potomac Edison clash on the Rolling Mill diamond and the Jaycees oppose the Cumberland Outdoor Club at East Side in other league games on tap for today.

Slaughter Is Leading Hitter In Senior Loop

NEW YORK, June (AP)16.—With St. Louis Cardinals finally beginning to come into their own, it's only natural that Enos Slaughter, the Red Birds' left field, has taken over the National League batting lead with a .359 average.

Sidelined for a few days as a result of a home plate collision with Walker Cooper of the New York Giants, Slaughter has resumed his every day job and passed Harry Walker of Philadelphia who is hitting .356.

Other averages, based on games through Sunday, show Carl Furillo of Brooklyn, in third place with a .340 mark. Bert Haas of Cincinnati, continues at a consistent .333, good enough for fourth place, nine points ahead of Boston's Bob Elliott, fifth at .324.

Johnny Mize, Giants' slugging first sacker hit two homers during the week, upping his league-leading total to 17 which, incidentally, now is five behind Babe Ruth's record 1927 pace. Mize continues to lead with 51 runs scored and 46 runs batted in.

Frank Baumholz of Cincinnati clung to first place in the total hits classification with 69 and shares the doubles leadership with Del Ennis of Philadelphia. Each has hit 14 two-baggers. Walker Cooper, Bruce Edwards of Brooklyn and Slaughter are tied with four triples and Jackie Robinson's eight stolen bases for Brooklyn still is tops.

The strikeout race finds Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell out in front with 65 victims. Although Blackwell has a fine 9-2 won and lost record, the pitching leader is Schoolboy Rowe of Philadelphia who has won eight and lost one. Warren Spahn of Boston, is the first 10-game winner in the majors with his 10-2 season record.

Ted Williams Is Darling Of Fans

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP) — Ted Williams, the star of last year's All-Star baseball show but a disappointment in the World Series, is still a darling of the fans.

The fans balloting to pick the starting lineups for this season's contest have installed the lanky Boston outfielder as the leading vote-getter of either league.

The latest tabulation of votes, William has been selected on 65,318 ballots, to replace Joe DiMaggio, of New York, as the individual leader. DiMaggio has received 63,104 votes.

The poll is being conducted by 193 newspapers, radio stations and magazines. Voting will end June 26.

Frostburg VFW Plays At Westvaco Saturday

The postponed game between Westvaco and the Frostburg V. F. W. will be played Saturday, June 21, at Memorial Park, Westernport, at 4 p. m., it was announced yesterday by Alexander "Pop" Nicol, president of the Bi-State Baseball League.

The game was scheduled last Saturday but was postponed on account of rain.

Two other postponed games will be played off this week. Westvaco and Hyndman will tangle Wednesday at 5:30 p. m. in Westernport while on Thursday the Cumberland Amvets will play Frostburg VFW in Frostburg at 5:30 o'clock.

Lou Boudreau Leads American League Hitters

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP) — Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's manager-shortstop, backed into the lead in the American League batting race this week.

In statistics through Sunday's games, Boudreau was hitting at a .350 pace—a drop of six points from the last mark that gave him a tie with Joe Di Maggio of New York for the lead last week. During this week, however, Di Maggio had slipped 23 points to fifth place.

George McQuinn, Yankee first baseman booted his mark 13 points to claim second place with a .348 average. Stan Spence of Washington held third place with .338 total, and George Kell of Detroit was fourth with .337.

Ted Williams of Boston replaced Charley Keller of New York as leading scorer with 41 runs. Keller retained leadership in the home run department with 13 and runs batted in with 36.

McQuinn was new leader in total hits, with 65, and Mullin continued to pace the double-hitters with 17. Paul Lehner of St. Louis, Dave Philley of Chicago, and Tommy Henrich of New York each had five triples.

In the pitching department, the Yankees' Freshman Frank Shea, was listed as top hurler with a 7-2 mark. Bobby Feller of Cleveland was unmatched with 87 strikeouts.

Condition Of Winn Reported "Very Good"

CHICAGO, June 16 — (AP) — The condition of Col. Matt J. Winn, veteran horse racing promoter, was reported "very good" today by attendants at St. Lukes Hospital.

Winn, 85, was taken to the hospital Friday night suffering from a cold and fever.

Boggs Wins Pro Sweepstakes At Catoctin Club

Local Pro Shoots 71 At Frederick

FREDERICK, Md., June 16 (AP)—George Diffenbaugh of the Kenwood Club, Bethesda, won a pro-amateur golf tourney sponsored by the Maryland State Golf Association at the Catoctin Club today with a score of 72, or two over par for 18 holes.

The pro sweepstakes was taken by Carroll Boggs of the Cumberland Country Club, who came in with a card of 71.

Fifty-three started the play, including 38 amateurs and 15 pros.

The low amateur entries included G. R. Borsari, who had a 64, net; Eddie Semler, 64, and R. J. Herford, 70, all of the Kenwood Club, who toured the course with Diffenbaugh.

Semler had the low gross for amateurs—a 73.

Andy Gibson, Country Club of Maryland, 73; Al Houghton, Prince George's Countr Club, 75; Al Jamison, Quantico, Va., 75; Jimmy Flattery, Forest Park Country Club, 75; Walter Bogley, Prince George's Club, 75; Ralph Beach, Suburban Country Club, 75.

Irvin Schloss, Mt. Pleasant Club, 76; John Flattery, Green Spring Valley Hunt Club, 77; Bob Grove, Catoctin Club, 79; Carroll MacMaster, Woodholme Club, 80; and John Musser, Allview Club, Baltimore, no card.

Everything Happens To Pete Reiser

CHICAGO, June 16—(AP)—Everything happens to Pete Reiser.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' battered outfielder, who recently suffered a head concussion in a collision with an Ebetts Field wall, was standing in the outfield today during batting practice, minding his own business, when pitcher Clyde King caught a fly ball on the run, bounced into Carl Furillo and spun into Reiser.

Furillo, who saw King coming, was merely side-swiped. Reiser took the impact and went down badly shaken.

Trainer "Doc" Wendler said Reiser's pulse was normal. That didn't go for manager Burt Shotton whose Dodgers lost five straight with Pete out of the lineup.

Ten channel bass weighing from 25 to 40 pounds each were taken at Hatteras, N. C., recently, and surf fishing at Ocracoke, N. C., a party from Greensboro took 12 channel bass weighing between 20 and 40 pounds.

The Fight of the Year

Whatever happens, one way or another, the ring party of the year will take place in Chicago, in July, with Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano at the head of the receiving line.

These two gave the big party of 1946, last summer in New York. They turned in one of the greatest ring shows of all time and you can turn the clock back to Abel and Cain or David and Goliath.

Tony Zale

Few appreciate the number of great fighters who have figured in past middleweight championships. The list is one of the most brilliant in boxing history. It includes Jack Dempsey, The Nonpareil, from 1883 to 1895. After that we find such names as Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Ryan, Kid McCoy, Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Stanley Ketchel, Billy Papke, Frank Klaus, Harry Greb, Tiger Flowers, and Mickey Walker.

Here you find many of the three-starred names of ring history. These men have written chapters that will never be forgotten by those who follow the leather throwers. Dempsey — Fitzsimmons — McCoy — Ketchel — Greb — Mickey Walker; slip us six greater names from the roped-in sector of sport.

No one can yet class Tony Zale or Rockey Graziano with the six leaders we have named. We doubt that either belongs with these six masters, although Jack Dempsey, the Nonpariel, is well beyond our day and time. But the old-timers of other years have told us he belongs around the top. Certainly no one can argue the worth of Fitzsimmons, McCoy, Ketchel, Greb and Walker. They could also handle heavyweights, especially Ruby Robert, one of the great fighters of all time, a boxer and terrific puncher with middleweight legs and a heavyweight body, still a great fighter at the age of 45.

We doubt very much that Tony Zale or Rocky Graziano would have any great amount of luck against those mentioned above. But the two, Zale and Graziano, are a big improvement over those who have come along since the Toy Bulldog, meaning Mickey Walker, traded his boxing gloves for an artist's brush.

Zale and Graziano proved this part of the argument in a meeting that had even more action than the stars of the past ever turned in. Melodrama may not mean skill or class. But it happens to be something the public likes to see, when it is ably handled.

Zale And Graziano

In 1939, the middleweight stew included a weird mixture under the names of Solly Kreiger, Al Hostak and Ceferino Garcia. They were merely fillers in.

In 1940, Tony Zale arrived as the N.B.A. crown holder. Tony has been wearing the middleweight crown ever since, including a long war lapse from 1941 up through 1945.

While Zale was in war service a young, hard punching rough neck by the name of Graziano came along like a Midwestern tornado. Graziano was blessed with one great ring asset. He could punch. He was never any too smart and he was never much of a boxer. He was never particular about observing any rules, as he proved in his meeting with Marty Servo, whom he fouled and almost wrecked.

In a way Rocky Graziano was something a softened-up ring needed. He was rough, tough, a braggart, but after all a fighter and a puncher. He was also a crowd pleaser and a valuable entry at the gate.

Rocky had built up a bigger part of his reputation at wrecking opponents who were badly outweighed. He wasn't so hot when it came to a matter of pound for pound.

In his meeting with Tony Zale the challenger did about everything, except remove Zale's headpiece. When I saw Rocky nail Zale with a full right to the jaw, saw Tony go through the bottom rope, apparently bleeding at every open pore around the head in one of the early rounds, the fight seemed to be over.

But Zale got up and kept coming on. The defending champion continued to take a terrific beating. His eyes seemed glazed and his knees were wobbling. Here was about as game an exhibition as anyone had ever seen in the ring.

Zale was dazed and dizzy. He had taken the heaviest artillery, Graziano could throw. And then suddenly, after a body attack, it was Graziano who crumpled, to the floor and took the count.

This closed out one of the most dramatic meetings the ring has ever seen, looking back to the days of Jem Mace or John Lawrence Sullivan.

Tony Zale, a first-class boxer, surprised one by his inability to keep his chin and features away from Rocky's right hand. But Zale surprised one even more by his unbelievable ability to soak up all this punishment and still have enough left for a body knockout.

Nothing to credit away from Zale, there are many still wondering about Graziano's apparent weakness in the pit, meaning the stomach. Zale is a first-class body puncher but he couldn't have too much zip left when he put Rocky away.

No one could question the ring courage of the original Jack Dempsey—Bob Fitzsimmons—Kid McCoy—Stanley Ketchel—Harry Greb or Mickey Walker. They were all dead game to the final spin. But none of these ever carried a stouter heart than Tony Zale, who came back from closer to oblivion than any of the others ever had to do. The difference between Zale and Graziano is what Dan McGugin, one of football's greatest coaches, used to call "intestinal fortitude."

Aussie Tennis Star Quits London Meet

LONDON, June 16. (AP) — John Bromwich, Australia's No. 1 net star, withdrew without explanation from the singles of the London Grass Courts tennis championships late today, three hours after beating India's Ghaus Mohammed, 6-1, 6-3, in first round play.

Colin Long, primarily a doubles player, was the only Australian left in the singles.

Bromwich, Pails and Brown are all competing in the doubles along with Jack Kramer, American No. 1 and favorite to win the singles crown in the Wimbledon Championships beginning next week. Kramer is not competing in the London singles.

Bromwich, favored to win the London singles title, took little time to beat Mohammed. He was in the tougher top half of the draw with Bob Falkenburg of the United States and I. Tloczynski of Poland as his chief rivals.

Falkenburg, serving with the dynamite of Ellsworth Vines, defeated W. Skonecki of Poland, 6-3, 6-0.

The Fight of the Year

Whatever happens, one way or another, the ring party of the year will take place in Chicago, in July, with Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano at the head of the receiving line.

These two gave the big party of 1946, last summer in New York. They turned in one of the greatest ring shows of all time and you can turn the clock back to Abel and Cain or David and Goliath.

Tony Zale

Few appreciate the number of great fighters who have figured in past middleweight championships. The list is one of the most brilliant in boxing history. It includes Jack Dempsey, The Nonpareil, from 1883 to 1895. After that we find such names as Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Ryan, Kid McCoy, Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Stanley Ketchel, Billy Papke, Frank Klaus, Harry Greb, Tiger Flowers, and Mickey Walker.

Here you find many of the three-starred names of ring history. These men have written chapters that will never be forgotten by those who follow the leather throwers. Dempsey—Fitzsimmons—McCoy—Ketchel—Greb—Mickey Walker; slip us six greater names from the roped-in sector of sport.

No one can yet class Tony Zale or Rockey Graziano with the six leaders we have named. We doubt that either belongs with these six masters, although Jack Dempsey, the Nonpariel, is well beyond our day and time. But the old-timers of other years have told us he belongs around the top. Certainly no one can argue the worth of Fitzsimmons, McCoy, Ketchel, Greb and Walker. They could also handle heavyweights, especially Ruby Robert, one of the great fighters of all time, a boxer and terrific puncher with middleweight legs and a heavyweight body, still a great fighter at the age of 45.

We doubt very much that Tony Zale or Rocky Graziano would have any great amount of luck against those mentioned above. But the two, Zale and Graziano, are a big improvement over those who have come along since the Toy Bulldog, meaning Mickey Walker, traded his boxing gloves for an artist's brush.

Zale and Graziano proved this part of the argument in a meeting that had even more action than the stars of the past ever turned in. Melodrama may not mean skill or class. But it happens to be something the public likes to see, when it is ably handled.

Zale And Graziano

In 1939, the middleweight stew included a weird mixture under the names of Solly Kreiger, Al Hostak and Ceferino Garcia. They were merely fillers in.

In 1940, Tony Zale arrived as the N.B.A. crown holder. Tony has been wearing the middleweight crown ever since, including a long war lapse from 1941 up through 1945.

While Zale was in war service a young, hard punching rough neck by the name of Graziano came along like a Midwestern tornado. Graziano was blessed with one great ring asset. He could punch. He was never any too smart and he was never much of a boxer. He was never particular about observing any rules, as he proved in his meeting with Marty Servo, whom he fouled and almost wrecked.

In a way Rocky Graziano was something a softened-up ring needed. He was rough, tough, a braggart, but after all a fighter and a puncher. He was also a crowd pleaser and a valuable entry at the gate.

Rocky had built up a bigger part of his reputation at wrecking opponents who were badly outweighed. He wasn't so hot when it came to a matter of pound for pound.

In his meeting with Tony Zale the challenger did about everything, except remove Zale's headpiece. When I saw Rocky nail Zale with a full right to the jaw, saw Tony go through the bottom rope, apparently bleeding at every open pore around the head in one of the early rounds, the fight seemed to be over.

But Zale got up and kept coming on. The defending champion continued to take a terrific beating. His eyes seemed glazed and his knees were wobbling. Here was about as game an exhibition as anyone had ever seen in the ring.

Zale was dazed and dizzy. He had taken the heaviest artillery, Graziano could throw. And then suddenly, after a body attack, it was Graziano who crumpled, to the floor and took the count.

This closed out one of the most dramatic meetings the ring has ever seen, looking back to the days of Jem Mace or John Lawrence Sullivan.

Tony Zale, a first-class boxer, surprised one by his inability to keep his chin and features away from Rocky's right hand. But Zale surprised one even more by his unbelievable ability to soak up all this punishment and still have enough left for a body knockout.

Taking no credit away from Zale, there are many still wondering about Graziano's apparent weakness in the pit, meaning the stomach. Zale is a first-class body puncher but he couldn't have too much zip left when he put Rocky away.

No one could question the ring courage of the original Jack Dempsey—Bob Fitzsimmons—Kid McCoy—Stanley Ketchel—Harry Greb or Mickey Walker. They were all dead game to the final spin. But none of these ever carried a stouter heart than Tony Zale, who came back from closer to oblivion than any of the others ever had to do. The difference between Zale and Graziano is what Dan McGugin, one of football's greatest coaches, used to call "intestinal fortitude."

Aussie Tennis Star Quits London Meet

LONDON, June 16. (AP) — John Bromwich, Australia's No. 1 net star, withdrew without explanation from the singles of the London Grass Courts tennis championships late today, three nours after beating India's Ghaus Mohammed, 6-1, 6-3, in first round play.

Colin Long, primarily a doubles player, was the only Australian left in the singles.

Bromwich, Pails and Brown are all competing in the doubles along with Jack Kramer, American No. 1 and favorite to win the singles crown in the Wimbledon Championships beginning next week. Kramer is not competing in the London singles.

Bromwich, favored to win the London singles title, took little time to beat Mohammed. He was in the tougher top half of the draw with Bob Falkenburg of the United States and I. Tloczynski of Poland as his chief rivals.

Falkenburg, serving with the dynamite of Ellsworth Vines, defeated W. Skonecki of Poland, 6-3, 6-0.

River Group Seeks Money From State

The State of Maryland owes $1,500 to the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, which is taking steps to eliminate pollution from area streams, and George P. Hazelwood, city, one of Maryland's three commission members, has appealed to Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., to clean up the debt.

In a letter to Hazelwood, Gov. Lane states he has referred the problem to state budget officials.

Maryland's deficiency in appropriations to the commission — described as a "definite obligation" — was reported to have come about by a mistake in the preparation of the state's 1944-1945 biennial budget.

Edwin R. Cotton, engineer secretary of the Potomac River Commission, explained that the commission's requests totaling $6,000 for those years had not been included in the budget, but that Governor O'Conor subsequently had given assurances that the money would be supplied from the State appropriation available for commissions.

Payments totaling $4,500 were made at various times, Mr. Cotton said, but the remaining $1,500 still has not been received.

Contributions for commission expenditures are made by the District of Columbia and the four states which comprise its membership on the basis of population, land area in the river basin, pollution of the streams and other factors.

Maryland's contribution at 25 per cent is second highest. The District of Columbia pays 30 per cent, Virginia 20 per cent, West Virginia 15 per cent and Pennsylvania 10 per cent.

Two Men Forfeit Bonds In Magistrates' Court

A Wellersburg man, John E. Sturtz, forfeited two bonds of $11.45 each on reckless driving charges and for operating an automobile without a license in Trial Magistrates' Court yesterday.

Sturtz was arrested Sunday morning by City Police officers P. M. Crabtree and C. D. Manges, on Frederick Street.

Dewey M. Thompson, Route 1, Flintstone, forfeited a $11.45 bond on reckless driving charges preferred by Trooper T. F. Snyder. Thompson was arrested on Route 40 at Pleasant Grove, Saturday.

Harry W. Poling, this city, was fined $14.60 by Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell in Ridgeley on a charge of failing to keep to the right on a curve on Route 28. He was arrested by Trooper R. R. Karrickhoff of the West Virginia State Poyice.

Foresters Use New Fire-Fighting Chemical

A new chemical, designed to mix with water for use in fighting fire, is now being used by the State Department of Forests and Parks, according to H. C. Buckingham, acting state forester.

The chemical, according to Buckingham, which was tested successfully at New Germany, "makes water wetter," and gives a greater "holding" and "penetrating" body to water. The same amount of water will go three times as far, the forester explained.

Decision Postponed On Service Lines

A decision on how to handle sewer and water problems for property adjacent to but outside the city limits was postponed for one week yesterday by the Mayor and Council.

Several weeks ago William P. Roeder, who is developing a section on Wills Mountain, applied for sewer and water taps. Part of the land lies in the city and part outsdie.

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer said that he and Commissioner William J. Edwards recommend that a water tap be allowed with a connection to a master meter. Rizer said Roeder has agreed to install and take care of the maintenance of a pump, which will be necessary to provide water in some locations.

Rizer said in some instances the city has allowed sewer connections outside the city limits for double the usual tappage fee, adding that on the basis of new rates the charge would be $75.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said he opposed granting a sewer connection outside the city for just a tappage fee, maintaining that a yearly rental should be charged.

River Group Seeks Money From State

The State of Maryland owes $1,500 to the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin, which is taking steps to eliminate pollution from area streams, and George P. Hazelwood, city, one of Maryland's three commission members, has appealed to Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., to clean up the debt.

In a letter to Hazelwood, Gov. Lane states he has referred the problem to state budget officials.

Maryland's deficiency in appropriations to the commission — described as a "definite obligation" — was reported to have come about by a mistake in the preparation of the state's 1944-1945 biennial budget.

Edwin R. Cotton, engineer secretary of the Potomac River Commission, explained that the commission's requests totaling $6,000 for those years had not been included in the budget, but that Governor O'Conor subsequently had given assurances that the money would be supplied from the State appropriation available for commissions.

Payments totaling $4,500 were made at various times, Mr. Cotton said, but the remaining $1,500 still has not been received.

Contributions for commission expenditures are made by the District of Columbia and the four states which comprise its membership on the basis of population, land area in the river basin, pollution of the streams and other factors.

Maryland's contribution at 25 per cent is second highest. The District of Columbia pays 30 per cent, Virginia 20 per cent, West Virginia 15 per cent and Pennsylvania 10 per cent.

Two Men Forfeit Bonds In Magistrates' Court

A Wellersburg man, John E. Sturtz, forfeited two bonds of $11.45 each on reckless driving charges and for operating an automobile without a license in Trial Magistrates' Court yesterday.

Sturtz was arrested Sunday morning by City Police officers P. M. Crabtree and C. D. Manges, on Frederick Street.

Dewey M. Thompson, Route 1, Flintstone, forfeited a $11.45 bond on reckless driving charges preferred by Trooper T. F. Snyder. Thompson was arrested on Route 40 at Pleasant Grove, Saturday.

Harry W. Poling, this city, was fined $14.60 by Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell in Ridgeley on a charge of failing to keep to the right on a curve on Route 28. He was arrested by Trooper R. R. Karrickhoff of the West Virginia State Poyice.

Foresters Use New Fire-Fighting Chemical

A new chemical, designed to mix with water for use in fighting fire, is now being used by the State Department of Forests and Parks, according to H. C. Buckingham, acting state forester.

The chemical, according to Buckingham, which was tested successfully at New Germany, "makes water wetter," and gives a greater "holding" and "penetrating" body to water. The same amount of water will go three times as far, the forester explained.

Decision Postponed On Service Lines

A decision on how to handle sewer and water problems for property adjacent to but outside the city limits was postponed for one week yesterday by the Mayor and Council.

Several weeks ago William P. Roeder, who is developing a section on Wills Mountain, applied for sewer and water taps. Part of the land lies in the city and part outsdie.

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer said that he and Commissioner William J. Edwards recommend that a water tap be allowed with a connection to a master meter. Rizer said Roeder has agreed to install and take care of the maintenance of a pump which will be necessary to provide water in some locations.

Rizer said in some instances the city has allowed sewer connections outside the city limits for double the usual tappage fee, adding that on the basis of new rates the charge would be $75.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said he opposed granting a sewer connection outside the city for just a tappage fee, maintaining that a yearly rental should be charged.

Last reports from the hoof and mouth disease quarantine area in Mexico show the slaughter of 18,000 animals, of which half were cattle and the remainder sheep, goats, and hogs. Slaughter will be stepped up to 1,000 animals a day and equipment becomes available for disposal of the carcasses.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

I've got an idea for one of your little pieces," announced Major Timothy Morgan. "It's yours for a slight consideration."

Billy Rose

"Sorry," I said. "My right arm is not detachable. Try some other columnist. Maybe Eleanor Roosevelt."

The sigh of the self-commissioned Major filled the room with Essence de Bourbon. "I have no designs on your right arm," he pouted. "This transaction involves but a five-pound note. And to think, only yesterday I nearly brought off a $40,000 deal."

"Take it easy, Morgan," I said. "Your name is Timothy, not J. Pierpont."

"By the beard of the prophet," boomed the mountebank. "I was involved in a $40,000 project yesterday. Out at Jamaica. My seven-horse parlay was like money in the bank, until a thieving jockey pulled my horse in the first race, and wiped out my two-dollar investment."

"Things are tough all over," I consoled. "Now what's this notion you have for a column?"

"It's a true story," said the Major, emptying a packet of Sen-Sen on his tongue. "It's the tale of how I got the scar behind my left ear. You've noticed it, no doubt."

"Yes," I said. "But I always thought that was where the bearded lady had kicked you."

"Ah, memories that bless and burn," mused Morgan. "But that's not how I got this scar. This little memento was left there by a Graflex camera. One of the few scars of its kind in existence. I got it twenty years back when I was working on a newspaper."

"You on a newspaper!" I hollered. "What were you doing — posing for Major Hoople cartoons?"

"A little respect for a Union typesetter, if you don't mind," chided Timothy. "I used to roam around the country, setting type, before I took up my present vocation."

"Which is what?" I demanded.

I guess the Major didn't hear me. "I was doing a little hitch on a Midwestern daily," he went on. "In addition to the salary, I made a little extra because some of the boys fancied themselves pretty fair at draw poker. I might still be living there, if it hadn't been for Ethel."

"Why, Major!" I said.

"This was 20 years ago," said Morgan, hastily. "I was much thinner then. Ethel was a waitress—and as well-stacked as the wheatcakes she used to set before me. Our romance had the great drama of the Montagues and the Capulets—only in this case it was I who was opposed to the marriage. It was a doleful day when she threw me over and married the staff photographer on the gazette for which I was setting type. Curse, I never let this lensman know of my affectionate regard for Ethel."

"Good background stuff, Timothy," I remarked. "But when does the story get started?"

"A few months later," said the confidence man. "A bunch of nature lovers set up a nudist camp in the woods back of town. Strange people. They ate dandelions and wrote letters to the paper telling how good it felt to go barefoot all over. The editor decided a few good pictures, plus a stern editorial, would be a cinch to sell out the edition.

"He sent for the staff photographer and told him to join the colony for a week. And, of course, sneak in his click-box.

"The photographer took his wife, Ethel, along on this assignment. Figured it would be easier to crash the colony that way.

"When he got back to the office a week later, the whole staff knocked off and waited for him to develop the film. When he came up from the darkroom in the basement, we all clustered around to look at the pictures. The first half dozen photos were quite disappointing. Not a good-looking gal in the lot. And then he showed us an artistic shot of a buxom lady looking at a sunset. I couldn't help noticing the birthmark on the small of her back. 'Jumping Pehosophat!' I exclaimed. 'That's Ethel!'

"The photographer considered my outburst for a moment. Then he stopped considering and hit me with his Graflex camera. And that's the story of the scar behind the left ear. Is it worth twenty small dollars, deductible on the income tax?"

"Here's the twenty," I said, "but I can't use the story. It's much too racy for my family circulation.'

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

A Russian Objection

Alexander Fortushenko, Soviet Deputy Minister of Communications, voiced his first but probably not his last objection in the first few minutes of the Telecommunications Conference at Atlantic City. Mr. Fortushenko strongly opposed the mention of Marconi in the minutes of the meeting, asserting that the invention of radio was wrongly attributed to Marconi. The real inventor, he said, was Alexander Popov of Russia.

John Crosby

That's a fairly large claim and I have grave doubts that Italy will be willing to cede the credit for the invention of radio to the Russians. However, as a gesture of international amity, I suggest we turn over all claims to a few of our own more notable inventions—if the Russians want inventions. We might pass on to Mr. Popov the invention of that fountain pen that writes under water, for instance, and throw in all those jokes that were written under water with it. That, I think, is as far as we ought to go. If the Russians try to grab the credit for the telephone from Don Ameche, that, sir means war!

Now and then a press release floats in that stimulates a certain amount of thought. Here's one about "David Harding, Counterspy." The name Harding, says this press release, was selected to arouse a certain mental picture. Harding evokes in the mind of Phillips H. Lord, the producer, a picture of a clean-cut, masculine American who came to Washington from the Mid-West to make good, the sort of man who keeps himself in trim by constant workouts in his favorite gymnasium.

Well, I don't know about Mr. Lord's mental reactions but they certainly differ from mine. The name Harding brings up an entirely different mental picture. It suggests, to be specific, a white mane, pouches under the eyes and Harry Daugherty. It suggests a smoke-filled room and midnight poker parties but it certainly doesn't bring up any picture of a gymnasium and clean-out. I'm sure, is not the word. Incidentally, Harding, if you're looking for something to investigate, how about Teapot Dome? There's a subject worthy of counterspy.

As a footnote to the comment on the Fitzgerald breakfast program last week, it might be pointed out that many of the Fitz Gees' fans are of such intense loyalty that they rush out to buy anything and everything they advertise—and they advertise a great many products. A lady phoned in to inform me that her sister who is one of these devoted fans, hurried right out to buy Louis Sherry ice cream when that product was advertised by the Fitz Gees. "And you know," said the lady sadly, "it's so expensive they don't really enjoy it." It's fortunate the Fitzgeralds don't have the Cadillac account.

Two of the most popular records on the disc jockey show at San Quentin prison are "Time on My Hands" and "They Didn't Believe Me."

Princeton Grads To Hear Truman Tuesday Morning

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 16—President Truman is to broadcast again Tuesday. It will be his address at the Princeton University bicentennial graduation coincident with his receipt of an honorary degree of doctor of laws Transmission has been listed by NBC and MBS as well as ABC, which will carry to its full network at the same standard time, 11:30 a. m., rather than include it in usual duplicated relay on both standard and daylight.

Two summer shows make their appearance on NBC. At 6 p. m. in the supper club Frankie Carle's band takes over the Tuesday and Thursday sections . . . At 9 comes a detective mystery as the summer series in Bob Hope's time. It will be the adventures of Philip Marlowe, as played by Van Heflin.

Songs of Canada, running for the hour at 9 on MBS, will consist of a special concert supplied by the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra as a tribute to the neighbor to the north. Henry Weber will conduct.

Studio One is to turn to a detective comedy for its CBS at 8:30. It will be Eliot Paul's "Mysterious Mickey Finn," using Anne Burr and Everett Sloane in the principal roles.

Because of the Canada concert, American Forum will reduce to 30 minutes on MBS at 8:30. Question is "Do we need universal military training?"

When the Boston pops concert comes to ABC again at 8:30 there will be Bernhard Weiser as the piano soloist.

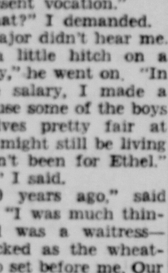
KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, June 13—In spite of their assorted troubles, and I mean troubles, Laraine Day and Leo Durocher were at Joan Fontaine's party looking very happy. Laraine is past the threat of a nervous breakdown that made her a very sick girl for awhile and she and Leo were talking about their vacation to the Grand Canyon with much animation.



Leo Durocher

When they return, Laraine goes to Sam Coslow at United Artists for "Champagne For Everybody," an unproduced play by Max Leif and Lazlo Fadnay. Guess what? She'll play a belle from Brooklyn (Leo's home town) who becomes head manicurist at the Waldorf and snags a Maharaja.

Whether Leo is out of a job or not—they won't have to worry about money. Laraine gets $125,000 plus 10 percent of the profits for this stint.

"The Last Chance," made in Switzerland, was recognized both in America and England as one of the best pictures of last year, so I am greatly interested, and I'm sure you will be, to hear that Leopold Lindtberg, its director, and L. Wexler, its producer, arrive in Hollywood very shortly to film one of Peter Vitel's original stories.

That Vitel is something! He sold "The Children" to Milton Sperling, and now William Goetz has bought "The Survivors," a tremendously dramatic story, which will be put on the stage before it's ever made at Universal - International, much after the fashion of "I Remember Mama." I don't know the title of his movie for the Swiss producers.

I always forget that Dennis Morgan is Swedish. He has talked so long with an Irish brogue on the screen and radio, that his fans believe he is as Irish as Mrs. Murphy's potatoes and more so.

Dennis is actually Swedish, and today when I received word that he is to be co-starred with Viveca Lindfors in "To The Victor," I was told the two Swedish players are together.

He can talk Swedish, too, believe it or not, but Viveca tries so hard to speak English he needn't try it on her.

Sensible words that Peter Ustinov, director, spoke when Angela Lansbury, his sister-in-law, and his mother-in-law, Moyna MacGill, met him.

He said England and Hollywood both need more motion pictures written to make the world laugh.

"There's a predominance of films showing different ways to kill," said Ustinov. "Pictures are cloaked in gloom and the whole trend is toward decadence. The world is crying for comedy."

Mr. Ustinov never said a truer word. At the box office, the delightful "Miracle On 34th Street" is cleaning up. "The Egg and I," is one of the all-time money makers, and that's because it's funny. It's not a great picture. The world needs to laugh.

Chatter in Hollywood: The sisters are doing all right, I'd say. I mean Robin Raymond and Roslyn Robin. A few months ago we recorded for you that Robin Raymond had married millionaire Harry Epstein in Las Vegas.

This morning we record that Robin's sister, Roslyn Robin—don't let the names throw you—is also marrying a gentleman with money. Roslyn's bridegroom is Dr. Leonard Lyon, heir to the tooth powder fortune.

He gave her a diamond ring that's big enough for a headlight, and a new car.

Hot, hot, hot now are the preparations for Irving Stone's "Lust for Life," the biography of Vincent Van Gogh, on the MGM lot. Dalton Trumbo has been assigned to write the story, which is the life of this fabulous artist who has become the symbol for other modern painters.

Spencer Tracy has always liked the book and he will probably play Van Gogh, although it will be sometime off for he first has to finish "Cass Timberlane," and then Frank Capra is already on the MGM lot getting "State Of The Union" ready for Spencer.

George Sidney, the director, took a busman's holiday the other day, and took his nine-year-old nephew to a radio broadcast.

On the way home, they ran into one of the kid's playmates who asked them where they had been.

"To a radio broadcast," the Sidneys answered.

"I don't believe it!" retorted the juvenile cynic. "Where's your ice box and vacuum cleaner?"

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Frank Morgan is really serious about taking his yacht to Honolulu, and here I thought it was a gag.

Bing Crosby is back home—and is he happy over the Father's Day honor bestowed upon him by the 97 co-eds at a fashionable girls' school. The girls have adopted him as their honorary father.

Quite a shindig on "The Pirate" set after the picture finished at MGM. Judy Garland gave with a song, Gene Kelly did a dance and both Cole Porter and Irving Berlin entertained. All in all, it was probably the most expensive program (if the performers had been paid) in a long time.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

I've got an idea for one of your little pieces," announced Major Timothy Morgan. "It's yours for a slight consideration."

"Sorry," I said. "My right arm is not detachable. Try some other columnist. Maybe Eleanor Roosevelt."

Billy Rose

The sigh of the self-commissioned Major filled the room with Essence de Bourbon. "I have no designs on your right arm," he pouted. "This transaction involves but a five-pound note. And to think, only yesterday I nearly brought off a $40,000 deal."

"Take it easy, Morgan," I said. "Your name is Timothy, not J. Pierpont."

"By the beard of the prophet," boomed the mountebank. "I was involved in a $40,000 project yesterday. Out at Jamaica. My seven-horse parlay was like money in the bank, until a thieving jockey pulled my horse in the first race, and wiped out my two-dollar investment."

"Things are tough all over," I consoled. "Now what's this notion you have for a column?"

"It's a true story," said the Major, emptying a packet of Sen-Sen on his tongue. "It's the tale of how I got the scar behind my left ear. You've noticed it, no doubt."

"Yes," I said. "But I always thought that was where the bearded lady had kicked you."

"Ah, memories that bless and burn," mused Morgan. "But that's not how I got this scar. This little memento was left there by a Graflex camera. One of the few scars of its kind in existence. I got it twenty years back when I was working on a newspaper."

"You on a newspaper!" I hollered. "What were you doing — posing for Major Hoople cartoons?"

"A little respect for a Union typesetter, if you don't mind," chided Timothy. "I used to roam around the country, setting type, before I took up my present vocation."

"Which is what?" I demanded.

I guess the Major didn't hear me. "I was doing a little hitch on a Midwestern daily," he went on. "In addition to the salary, I made a little extra because some of the boys fancied themselves pretty fair at draw poker. I might still be living there, if it hadn't been for Ethel."

"Why, Major!" I said.

"This was 20 years ago," said Morgan, hastily. "I was much thinner then. Ethel was a waitress—and as well-stacked as the wheatcakes she used to set before me. Our romance had the great drama of the Montagues and the Capulets—only in this case it was I who was opposed to the marriage. It was a doleful day when she threw me over and married the staff photographer on the gazette for which I was setting type. Curse, I never let this lensman know of my affectionate regard for Ethel."

"Good background stuff, Timothy," I remarked. "But when does the story get started?"

"A few months later," said the confidence man, "A bunch of nature lovers set up a nudist camp in the woods back of town. Strange people. They ate dandelions and wrote letters to the paper telling how good it felt to go barefoot all over. The editor decided a few good pictures, plus a stern editorial, would be a cinch to sell out the edition.

"He sent for the staff photographer and told him to join the colony for a week. And, of course, sneak in his click-box.

"The photographer took his wife, Ethel, along on this assignment. Figured it would be easier to crash the colony that way.

"When he got back to the office a week later, the whole staff knocked off and waited for him to develop the film. When he came up from the darkroom in the basement, we all clustered around to look at the pictures. The first half dozen photos were quite disappointing. Not a good-looking gal in the lot. And then he showed us an artistic shot of a buxom lady looking at a sunset. I couldn't help noticing the birthmark on the small of her back. 'Jumping Pehosophat!' I exclaimed. 'That's Ethel!'

"The photographer considered my outburst for a moment. Then he stopped considering and hit me with his Graflex camera. And that's the story of the scar behind the left ear. Is it worth twenty small dollars, deductible on the income tax?"

"Here's the twenty," I said, "but I can't use the story. It's much too racy for my family circulation.'

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

A Russian Objection

Alexander Fortushenko, Soviet Deputy Minister of Communications, voiced his first but probably not his last objection in the first few minutes of the Telecommunications Conference at Atlantic City. Mr. Fortushenko strongly opposed the mention of Marconi in the minutes of the meeting, asserting that the invention of radio was wrongly attributed to Marconi. The real inventor, he said, was Alexander Popov of Russia.

John Crosby

That's a fairly large claim and I have grave doubts that Italy will be willing to cede the credit for the invention of radio to the Russians. However, as a gesture of international amity, I suggest we turn over all claims to a few of our own more notable inventions—if the Russians want inventions. We might pass on to Mr. Popov the invention of that fountain pen that writes under water, for instance, and throw in all those jokes that were written under water with it. That, I think, is as far as we ought to go. If the Russians try to grab the credit for the telephone from Don Ameche, that, sir means war!

Now and then a press release floats in that stimulates a certain amount of thought. Here's one about "David Harding, Counterspy." The name Harding, says this press release, was selected to arouse a certain mental picture. Harding evokes in the mind of Phillips H. Lord, the producer, a picture of a clean-cut, masculine American who came to Washington from the Mid-West to make good, the sort of man who keeps himself in trim by constant workouts in his favorite gymnasium.

Well, I don't know about Mr. Lord's mental reactions but they certainly differ from mine. The name Harding brings up an entirely different mental picture. It suggests, to be specific, a white mane, pouches under the eyes and Harry Daugherty. It suggests a smoke-filled room and midnight poker parties but it certainly doesn't bring up any picture of a gymnasium and clean-out. I'm sure, is not the word. Incidentally, Harding, if you're looking for something to investigate, how about Teapot Dome? There's a subject worthy of counterspy.

As a footnote to the comment on the Fitzgerald breakfast program last week, it might be pointed out that many of the Fitz Gees' fans are of such intense loyalty that they rush out to buy anything and everything they advertise—and they advertise a great many products. A lady phoned in to inform me that her sister who is one of these devoted fans, hurried right out to buy Louis Sherry ice cream when that product was advertised by the Fitz Gees. "And you know," said the lady sadly, "it's so expensive they don't really enjoy it." It's fortunate the Fitzgeralds don't have the Cadillac account.

Two of the most popular records on the disc jockey show at San Quentin prison are "Time on My Hands" and "They Didn't Believe Me."

Whether Leo is out of a job or not—they won't have to worry about money. Laraine gets $125,000 plus 10 percent of the profits for this stint.

"The Last Chance," made in Switzerland, was recognized both in America and England as one of the best pictures of last year, so I am greatly interested, and I'm sure you will be, to hear that Leopold Lindtberg, its director, and L. Wexler, its producer, arrive in Hollywood very shortly to film one of Peter Vitel's original stories.

That Vitel is something! He sold "The Children" to Milton Sperling, and now William Goetz has bought "The Survivors," a tremendously dramatic story, which will be put on the stage before it's ever made at Universal - International, much after the fashion of "I Remember Mama." I don't know the title of his movie for the Swiss producers.

I always forget that Dennis Morgan is Swedish. He has talked so long with an Irish brogue on the screen and radio, that his fans believe he is as Irish as Mrs. Murphy's potatoes and more so.

Dennis is actually Swedish, and today when I received word that he is to be co-starred with Viveca Lindfors in "To The Victor," I was told the two Swedish players are together.

He can talk Swedish, too, believe it or not, but Viveca tries so hard to speak English he needn't try it on her.

Sensible words that Peter Ustinov, director, spoke when Angela Lansbury, his sister-in-law, and his mother-in-law, Moyna MacGill, met him.

He said England and Hollywood both need more motion pictures written to make the world laugh.

"There's a predominance of films showing different ways to kill," said Ustinov. "Pictures are cloaked in gloom and the whole trend is toward decadence. The world is crying for comedy."

Mr. Ustinov never said a truer word. At the box office, the delightful "Miracle On 34th Street" is cleaning up. "The Egg and I," is one of the all-time money makers, and that's because it's funny. It's not a great picture. The world needs to laugh.

Chatter in Hollywood: The sisters are doing all right, I'd say. I mean Robin Raymond and Roslyn Robin. A few months ago we recorded for you that Robin Raymond had married millionaire Harry Epstein in Las Vegas.

This morning we record that Robin's sister, Roslyn Robin—don't let the names throw you—is also marrying a gentleman with money. Roslyn's bridegroom is Dr. Leonard Lyon, heir to the tooth powder fortune.

He gave her a diamond ring that's big enough for a headlight, and a new car.

Hot, hot, hot now are the preparations for Irving Stone's "Lust for Life," the biography of Vincent Van Gogh, on the MGM lot. Dalton Trumbo has been assigned to write the story, which is the life of this fabulous artist who has become the symbol for other modern painters.

Spencer Tracy has always liked the book and he will probably play Van Gogh, although it will be sometime off for he first has to finish "Cass Timberlane," and then Frank Capra is already on the MGM lot getting "State Of The Union" ready for Spencer.

George Sidney, the director, took a busman's holiday the other day, and took his nine-year-old nephew to a radio broadcast.

On the way home, they ran into one of the kid's playmates who asked them where they had been.

"To a radio broadcast," the Sidneys answered.

"I don't believe it!" retorted the juvenile cynic. "Where's your ice box and vacuum cleaner?"

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Frank Morgan is really serious about taking his yacht to Honolulu, and here I thought it was a gag.

Bing Crosby is back home—and is he happy over the Father's Day honor bestowed upon him by the 97 co-eds at a fashionable girls' school. The girls have adopted him as their honorary father.

Quite a shindig on "The Pirate" set after the picture finished at MGM. Judy Garland gave with a song, Gene Kelly did a dance and both Cole Porter and Irving Berlin entertained. All in all, it was probably the most expensive program (if the performers had been paid) in a long time.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their sympathy and kindness in our bereavement, the death of our beloved father, Henry James Bergman. The lovely flowers and cars loaned for the funeral were greatly appreciated.
THE CHILDREN.

A RARE PRIVILEG... FOR YOU IF YO... CAN MEASURE U...

If you have the necessary qualifications, here's your opportunity to "write your own ticket" in the U. S. Army. If you enlist for 3 years, and are eligible you may:

1. Elect to join up with the famous 24th Infantry Division which won historic laurels in the liberation of Corregidor Fortress in the Philippines.
2. After initial training in the U. S. join the hard-fighting "Victory Division" on duty in Japan.
3. Take advantage of the 20% extra pay for overseas service. Starting base pay for Private is $90 a month in addition to food, clothing, good quarters, medical and dental care.
4. Enjoy the exceptional recreation facilities provided for the Army in the Far East — swimming pools, golf courses, tennis courts, baseball diamond, clubs, sightseeing is encouraged.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
In the matter of the petition of John Edward Shetzer.
No. 20081 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
The object of the petition in the above case is to change the name of John Edward Shetzer to that of JOHN EDWARD ALBRIGHT.
The petition states that the petitioner resides in Vale Summit, Allegany County, Maryland, and that the reason for changing the petitioner's name is on account of the conflict between the civil records of the State of Maryland and the official records of the United States Army.
It is thereupon this 2nd day of June, 1947, by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, sitting in Equity, ordered that the petitioner cause a copy of this order with the object and substance of the petition to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for three consecutive weeks, before the 28th day of June, 1947, giving notice to whom it may concern to appear in this court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 10th day of July, 1947, to show cause, if any there be, why a decree shall not be passed as prayed.
GEORGE HENDERSON.

Stock Market Holds Its Equilibrium Despite Diet Of Unfavorable News

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP) — The stock market held its equilibrium today despite a diet of unfavorable news topped by the President's veto of the tax reduction bill.

Except for a few wide movers, price changes generally were limited to fractions.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite finished ahead .1 of a point on the day at 63.4. Of 965 issues registering, there were 361 advances and 369 declined. Transactions totaling 990,000 shares compared with 960,000 last Friday.

Airline and aircraft stocks had to contend with news of the appointment of an inquiry group to examine "the whole problem of air transport safety." United Air Lines dipped 1⅛ to 21¾; Pennsylvania Central Airlines was off five eighths at 7½; United Aircraft 1⅛ at 18¾, and Douglas ⅝ at 52⅛, American Telephone finished off 1½ at 157¾; Norfolk and Western down four at 227. Losers elsewhere included Western Union "A", American, Can. and International Harvester.

Ahead in the Curb were Aluminum Company of America, Humble Oil, Cities Service and Cuban Atlantic Sugar. Turnover of 350,000 shares here compared with 410,000 Friday.

Modest gains were plentiful in the bond market today, but trading was unimpressive and a sizable number of liens lost ground to give the list a spotty appearance.

Sales totaled $3,010,000, compared with $3,210,000 Friday.

Pennsylvania Central Airlines 3⅛s were off a point at 50 and Western Union 5s of '51 lost five-eighths of a point at 88⅜.

Government issues attracted little notice in the over-the-counter market and were mostly unchanged. The Victory Loan 2⅞s of December 1967-72 were off 1-32 at 102 28-32 bid.

Position Of Treasury

Proxy Marriages Valid In Britain

LONDON—(AP)—Marriage by proxy is valid in Britain if the ceremony is valid in the country where it was performed, Lord Justice Merriman ruled in the divorce court here.

The case he was deciding was that of Mrs. Leonie Apt, a German-born refugee from the Nazis, of Middlesex, who, while living in England in 1941, went through a form of marriage with Gunther Apt, a German living in Argentina. Suing for a decree of nullity she contended that her marriage was not recognized by British law.

The ceremony, said Lord Merriman, took place in Buenos Aires and had been proved valid and effectual by the law of Argentina.

FLAG RAISING ON CHRISTMAS IS FOR KEEPS

AP Newsfeatures

HONOLULU — Each sunrise the flags of Britain and the United States are hoisted on Christmas island, and each sundown they are lowered as the two nations amicably preserve their claims to that coral atoll in a 10-year-old dispute.

The island, 1,200 miles south of Hawaii, is valuable as an air station and is the largest atoll in the Pacific, with 60,000 acres.

Twenty-five American soldiers live on one end of the island and a British resident commissioner and his family live at the other. Some Gilbert islanders have been imported by the British to harvest coconuts.

The rival American and British groups visit back and forth as if unaware that their nations disagree over title to the island.

Once a week a plane from Hickam field, Honolulu, takes milk, movies and mail to the American garrison. Occasionally it also carries courtesy cargo for the British.

There is little to do on Christmas except to see that the flags are attended to. Then everybody goes fishing.

Baby Germs Pose For Their Pictures

NEW YORK (AP) — The babyhood of germs is revealed in electron microscope pictures taken by Dr. James Hillier, of the Radio Corporation of America, and Dr. Georges Knaysi, Cornell University cytologist.

The microscope started with spores on a plate covered with a culture medium on which germs can grow. First a spore swelled slightly. Then it cracked, like an egg. Inside a growing cell, the baby germ, was revealed.

This cell divided into two, and those into four, so that presently the little germ had quite a few cells. Then flagella, tail-like hairs, appeared, and the youngster used them to move around.

After an hour or more the germs were nearly adult and after many hours became old and developed spores ready to repeat the life cycle.

The electron microscope, however, failed to show clearly what the germ's internal structure is. These parts were not too small for the electron microscope's great magnification, but were too transparent. The parts consisted of some granules, or very small internal particles.

Housemaids Ready With Organization

LONDON (AP) — Maid service for London housewives is going to be a highly organized industry with the aid of the National Institute of Houseworkers.

Principal aim of the Institute will be an attempt to free the British housewife from the chores of daily domestic routine, leaving her free for family upbringing. Members of the Institute will organize domestic service in Britain like a regular industry, giving it a new status as a skilled craft.

The Institute will supply British families with competent domestic workers trained at special centers, and adopt minimum rates of wages and conditions to which employers of these certified maids must conform.

Tourists To See Polish War Ruins

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland expects to be back in the tourist business this summer, with ruins one of her principal showpieces.

Despite widespread destruction caused by the war and the long Nazi occupation, Poles are looking forward to the day when travelers from many foreign countries will visit their cities, towns and villages.

The government-backed "ORBIS" travel agency is doing much to ease financial difficulties and afford facilities to tourists, for at the official rate of 100 zlotys to each U. S. dollar, one wouldn't get very far in this country. A single good meal at that rate costs $12.00.

The first series of tourists is expected to include 1,000 persons from Sweden and other Scandinavian countries. Groups also are expected from the United States this summer.

Generals Assail Singing

NUERNBERG (AP) — The barber shop quartet on street corners, in lobbies and even in private rooms has drawn forth the official ire of the United States Army in Germany.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief of war crimes prosecution in Nuernberg, and Brig. Gen. Albert Watson have condemned the quartet in a formal notice.

The bulletin went to all American and Allied personnel working on war crimes cases.

DEFIES AUSTRIA REDS—Demands by Communists for drastic changes in the government have been turned down by Chancellor Leopold Figl (above) of Austria. The demands were for stronger representation in the cabinet and closer co-operation with the Russian Government.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In the matter of the petition of John Edward Shetzer.
No. 20081 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
The object of the petition in the above case is to change the name of John Edward Shetzer to that of JOHN EDWARD ALBRIGHT.
The petition states that the petitioner resides in Vale Summit, Allegany County, Maryland, and that the reason for changing the petitioner's name is on account of the conflict between the civil records of the State of Maryland and the official records of the United States Army.
It is thereupon this 2nd day of June, 1947, by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, sitting in Equity, ordered that the petitioner cause a copy of this order with the object and substance of the petition to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for three consecutive weeks, before the 28th day of June, 1947, giving notice to whom it may concern to appear in this court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 10th day of July, 1947, to show cause, if any there be, why a decree shall not be passed as prayed.
GEORGE HENDERSON.

Stock Market Holds Its Equilibrium Despite Diet Of Unfavorable News

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP) — The stock market held its equilibrium today despite a diet of unfavorable news topped by the President's veto of the tax reduction bill.

Except for a few wide movers, price changes generally were limited to fractions.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite finished ahead .1 of a point on the day at 63.4. Of 965 issues registering, there were 361 advances and 369 declined. Transactions totaling 990,000 shares compared with 960,000 last Friday.

Airline and aircraft stocks had to contend with news of the appointment of an inquiry group to examine "the whole problem of air transport safety." United Air Lines dipped 1⅛ to 21¾; Pennsylvania Central Airlines was off five eighths at 7½; United Aircraft 1⅛ at 18¾, and Douglas ⅝ at 52⅛, American Telephone finished off 1½ at 157¾; Norfolk and Western down four at 227. Losers elsewhere included Western Union "A", American, Can. and International Harvester.

Ahead in the Curb were Aluminum Company of America, Humble Oil, Cities Service and Cuban Atlantic Sugar. Turnover of 350,000 shares here compared with 410,000 Friday.

Modest gains were plentiful in the bond market today, but trading was unimpressive and a sizable number of liens lost ground to give the list a spotty appearance.

Sales totaled $3,010,000, compared with $3,210,000 Friday.

Pennsylvania Central Airlines 3⅛s were off a point at 50 and Western Union 5s of '51 lost five-eighths of a point at 88¾.

Government issues attracted little notice in the over-the-counter market and were mostly unchanged. The Victory Loan 2½s of December 1967-'72 were off 1-32 at 102 28-32 bid.

Position Of Treasury

Proxy Marriages Valid In Britain

LONDON—(AP)—Marriage by proxy is valid in Britain if the ceremony is valid in the country where it was performed, Lord Justice Merriman ruled in the divorce court here.

The case he was deciding was that of Mrs. Leonie Apt, a German-born refugee from the Nazis, of Middlesex, who, while living in England in 1941, went through a form of marriage with Gunther Apt, a German living in Argentina. Suing for a decree of nullity she contended that her marriage was not recognized by British law.

The ceremony, said Lord Merriman, took place in Buenos Aires and had been proved valid and effectual by the law of Argentina.

FLAG RAISING ON CHRISTMAS IS FOR KEEPS

AP Newsfeatures

HONOLULU — Each sunrise the flags of Britain and the United States are hoisted on Christmas island, and each sundown they are lowered as the two nations amicably preserve their claims to that coral atoll in a 10-year-old dispute.

The island, 1,200 miles south of Hawaii, is valuable as an air station and is the largest atoll in the Pacific, with 60,000 acres.

Twenty-five American soldiers live on one end of the island and a British resident commissioner and his family live at the other. Some Gilbert islanders have been imported by the British to harvest coconuts.

The rival American and British groups visit back and forth as if unaware that their nations disagree over title to the island.

Once a week a plane from Hickam field, Honolulu, takes milk, movies and mail to the American garrison. Occasionally it also carries courtesy cargo for the British.

There is little to do on Christmas except to see that the flags are attended to. Then everybody goes fishing.

Baby Germs Pose For Their Pictures

NEW YORK (AP) — The babyhood of germs is revealed in electron microscope pictures taken by Dr. James Hillier, of the Radio Corporation of America, and Dr. Georges Knaysi, Cornell University cytologist.

The microscope started with spores on a plate covered with a culture medium on which germs can grow. First a spore swelled slightly. Then it cracked, like an egg. Inside a growing cell, the baby germ, was revealed.

This cell divided into two, and those into four, so that presently the little germ had quite a few cells. Then flagella, tail-like hairs, appeared, and the youngster used them to move around.

After an hour or more the germs were nearly adult and after many hours became old and developed spores ready to repeat the life cycle.

The electron microscope, however, failed to show clearly what the germ's internal structure is. These parts were not too small for the electron microscope's great magnification, but were too transparent. The parts consisted of some granules, or very small internal particles.

Housemaids Ready With Organization

LONDON (AP) — Maid service for London housewives is going to be a highly organized industry with the aid of the National Institute of Houseworkers.

Principal aim of the Institute will be an attempt to free the British housewife from the chores of daily domestic routine, leaving her free for family upbringing. Members of the Institute will organize domestic service in Britain like a regular industry, giving it a new status as a skilled craft.

The Institute will supply British families with competent domestic workers trained at special centers, and adopt minimum rates of wages and conditions to which employers of these certified maids must conform.

Tourists To See Polish War Ruins

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland expects to be back in the tourist business this summer, with ruins one of her principal showpieces.

Despite widespread destruction caused by the war and the long Nazi occupation, Poles are looking forward to the day when travelers from many foreign countries will visit their cities, towns and villages.

The government-backed "ORBIS" travel agency is doing much to ease financial difficulties and afford facilities to tourists, for at the official rate of 100 zlotys to each U. S. dollar, one wouldn't get very far in this country. A single good meal at that rate costs $12.00.

The first series of tourists is expected to include 1,000 persons from Sweden and other Scandinavian countries. Groups also are expected from the United States this summer.

Generals Assail Singing

NUERNBERG (AP) — The barber shop quartet on street corners, in lobbies and even in private rooms has drawn forth the official ire of the United States Army in Germany.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief of war crimes prosecution in Nuernberg, and Brig. Gen. Albert Watson have condemned the quartet in a formal notice.

The bulletin went to all American and Allied personnel working on war crimes cases.

DEFIES AUSTRIA REDS—Demands by Communists for drastic changes in the government have been turned down by Chancellor Leopold Figl (above) of Austria. The demands were for stronger representation in the cabinet and closer co-operation with the Russian Government.

Local Man Posts Bond In Bedford Slot Machine Case

State Police Arrest Norman Dee Beglin

Arrested yesterday morning on a charge of setting up slot machines in Bedford County, Pa., Norman Dee Beglin, this city, entered a plea of guilty when arraigned before Justice of the peace H. Cyril Bingham at Bedford and posted $500 cash bond for his appearance in Quarter Sessions Court July 14 for sentencing, according to District Attorney Paul A. Koontz.

Beglin, a crippled man was taken into custody in Bedford by Trooper George W. Finnin, of the Pennsylvania State Police, after he had gone to the Pennsylvania community to attend a hearing for one of his employes, Irvin Leidig, Hyndman, who was arrested Saturday night on a charge of desertion and non-support of his wife, State Police reported.

Bond Set at $1,000

Leidig, also arraigned before Justice Bingham yesterday morning, was committed to the Bedford County Jail in default of $1,000 bond to await Quarter Sessions Court disposition of the desertion and non-support charges.

Beglin had set up three slot machines—nickel, dime and quarter—in the service station operated by Vernon Reip, on Route 220 about 200 yards north of the Maryland State Line, Pvt. Finnin said, adding that the machines were confiscated June 10 after two state policemen stopped in the station and saw them in operation.

District Attorney Koontz said Beglin probably had the machines in Bedford County for several weeks, and pointed out that outlawing of the devices in Allegany County probably "brought it to a head" in Bedford County.

State Police reported that Koontz always has had a policy that slot machines and other gaming devices are "out" in Bedford County.

Following confiscation of the three machines found at Reip's service station, investigation disclosed that they belonged to Beglin, Pvt. Finnin said, and he was arrested at 11 nin said, and he was arrested at 11 a. m. yesterday after he arrived in Bedford. Finnin said he obtained the warrant for Beglin's arrest.

Every Window Broken

Police explained that Leidig, who they said, installs the machines for Beglin, had been wanted by his wife on a non-support and desertion charge for about a month but could not be taken into custody because he was staying in Maryland.

On Saturday, however, Leidig got drunk, police related, and went to the Hyndman home, owned by Beglin, "declared himself" and broke out every window in the one-story house.

Then he left Hyndman and returned to Maryland, going back to Hyndman again Saturday night where he was taken into custody by Pvt. Finnin who took him to the Bedford County Jail to await a preliminary hearing yesterday.

Council Suggests Memorial In Honor Of Dr. Franklin

The Mayor and Council suggested yesterday that the Cumberland Cancer Clinic be named the "Franklin Clinic for Cancer Research of Cumberland" in "memory of the excellent public service" of Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer here since 1927, who died Sunday in a Baltimore hospital.

The suggestion that Dr. Franklin be honored was made by Commissioner William V. Keegan and was contained in a resolution of respect. Commissioner Keegan said Dr. Franklin will be difficult to replace as most doctors earn more money in private practice than in public health work.

Get Insurance Bids

Bids for auto fleet insurance were received and referred to Finance Commisioner Clifton E. Fuller for a recommendation. The bids follow: Conlon Insurance Agency, $2,052.04; Barnes and Barnard, $1,693.64 Geare-Everstine, $1,089.80 and J. H Holzshu Company, $1,068.07

The council members indicated they are favorably impressed with the suggestion that the Southern Hotel be used for a bus terminal and they asked John T. Fey, attorney for the owner of the property to submit detailed information this week.

Roy C. Weimer was ordered refunded $15.87, representing taxes paid on a property outside the city limits on Bedford Road. Mrs. Frank Kimmell, Keyser, was ordered paid $15.15 for medical expenses in connection with an accident at Bedford and Centre Streets. She reportedly stepped in a sidewalk hole and injured an ankle.

Tanks Approved

Leonard's was given permission to install fuel oil tanks for the Community Baking Company and the Liberty Cleaners. John E. Twigg 1100 Oldtown Road, was given permissioner to install a 550-gallor gasoline tank on his property.

Sgt. Milford L. Crabtree, who is 66 years old and eligible for retirement, asked to be allowed to continue to serve on the Police Department. The request was referred to Commissioner Keegan.

Divorce Granted

A decree was signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster, in Circuit Court yesterday, for Anne W. Pritchett, 414 Federal Street, divorcing her from Charles W. Pritchett, believed a resident of New York. The couple, according to written testimony married May 23, 1942 in New York city and separated September 13, 1945. There are no children.

Baby Is Baptized

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Ort, Jr., 810 Elmwood Lane, was baptized at the morning service in Centre Street Methodist Church Sunday. The child was named "Larry Gilbert." He is the grand son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Ort, Sr., The Dingle.

Ridgeley Legion To Install New Officers Tonight

Newly elected officers of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, W. Va., will be installed tonight at 7 o'clock at a special ceremony at the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club, with S. H. Stone, Shepherdstown, W. Va., commander of the Tenth West Virginia District, as installing officer.

Following the installation a buffet luncheon will be served the members and visitors and from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m., a dance will be held for Legionnaires, members of their families and guests.

The officers, all veterans of World War II, comprise the third set installed in the post since its organization. The post, one of the youngest in its district, has 204 members, 97 per cent of whom are veterans of World War II.

Those to beinshtalled include, Nelson Brant, commander; Gilbert Brant, first vice-president; William Thompson, second vice-president; Ellsworth Thompson, adjutant; Robert Zimmerman, finance officer; Archie Lowe, service officer; Roland Tabler, chaplain; Jack Groves, historian; Alvie Diehl, sergeant-at-arms; William Shuck, Americanism officer; Robert Edenhart, John Brehaney and William Dailey, executive committeemen.

Graham Names District Legion UMT Committee

Mountain District American Legion has begun a program to arouse interest in Universal Military Training, according to Samuel A. Graham, district vice-commander, and a committee has been appointed to carry out the project.

Associate Judge George Henderson and Daniel F. McMullen, both of this city, were named by Graham to assist and advise Col. Randolph Millholland, who was appointed chairman of the UMT committee last week.

At a meeting in Oakland at the home of Proctor-Kildow Post No. 71, Sunday, with 10 of the district's 16 posts represented, the following were named to complete the committee; Thomas F. Conlon, Cumberland; Arthur Ramey, Frostburg; Harold Dudley, Eckhart; Anthony Monahan, Mt. Savage; Chester DeHaven, Corriganville; Harper White, Cresaptown; James Orr, Lonaconing; Thomas Footen, Barton; Alex Hesen, Oakland; John Devlin, Midland; John Shumaker, Accident; Harvey Gortner, Grantsville; William Woods, Fulton Myers (Cumberland); Rev. Jonathan Edwards, Kitzmiller, and Samuel Sions, LaVale.

The program will include lectures and sound films to civic, service, and patriotic organizations, so that more people will get a better understanding of the Universal Military Training program and what it means to the nation as well as the individual youth, Graham explained.

A letter was read from National Commander Paul H. Griffith, who recently visited Frostburg, regarding the charter amendment. Commander Griffith explained that efforts will be made during the national convention to pass a resolution petitioning Congress to amend the charter, making eligible for membership into the organization those drafted into service up to the end of Selective Service, March 31, 1947.

The original charter made those eligible for service who served in some branch of the military between April 6, 1917, to November 11, 1918. An amendment in 1942 made it possible for World War II veterans, serving between December 7, 1941 to September 2, 1945, to join the Legion.

Motorist Enters Suit Against Bus Owners

Erven A. House, through his attorney William H. Geppert, filed a damage suit for $300 against Russell O. Smith and Genevieve A. Yonkers, in Circuit Court yesterday.

The suit charges that a bus owned by the defendants, collided with a car owned by the plaintiffs, on U. S. Route 40, about five and one-half miles east of Cumberland on last March 3, causing damages to the car.

Jaycees Take Two Top Awards At U. S. Convention

Gilchrist Named To Important Committee

David Kauffman, local attorney, official Maryland delegate to the national Junior Chamber of Commerce convention at Long Beach, Calif., has returned home and reports that the Cumberland Jaycees took two top awards in national competition for activities of the past year.

Cumberland Jaycees took first place honors for outstanding accomplishments in project activities in the field of public relations, for cities between 25,000 and 100,000 population, and second honors in the judging for local interest and activity in civic and governmental affairs.

Kauffman said Cumberland was topped in its class only by Pasadena, Calif., which won national honors in its population class and also national honors for all cities. Hutchinson, Kansas, won third place.

The next annual national convention will be held in Philadelphia, Pa., Kauffman said, and he also reported that John Ben Shepard of Glade Water, Texas, was elected national president. Gwynn Edmonds, of Huntington, W. Va., who was a guest speaker at the state convention here last month, was re-elected vice-president.

Kauffman called attention to the fact that the local Jaycees and the State Association endorsed by resolution, Shepard for president, Edmonds for vice-president, and Philadelphia as the 1948 convention city.

William C. Gilchrist and Kenneth Hopwood were local delegates at the Long Beach convention, but have not returned as they motored on to San Francisco, and other points on the west coast. Kauffman made the trip by plane, while his two companion delegates went by car. Gilchrist was named chairman of the election committee for the 1948 convention, one of the most important appointments.

Veteran, Father Of Twin Boys, Seeks Apartment

Friday the 13th is considered lucky for some people and unlucky for others, and Harold Gibson, 201 Paca Street, whose wife, Mrs. Betty Keplinger Gibson, gave birth to twin sons at Memorial Hospital last Friday the 13th is trying to figure it out.

The young veteran and his wife have been living in one room at the Paca Street address, and he is now seeking larger quarters, preferably an apartment, for his family of four.

Physicians have informed Gibson he must find larger living quarters before they will permit his wife and sons to leave the hospital, as four people cannot live properly in one room.

Before the birth of the twins, the couple tried for weeks to find larger quarters, Gibson said, but the search was in vain due to the critical housing condition of Cumberland and vicinity.

Gibson, who is employed as a B. and O. boilermaker, requests that any person having an apartment for rent, telephone him at 4622-M.

City Engineer Grants Grocery Store Permit

N. J. Gellner, Route 1, Woodlawn, LaVale, has secured a permit in the city engineer's office to use a room in the frame building at 518 Shriver Avenue as a grocery store.

Although the building is located in a Residential B zoning district, City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer granted the permit because the premises were previously used as a storage and repair room, which is classified as a business use.

Marie Miller secured a permit to build a two-story frame addition at 101 Potomac Street for use as a storeroom and apartment, at an estimated cost of $3,000. The two-story 11 by 60-foot addition will have a concrete foundation, frame walls and a metal roof.

A permit was granted to James W. Sills to enclose a rear porch, 5 by 8 feet, with frame walls at 404 Hill Street. Cost is estimated at $100.

Veteran, Son Enter V-6 Naval Reserve

A Navy veteran and his son are among the six area men who enlisted in the V-6 inactive naval reserve, according to Francis A. Gilchrist, aviation machinist's mate first class, local recruiter.

The father is Ralph Howard Herring, Frostburg, electrician's mate third class, who served 25 months in the Navy during World War II, and who enlisted in the naval reserve for four years. His son, Andrew Herring, 17, enlisted as an apprentice seaman for a minority term.

Other enlistees are Dennis Vernon Ellifritz, Midland, machinist's mate third class, who served 35 months in the Navy; David Carl Mersing, 50 McCulloh Street, Frostburg, apprentice seaman; Paul William Weisenmiller, 362 Bedford Street, shipfitter second class, a veteran of 37 months' Navy service; and Alfred Mathias Erling, 850 Sperry Terrace, apprentice seaman.

Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division, announced that five area men have been accepted for membership in the division.

They are Carl D. Basley, Piedmont, W. Va., seaman second class, who served 10 months in the Navy; Robert William Cope, 210 Main Street, Ridgeley, W. Va., seaman first class, who served two years; Robert S. Engelbach, 442 Seymour Street, apprentice seaman; Elmer Preston Metz, 450 Waverly Terrace, seaman first class; and Ralph Edward Mahaney, 411 Pennsylvania Avenue, radioman third class, who served 29 months in the Navy.

Hugh Shaffer Rites To Be Held Tomorrow

A funeral mass will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at St. Patrick's Catholic Church for Hugh McMullen Shaffer, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther P. Shaffer, 418 Fayette Street, who died Sunday at his home.

Mr. Shaffer, who was retired from the United States Marine Corps September 1, 1943, because of physical disability incurred in the line of duty, was a member of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, which will have charge of military rites at the grave in SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Capt. Joseph Bruder, USMC, Baltimore; John McAlpine, Thomas B. Finan, Edward D. Finan, John P. Mackey and William C. Jacob.

The body is at the home of his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Hugh A. McMullen, 515 Washington Street.

Accused Of Speeding

Fred H. Bagley, Bedford, Pa., was arrested yesterday on a careless driving charge by Officer Frank A. Shober and will be given a hearing Saturday morning in Police Court. Police said he was speeding on Bedford Street. Bagley posted $10 bond pending the hearing.

Police Boys Club Needs $500 For Camping Cost

Seek Contributions From Local Citizens

Directors of the Cumberland Police Boys Club met last night at Central YMCA and discussed plans for providing a week at camp for at least 100 underprivileged boys, according to Morgan C. Harris, president.

Each year, the club raises funds by voluntary contributions, to send as many of its members to camp as possible. A week at camp for each boy costs $11 and to send 100 boys for a week each a total of $1,100 is needed.

To date, according to members of the board, about $700 has been contributed and an appeal is made for additional contributions to help finance the project.

The board and camp committee learned last night that the Boy Scout Camp will be available this year for the Police Boys' Club, and the week beginning Saturday August 9, was chosen as Police Boys' Club week at the camp.

Lists are being prepared of boys who should have an outdoor vacation and enjoy the recreation away from the city that only a camp can provide, Harris said. A number of persons have contributed liberally to the fund but the board members expressed the hope that an additional $400 or $500 will be contributed in time to send the complete quota of 100 boys.

Purple Heart Passes Resolution Honoring Dr. Joseph P. Franklin

Military Order of Purple Heart, last night passed a resolution of sympathy and tribute, in memory of Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officers, who died in Baltimore Sunday.

Dr. Franklin, who was a veteran of both World War I and World War II, had been named honorary chairman of the Purple Heart convention which will be held here next week,

John Pownall, commander of the chapter, ordered the flag at Purple Heart Center, lowered to half mast until after the convention, as further tribute to Dr. Franklin.

Arrives In Camp

Pvt. Lloyd D. W. Leasure, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Leasure, 425 Columbia Street, Cumberland, has arrived at the Fort Dix Replacement training center for his course in army basic training, from Fort Meade. He attended Allegany High School for one year, prior to entering the army when he enlisted on May 13, this year.

Here Are Some Questions And Answers About The Sales Tax

Question—Will laundry work be taxable under the new retail sales tax act?

Answer—No. This is in a service category.

Q.—Are crutches, hearing aids and artificial limbs exempt from the tax the same as medicines?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Is the farmer to charge a tax on his dairy, garden or field produce?

A.—No. Farm products are specifically exempt, along with all foods "for consumption off the premises" of the seller.

Q.—Must the farmer pay a tax on feeds, fertilizers and seeds used for agricultural purposes?

A.—No. But his purchases of farm machinery are taxable.

Q. How about feed for race horses or riding horses?

A.—It is taxable.

Q.—May a retailer advertise the price of his product as being sold "with sales tax included."

A.—No. He is specifically forbidden from indicating to the public that he is absorbing or assuming any part of the tax.

Q.—Will churches scientific organizations and charitable societies be required to pay a sales tax on their purchases?

A.—Not on any items purchased for "use in carrying out the work of such institution or organization."

Q.—How will they prove to the seller that they represent such an institution or organization?

A.—By presenting an exemption certificate, which is to be provided by the State upon application to the Retail Sales Tax Division.

Q.—Will the dentist charge a sales tax on materials he puts into teeth?

A.—No. But he himself will be required to pay a tax on certain materials he uses in his work, such as gold, silver, cement, etc.

Q.—What items and materials purchased by doctors and dentists are taxable and which ones are exempt?

A.—Sales-tax officials have made specific distinctions, which most of the sellers already know. Among the nontaxable items: Forceps, needles, knives, drills, gauze, tape, medical preparations. Taxable: Operating tables, dental chairs, X-ray machines, gold, silver, impression material.

Q.—Must I pay a sales tax on taxicab fares?

A.—No. This is a service.

G.M. Super Train Visits Cumberland On Tour Of Nation

2,155 Here Visit 'Train Of Tomorrow'

By JOHN P. MOODY

ABOARD THE "TRAIN OF TOMORROW" EN ROUTE TO MARTINSBURG, W. Va., June 16 — There's nothing like it on the road today, a railroad official said, and approximately 20 other persons agreed as General Motor's "Train of Tomorrow" pulled out of Cumberland's B. & O. Queen City Station this afternoon following an hour and 45 minutes exhibition stop in the city.

A passenger stepped to the door and pulled away in fright as the coach door of the dining car began to open almost before he touched it. "That's all right," said one of the officials, "It operates on compressed air, and you don't have to sprain a muscle in opening it."

The air compressed operating door was only a forerunner of what was to come in the way of convenience for persons who will be traveling on the nation's railroads a year from now.

"It's the most modern and supercomfortable train running on railroad tracks today, and a railroad company doesn"t own it yet," one of the guest passengers said in amazement after viewing the day coach. An automobile manufacturer designed and built it.

The 2,155 persons who were lucky enough to go through the train while it was on exhibition from 12 to 1:45 p. m. here yesterday can appreciate the "super out-of-this world feeling that a select few had as they settled back into plush cushioned seats under a maze of glass on the second deck of the observation car and began traveling to Martinsburg, W. Va.

Equipment Is Beautiful

"Take your hat off," said a host to one of the guests as he reclined in the "astra-dome." "And get my head sunburned," replied the guest, "not on your life." But he didn't have anything to worry about because the glass top on the second deck of the coaches specially treated to absorb the sun's heat and let in only the bright light and morale building rays.

The beauty part of the equipment on the "Train of Tomorrow" is that it all adds to the comfort of traveling and each button works at the slightest touch. Take the duplex drawing rooms, where there are two lower and one upper berths that can be opened at any time the occupant desires to sleep. No waiting for the porter to make up your bunk.

Remember how you used to grab hold of each seat as you sauntered up the aisle to get to the rest room? Now instead you can walk a few feet over the velvety carpeted aisles and stop to smell a vase of fresh-cut flowers that are placed on a table, and not one drop of water will splash out on you.

Because it was an exhibition journey and a short one, lasting only for an hour and a half, there was too much to see to permit any of the guests to "just relax" in one of the drop back seats in the astra-domes and enjoy the beautiful views on all four sides, as the train sped toward its destination.

There was the full-coach dining room, where each of the tables was set and a vase of flowers reclined in the center. Not a glass tipped over nor a fork skidded across the opposite side. Persons passing through were not joshed against the back of your chair just when you were ready to lift the coffee cup to your lips.

The bar, with its spacious cocktail lounge jetting away at all angles invited all passers-by to stop for cool refreshments, and enjoyment of the, (of all things on a train,) green and white blended wall paper that furnished a cool atmosphere.

Last Word In Safety

The last word in modern safety precautions as well as comfort and luxury, a fast working fire extinguisher was readily produced when defective wiring sent warning smoke into the one of the compartments during the trip.

Today's trip from Cumberland to Martinsburg, was unusual in other respects, too. The smallest press conference was held since the "Train of Tomorrow" began its nationwide exhibition tour May 26. The approximate two-hour "open-to-public" inspection stop that it made in Cumberland was also the second shortest the train has made. Earlier it stopped in Youngstown, Ohio, for one-hour and 800 persons passed through and "dreamed of traveling" in comforts that until now had been seen only in magazines.

Although the train was a dream of tomorrow, it was placed in the capable hands of Engineer E. O. Keyser, and F. E. Margoff, two Cumberland railroaders, who have years of experience behind the throttles on Baltimore and Ohio Railroad engines, and F. A. Murphy, 572 Patterson Avenue, road foreman of engines, sat in the cab of the Diesel engine and directed operations.

A few facts collected about the train as it "floated" toward Martinsburg, revealed that the coaches with the second deck astra-domes are approximately two-feet higher than the normal passenger coaches now in use. It is gauged for a speed of 120 miles per hour, but of course, is governed by the speed regulations of the railroad company's tracks that it is operating on.

Three-level seating in the diner and in the observation lounge car is one of the outstanding features, while the sleeping car, with accomodations for 20 sleepers in private rooms has chairs in the astra-dome for those who wish to enjoy the scenic advantages of a top-deck seat, in daytime or under the stars.

A refrigerator at the right of the forward vestibule, opening into the kitchen, provides large food storage space and has a capacity to freeze 225 pounds of ice cubes every 24 hours. Within the kitchen itself, are an under-the-counter chef's refrigerator, a fish refrigerator, and a frozen food storage cabinet.

In the pantry there are two service refrigerators, as well as individual cabinets for storage of ice cream and ice cubes. A refrigerated salad counter is also provided.

Unofficial estimates of the highest speed attained from Cumberland to Martinsburg were about 70 miles an hour. But speed, according

Celanese Parley To Resume Today

Negotiations are scheduled to be resumed at 2 p. m. today between the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, in an effort to reach an agreement and end the 17-day strike.

Mrs. Margaret W. Kimble, acting commissioner of labor and industry for Maryland, announced the scheduled meeting, and said she had been in contact with James A. Holden, federal conciliator, who returned to Cumberland yesterday afternoon.

Meanwhile, the Lonaconing Mayor and Council joined the group of district communities urging arbitration of the contract dispute.

At a special meeting last night, the Mayor and Council went on record in favor of arbitrating the issues so that work may be resumed.

At the regular meeting of Lodge 212, Intermnational Association of Machinists, last night, that organization also went on record in support of arbitration.

Thel odge's stand is contained in a letter to Fred T. Small, Amcelle plant manager, which states that its members went on record requesting the Celanese Corporation to arbitrate the dispute "in fairness and justice to all." The letter, signed by C. W. Koser, recording secretary, adds that the lodge feels arbitration will be in the best interest of the community.

Mayor Alex A. Burt and the Lonaconing City Council last night passed a resolution urging arbitration in the strike. Other city councils which have already passed similar resolutions are those of Cumberland, Frostburg, and Ridgeley and Keyser, W. Va.

Bakery Contract Talks To Resume Here This Week

Union Representative Is Expected Today

Contract negotiations between Local 246, Bakery and Confectionery Workers International of America, AFL, and four local bakeries employing about 125 members of the union, are expected to be resumed this week, according to Charles W. Robinette, president of the local.

Contract talks between the union and Master Bakers broke down last month, when efforts to reach a joint contract failed. It was mutually agreed at the time that negotiations would be resumed on an individual basis by the four bakeries.

According to Robinette, the union's international representative, Wesley Reedy, Philadelphia, Pa., is expected to arrive here today and a meeting may be arranged tonight between the union's committee and one of the bakeries.

The contract between the employes and bakers expired May 1, last, but management agreed to make any contract signed retroactive to that date, and employes have continued at work. The union sought, in previous talks, a 30 cent wage increase, union shop, job classifications, paid holidays, and a 40 hour guaranteed work week. Bakeries involved are Schmidt's, Ort's, Community and McIntyre's.

Wage rates in the local bakeries vary from .60 cents an hour for unskilled workers to a maximum of $1.21 per hour for dough mixers, according to union officials. The union contends present wage rates are based on an out-dated apprentice system, and union proposals would bring them in line with rates in similar modern bakery plants.

Union officials are hopeful that negotiations with each bakery separately, will result in reaching a satisfactory agreement.

Local Men Confer With CAB Head

James M. Landis, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, advised Mayor Thomas S. Post and members of the Municipal Airport Commission at a conference last night in Baltimore regarding the best means of securing airline service for Cumberland, according to Mayor Post.

The major, T. Donald Shires, commission secretary, and Thomas Lohr Richards conferred with Landis following the latter's address at a meeting of the Maryland Historical Society, to which Richards belongs.

Landis advised that City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett appear at Middle Atlantic hearings, scheduled to begin in Washington July 7, to make an oral statement on behalf of airline service for Cumberland, which was previously disapproved by a CAB examiner.

He also urged the local group to collect all available information regarding the need for air service here, in preparation for the hearings on the applications of various airlines for service to Cumberland and other cities.

Accused Of Non-Support

Carl F. Williams, Wiley Ford, W. Va., was taken into custody at 10 o'clock last night and City Police said he was wanted in Ridgeley on a non-support charge. Officers James Brown and J. Carl Stouffer made the arrest. Williams later was released to Constable C. V. Barncord.

Angelus Bell Tolls At Unusual Hour

Attendants at St. Patrick's Catholic Church reported early this morning that the angelus bell was caused to toll at midnight either by a short circuit in the electrical system or by someone tampering with the switchbox.

Several persons called the church and the Times-News office when the bell rang at midnight. Ordinarily it tolls only at 6 a. m. and at noon.

Boy, 6, Lost 14 Hours, Found In Garrett County

Lad Is Located Sitting In Tree

A 14-hour search for a missing 6-year-old Garrett County boy ended at 4 a. m. yesterday when the lad was spotted unharmed and unafraid sitting in a tree in the Lost Land Run section by one member of a searching party.

The boy, Eugene Liller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eros Liller, of the Pleasant Valley section, walked off from a "pickup" ball game in the Tasker's Corner section about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon and roamed between four and five miles through a densely wooded area, State Trooper Glen D. Folk reported.

Deputy Sheriff Paul Fisher said the boy climbed the tree when it got dark and sat there until he was located by Reginald Ford, address not learned.

The boy, who had gone with his parents to visit a family by the name of Moon at Tasker's Corner, told Ford, according to Deputy Paul Fisher, of Garrett County, that he was going to see an uncle when he walked off from the ball game.

Liller's parents and the Moon family started a search for the boy when his absence was noticed at the ball game being played in a nearby field.

After a search of the barn and other outbuildings on the Moon farm, neighbors were notified and a searching party was organized, working until about 6 p. m. Sunday when Elmer Upole, senior forest supervisor in Garrett County was notified along with the sheriff's office and Oakland firemen.

Some 50 to 60 men scouring the area were handicapped by the network of dirt roads and numerous crossroads, both Trooper Folk and Deputy Fisher said, but they continued to look for the boy until about midnight when a majority of them stopped to await daylight.

Meanwhile, arrangements were made with a Fayette County detective for use of a bloodhound yesterday morning.

However, some searchers continued to use their automobiles to patrol the roads and Ford spotted the boy about 4 a. m.

Services Are Held For Dr. Franklin

Services for Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, 50, city and county health officer, who died Sunday night at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Baltimore, where he had been a patient for five weeks, were held yesterday afternoon thec hapel of William J. Tickner and Sons Funeral Home, Baltimore. Rev. David C. Watson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, officiated.

The body was taken to Birmingham, Ala., where interment will be made near the grave of his father.

Over 100 persons, including Dr. Robert H. Riley, director, other officials of the State Department of Health and representatives of the Cumberland Health Department, attended the services. The offices of the local Health Department were closed at noon yesterday to permit members of the staff to attend the funeral.

Among those attending from the Health Department were Dr. Winter R. Frantz, assistant city and county health officer; Dr. Carl W. Kolb, dentist for the Health Department; J. Melvin John Connors, Everett, Pa., wanted here on a bad check charge, was released by Bedford County authorities yesterday to County Investigator Terrence J Boyle and is now being held in the county jail.

Bedford County authorities said Connors served two months in jail there and paid a fine of $100 and costs on charges of passing bad checks. He was sentenced April 17.

Local Man Posts Bond In Bedford Slot Machine Case

State Police Arrest Norman Dee Beglin

Arrested yesterday morning on a charge of setting up slot machines in Bedford County, Pa., Norman Dee Beglin, this city, entered a plea of guilty when arraigned before Justice of the peace H. Cyril Bingham at Bedford and posted $500 cash bond for his appearance in Quarter Sessions Court July 14 for sentencing, according to District Attorney Paul A. Koontz.

Beglin, a crippled man was taken into custody in Bedford by Trooper George W. Finnin, of the Pennsylvania State Police, after he had gone to the Pennsylvania community to attend a hearing for one of his employes, Irvin Leidig, Hyndman, who was arrested Saturday night on a charge of desertion and non-support of his wife, State Police reported.

Bond Set at $1,000

Leidig, also arraigned before Justice Bingham yesterday morning, was committed to the Bedford County Jail in default of $1,000 bond to await Quarter Sessions Court disposition of the desertion and non-support charges.

Beglin had set up three slot machines—nickel, dime and quarter—in the service station operated by Vernon Reip, on Route 220 about 200 yards north of the Maryland State Line, Pvt. Finnin said, adding that the machines were confiscated June 10 after two state policemen stopped in the station and saw them in operation.

District Attorney Koontz said Beglin probably had the machines in Bedford County for several weeks, and pointed out that outlawing of the devices in Allegany County probably "brought it to a head" in Bedford County.

State Police reported that Koontz always has had a policy that slot machines and other gaming devices are "out" in Bedford County.

Following confiscation of the three machines found at Reip's service station, investigation disclosed that they belonged to Beglin, Pvt. Finnin said, and he was arrested at 11 nin said, and he was arrested at 11 a. m. yesterday after he arrived in Bedford. Finnin said he obtained the warrant for Beglin's arrest.

Every Window Broken

Police explained that Leidig, who they said, installs the machines for Beglin, had been wanted by his wife on a non-support and desertion charge for about a month but could not be taken into custody because he was staying in Maryland.

On Saturday, however, Leidig got drunk, police related, and went to the Hyndman home, owned by Beglin, "declared himself" and broke out every window in the one-story house.

Then he left Hyndman and returned to Maryland, going back to Hyndman again Saturday night where he was taken into custody by Pvt. Finnin who took him to the Bedford County Jail to await a preliminary hearing yesterday.

Council Suggests Memorial In Honor Of Dr. Franklin

The Mayor and Council suggested yesterday that the Cumberland Cancer Clinic be named the "Franklin Clinic for Cancer Research of Cumberland" in "memory of the excellent public service" of Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer here since 1927, who died Sunday in a Baltimore hospital.

The suggestion that Dr. Franklin be honored was made by Commissioner William V. Keegan and was contained in a resolution of respect. Commissioner Keegan said Dr. Franklin will be difficult to replace as most doctors earn more money in private practice than in public health work.

Get Insurance Bids

Bids for auto fleet insurance were received and referred to Finance Commisioner Clifton E. Fuller for a recommendation. The bids follow: Conlon Insurance Agency, $2,052.04; Barnes and Barnard, $1,693.64 Geare-Everstine, $1,089.80 and J. H Holzshu Company, $1,068.07

The council members indicated they are favorably impressed with the suggestion that the Southern Hotel be used for a bus terminal and they asked John T. Fey, attorney for the owner of the property to submit detailed information this week.

Roy C. Weimer was ordered refunded $15.87, representing taxes paid on a property outside the city limits on Bedford Road. Mrs. Frank Kimmell, Keyser, was ordered paid $15.15 for medical expenses in connection with an accident at Bedford and Centre Streets. She reportedly stepped in a sidewalk hole and injured an ankle.

Tanks Approved

Leonard's was given permission to install fuel oil tanks for the Community Baking Company and the Liberty Cleaners. John E. Twigg 1100 Oldtown Road, was given permissioner to install a 550-gallor gasoline tank on his property.

Sgt. Milford L. Crabtree, who is 66 years old and eligible for retirement, asked to be allowed to continue to serve on the Police Department. The request was referred to Commissioner Keegan.

Divorce Granted

A decree was signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster, in Circuit Court yesterday, for Anne W. Pritchett, 414 Federal Street, divorcing her from Charles W. Pritchett, believed a resident of New York. The couple, according to written testimony married May 23, 1942 in New York city and separated September 13, 1945. There are no children.

Baby Is Baptized

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Ort, Jr., 810 Elmwood Lane, was baptized at the morning service in Centre Street Methodist Church Sunday. The child was named "Larry Gilbert." He is the grand son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Ort, Sr., The Dingle.

Ridgeley Legion To Install New Officers Tonight

Newly elected officers of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, W. Va., will be installed tonight at 7 o'clock at a special ceremony at the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club, with S. H. Stone, Shepherdstown, W. Va., commander of the Tenth West Virginia District, as installing officer.

Following the installation a buffet luncheon will be served the members and visitors and from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m., a dance will be held for Legionnaires, members of their families and guests.

The officers, all veterans of World War II, comprise the third set installed in the post since its organization. The post, one of the youngest in its district, has 204 members, 97 per cent of whom are veterans of World War II.

Those to beinshtalled include, Nelson Brant, commander; Gilbert Brant, first vice-president; William Thompson, second vice-president; Ellsworth Thompson, adjutant; Robert Zimmerman, finance officer; Archie Lowe, service officer; Roland Tabler, chaplain; Jack Groves, historian; Alvie Diehl, sergeant-at-arms; William Shuck, Americanism officer; Robert Edenhart, John Brehaney and William Dailey, executive committeemen.

Graham Names District Legion UMT Committee

Mountain District American Legion has begun a program to arouse interest in Universal Military Training, according to Samuel A. Graham, district vice-commander, and a committee has been appointed to carry out the project.

Associate Judge George Henderson and Daniel F. McMullen, both of this city, were named by Graham to assist and advise Col. Randolph Millholland, who was appointed chairman of the UMT committee last week.

At a meeting in Oakland at the home of Proctor-Kildow Post No. 71, Sunday, with 10 of the district's 16 posts represented, the following were named to complete the committee; Thomas F. Conlon, Cumberland; Arthur Ramey, Frostburg; Harold Dudley, Eckhart; Anthony Monahan, Mt. Savage; Chester DeHaven, Corriganville; Harper White, Cresaptown; James Orr, Lonaconing; Thomas Footen, Barton; Alex Hesen, Oakland; John Devlin, Midland; John Shumaker, Accident; Harvey Gortner, Grantsville; William Woods, Fulton Myers (Cumberland); Rev. Jonathan Edwards, Kitzmiller, and Samuel Sions, LaVale.

The program will include lectures and sound films to civic, service, and patriotic organizations, so that more people will get a better understanding of the Universal Military Training program and what it means to the nation as well as the individual youth, Graham explained.

A letter was read from National Commander Paul H. Griffith, who recently visited Frostburg, regarding the charter amendment. Commander Griffith explained that efforts will be made during the national convention to pass a resolution petitioning Congress to amend the charter, making eligible for membership into the organization those drafted into service up to the end of Selective Service, March 31, 1947.

The original charter made those eligible for service who served in some branch of the military between April 6, 1917, to November 11, 1918. An amendment in 1942 made it possible for World War II veterans, serving between December 7, 1941 to September 2, 1945, to join the Legion.

Motorist Enters Suit Against Bus Owners

Erven A. House, through his attorney William H. Geppert, filed a damage suit for $300 against Russell O. Smith and Genevieve A. Yonkers, in Circuit Court yesterday.

The suit charges that a bus owned by the defendants, collided with a car owned by the plaintiffs, on U. S. Route 40, about five and one-half miles east of Cumberland on last March 3, causing damages to the car.

Jaycees Take Two Top Awards At U. S. Convention

Gilchrist Named To Important Committee

David Kauffman, local attorney, official Maryland delegate to the national Junior Chamber of Commerce convention at Long Beach, Calif., has returned home and reports that the Cumberland Jaycees took two top awards in national competition for activities of the past year.

Cumberland Jaycees took first place honors for outstanding accomplishments in project activities in the field of public relations, for cities between 25,000 and 100,000 population, and second honors in the judging for local interest and activity in civic and governmental affairs.

Kauffman said Cumberland was topped in its class only by Pasadena, Calif., which won national honors in its population class and also national honors for all cities. Hutchinson, Kansas, won third place.

The next annual national convention will be held in Philadelphia, Pa., Kauffman said, and he also reported that John Ben Shepard of Glade Water, Texas, was elected national president. Gwynn Edmonds, of Huntington, W. Va., who was a guest speaker at the state convention here last month, was re-elected vice-president.

Kauffman called attention to the fact that the local Jaycees and the State Association endorsed by resolution, Shepard for president, Edmonds for vice-president, and Philadelphia as the 1948 convention city.

William C. Gilchrist and Kenneth Hopwood were local delegates at the Long Beach convention, but have not returned as they motored on to San Francisco, and other points on the west coast. Kauffman made the trip by plane, while his two companion delegates went by car. Gilchrist was named chairman of the election committee for the 1948 convention, one of the most important appointments.

Veteran, Father Of Twin Boys, Seeks Apartment

Friday the 13th is considered lucky for some people and unlucky for others, and Harold Gibson, 201 Paca Street, whose wife, Mrs. Betty Keplinger Gibson, gave birth to twin sons at Memorial Hospital last Friday the 13th is trying to figure it out.

The young veteran and his wife have been living in one room at the Paca Street address, and he is now seeking larger quarters, preferably an apartment, for his family of four.

Physicians have informed Gibson he must find larger living quarters before they will permit his wife and sons to leave the hospital, as four people cannot live properly in one room.

Before the birth of the twins, the couple tried for weeks to find larger quarters, Gibson said, but the search was in vain due to the critical housing condition of Cumberland and vicinity.

Gibson, who is employed as a B. and O. boilermaker, requests that any person having an apartment for rent, telephone him at 4622-M.

City Engineer Grants Grocery Store Permit

N. J. Gellner, Route 1, Woodlawn, LaVale, has secured a permit in the city engineer's office to use a room in the frame building at 518 Shriver Avenue as a grocery store.

Although the building is located in a Residential B zoning district, City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer granted the permit because the premises were previously used as a storage and repair room, which is classified as a business use.

Marie Miller secured a permit to build a two-story frame addition at 101 Potomac Street for use as a storeroom and apartment, at an estimated cost of $3,000. The two-story 11 by 60-foot addition will have a concrete foundation, frame walls and a metal roof.

A permit was granted to James W. Sills to enclose a rear porch, 5 by 8 feet, with frame walls at 404 Hill Street. Cost is estimated at $100.

Veteran, Son Enter V-6 Naval Reserve

A Navy veteran and his son are among the six area men who enlisted in the V-6 inactive naval reserve, according to Francis A. Gilchrist, aviation machinist's mate first class, local recruiter.

The father is Ralph Howard Herring, Frostburg, electrician's mate third class, who served 25 months in the Navy during World War II, and who enlisted in the naval reserve for four years. His son, Andrew Herring, 17, enlisted as an apprentice seaman for a minority term.

Other enlistees are Dennis Vernon Ellifritz, Midland, machinist's mate third class, who served 35 months in the Navy; David Carl Mersing, 50 McCulloh Street, Frostburg, apprentice seaman; Paul William Weisenmiller, 362 Bedford Street, shipfitter second class, a veteran of 37 months' Navy service; and Alfred Mathias Erling, 850 Sperry Terrace, apprentice seaman.

Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division, announced that five area men have been accepted for membership in the division.

They are Carl D. Basley, Piedmont, W. Va., seaman second class, who served 10 months in the Navy; Robert William Cope, 210 Main Street, Ridgeley, W. Va., seaman first class, who served two years; Robert S. Engelbach, 442 Seymour Street, apprentice seaman; Elmer Preston Metz, 450 Waverly Terrace, seaman first class; and Ralph Edward Mahaney, 411 Pennsylvania Avenue, radioman third class, who served 29 months in the Navy.

Hugh Shaffer Rites To Be Held Tomorrow

A funeral mass will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at St. Patrick's Catholic Church for Hugh McMullen Shaffer, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther P. Shaffer, 418 Fayette Street, who died Sunday at his home.

Mr. Shaffer, who was retired from the United States Marine Corps September 1, 1943, because of physical disability incurred in the line of duty, was a member of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, which will have charge of military rites at the grave in SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Capt. Joseph Bruder, USMC, Baltimore; John McAlpine, Thomas B. Finan, Edward D. Finan, John P. Mackey and William C. Jacob.

The body is at the home of his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Hugh A. McMullen, 515 Washington Street.

Accused Of Speeding

Fred H. Bagley, Bedford, Pa., was arrested yesterday on a careless driving charge by Officer Frank A. Shober and will be given a hearing Saturday morning in Police Court. Police said he was speeding on Bedford Street. Bagley posted $10 bond pending the hearing.

Police Boys Club Needs $500 For Camping Cost

Seek Contributions From Local Citizens

Directors of the Cumberland Police Boys Club met last night at Central YMCA and discussed plans for providing a week at camp for at least 100 underprivileged boys, according to Morgan C. Harris, president.

Each year, the club raises funds by voluntary contributions, to send as many of its members to camp as possible. A week at camp for each boy costs $11 and to send 100 boys for a week each a total of $1,100 is needed.

To date, according to members of the board, about $700 has been contributed and an appeal is made for additional contributions to help finance the project.

The board and camp committee learned last night that the Boy Scout Camp will be available this year for the Police Boys' Club, and the week beginning Saturday August 9, was chosen as Police Boys' Club week at the camp.

Lists are being prepared of boys who should have an outdoor vacation and enjoy the recreation away from the city that only a camp can provide, Harris said. A number of persons have contributed liberally to the fund but the board members expressed the hope that an additional $400 or $500 will be contributed in time to send the complete quota of 100 boys.

Purple Heart Passes Resolution Honoring Dr. Joseph P. Franklin

Military Order of Purple Heart, last night passed a resolution of sympathy and tribute, in memory of Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officers, who died in Baltimore Sunday.

Dr. Franklin, who was a veteran of both World War I and World War II, had been named honorary chairman of the Purple Heart convention which will be held here next week.

John Pownall, commander of the chapter, ordered the flag at Purple Heart Center, lowered to half mast until after the convention, as further tribute to Dr. Franklin.

Arrives In Camp

Pvt. Lloyd D. W. Leasure, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Leasure, 425 Columbia Street, Cumberland, has arrived at the Fort Dix Replacement training center for his course in army basic training, from Fort Meade. He attended Allegany High School for one year, prior to entering the army when he enlisted on May 13, this year.

Here Are Some Questions And Answers About The Sales Tax

Here are some questions and answers about the sales tax which will go into effect in Maryland on July 1.

Question—Will laundry work be taxable under the new retail sales tax act?

Answer—No. This is in a service category.

Q.—Are crutches, hearing aids and artificial limbs exempt from the tax the same as medicines?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Is the farmer to charge a tax on his dairy, garden or field produce?

A.—No. Farm products are specifically exempt, along with all foods "for consumption off the premises" of the seller.

Q.—Must the farmer pay a tax on feeds, fertilizers and seeds used for agricultural purposes?

A.—No. But his purchases of farm machinery are taxable.

Q. How about feed for race horses or riding horses?

A.—It is taxable.

Q.—May a retailer advertise the price of his product as being sold "with sales tax included."

A.—No. He is specifically forbidden from indicating to the public that he is absorbing or assuming any part of the tax.

Q.—Will churches scientific organizations and charitable societies be required to pay a sales tax on their purchases?

A.—Not on any items purchased for "use in carrying out the work of such institution or organization."

Q.—How will they prove to the seller that they represent such an institution or organization?

A.—By presenting an exemption certificate, which is to be provided by the State upon application to the Retail Sales Tax Division.

Q.—Will the dentist charge a sales tax on materials he puts into teeth?

A.—No. But he himself will be required to pay a tax on certain materials he uses in his work, such as gold, silver, cement, etc.

Q.—What items and materials purchased by doctors and dentists are taxable and which ones are exempt?

A.—Sales-tax officials have made specific distinctions, which most of the sellers already know. Among the nontaxable items: Forceps, needles, knives, drills, gauze, tape, medical preparations. Taxable: Operating tables, dental chairs, X-ray machines, gold, silver, impression material.

Q.—Must I pay a sales tax on taxicab fares?

A.—No. This is a service.

G.M. Super Train Visits Cumberland On Tour Of Nation

2,155 Here Visit 'Train Of Tomorrow'

By JOHN P. MOODY

ABOARD THE "TRAIN OF TOMORROW" EN ROUTE TO MARTINSBURG, W. Va., June 16 — There's nothing like it on the road today, a railroad official said, and approximately 20 other persons agreed as General Motor's "Train of Tomorrow" pulled out of Cumberdland's B. & O. Queen City Station this afternoon following an hour and 45 minutes exhibition stop in the city.

A passenger stepped to the door and pulled away in fright as the coach door of the dining car began to open almost before he touched it. "That's all right," said one of the officials, "It operates on compressed air, and you don't have to sprain a muscle in opening it."

The air compressed operatilng door was only a forerunner of what was to come in the way of convenience for persons who will be traveling on the nation's railroads a year from now.

"It's the most modern and supercomfortable train running on railroad tracks today, and a railroad company doesn't own it yet," one of the guest passengers said in amazement after viewing the day coach. An automobile manufacturer designed and built it.

The 2,155 persons who were lucky enough to go through the train while it was on exhibition from 12 to 1:45 p. m. here yesterday can appreciate the ":super out-of-this world feeling that a select few had as they settled back into plush cushioned seats under a maze of glass on the second deck of the observation car and began traveling to Martinsburg, W. Va.

Equipment Is Beautiful

"Take your hat off," said a host to one of the guests as he reclined in the "astra-dome." "And get my head sunburned," replied the guest, "not on your life." But he didn't have anything to worry about because the glass top on the second deck of the coaches specially treated to absorb the sun's heat and let in only the bright light and morale building rays.

The beauty part of the equipment on the "Train of Tomorrow" is that it all adds to the comfort of traveling and each button works at the slightest touch. Take the duplex drawing rooms, where there are two lower and one upper berths that can be opened at any time the occupant desires to sleep. No waiting for the porter to make up your bunk.

Remember how you used to grab hold of each seat as you sauntered up the aisle to get to the rest room? Now instead you can walk a few feet over the velvety carpeted aisles and stop to smell a vase of fresh-cut flowers that are placed on a table, and not one drop of water will splash out on you.

Because it was an exhibition journey and a short one, lasting only for an hour and a half, there was too much to see to permit any of the guests to "just relax" in one of the drop back seats in the astra-domes and enjoy the beautiful views on all four sides, as the train sped toward its destination.

There was the full-coach dining room, where each of the tables was set and a vase of flowers reclined in the center. Not a glass tipped over nor a fork skidded across the opposite side. Persons passing through were not joshed against the back of your chair just when you were ready to lift the coffee cup to your lips.

The bar, with its spacious cocktail lounge jetting away at all angles invited all passers-by to stop for cool refreshments, and enjoyment of the, (of all things on a train,) green and white blended wall paper that furnished a cool atmosphere.

Last Word In Safety

The last word in modern safety precautions as well as comfort and luxury, a fast working fire extinguisher was readily produced when defective wiring sent warning smoke into the one of the compartments during the trip.

Today's trip from Cumberland to Martinsburg, was unusual in other respects, too. The smallest press conference was held since the "Train of Tomorrow" began its nationwide exhibition tour May 26. The approximate two-hour "open-to-public" inspection stop that it made in Cumberland was also the second shortest the train has made. Earlier it stopped in Youngstown, Ohio, for one-hour and 800 persons passed through and "dreamed of traveling" in comforts that until now had been seen only in magazines.

Although the train was a dream of tomorrow, it was placed in the capable hands of Engineer E. O. Keyser, and F. E. Margoff, two Cumberland railroaders, who have years of experience behind the throttles on Baltimore and Ohio Railroad engines, and F. A. Murphy, 572 Patterson Avenue, road foreman of engines, sat in the cab of the Diesel engine and directed operations.

A few facts collected about the train as it "floated" toward Martinsburg, revealed that the coaches with the second deck astra-domes are approximately two-feet higher than the normal passenger coaches now in use. It is gauged for a speed of 120 miles per hour, but of course, is governed by the speed regulations of the railroad company's tracks that it is operating on.

Three-level seating in the diner and in the observation lounge car is one of the outstanding features, while the sleeping car, with accomodations for 20 sleepers in private rooms has chairs in the astra-dome for those who wish to enjoy the scenic advantages of a top-deck seat, in daytime or under the stars.

A refrigerator at the right of the forward vestibule, opening into the kitchen, provides large food storage space and has a capacity to freeze 225 pounds of ice cubes every 24 hours. Within the kitchen itself, are an under-the-counter chef's refrigerator, a fish refrigerator, and a frozen food storage cabinet.

In the pantry there are two service refrigerators, as well as individual cabinets for storage of ice cream and ice cubes. A refrigerated salad counter is also provided.

Unofficial estimates of the highest speed attained from Cumberland to Martinsburg were about 70 miles an hour. But speed, according

Celanese Parley To Resume Today

Negotiations are scheduled to be resumed at 2 p. m. today between the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, in an effort to reach an agreement and end the 17-day strike.

Mrs. Margaret W. Kimble, acting commissioner of labor and industry for Maryland, announced the scheduled meeting, and said she had been in contact with James A. Holden, federal conciliator, who returned to Cumberland yesterday afternoon.

Meanwhile, the Lonaconing Mayor and Council joined the group of district communities urging arbitration of the contract dispute.

At a special meeting last night, the Mayor and Council went on record in favor of arbitrating the issues so that work may be resumed.

At the regular meeting of Lodge 212, Intermnational Association of Machinists, last night, that organization also went on record in support of arbitration.

Thel odge's stand is contained in a letter to Fred T. Small, Amcelle plant manager, which states that its members went on record requesting the Celanese Corporation to arbitrate the dispute "in fairness and justice to all." The letter, signed by C. W. Koser, recording secretary, adds that the lodge feels arbitration will be in the best interest of the community.

Mayor Alex A. Burt and the Lonaconing City Council last night passed a resolution urging arbitration in the strike. Other city councils which have already passed similar resolutions are those of Cumberland, Frostburg, and Ridgeley and Keyser, W. Va.

Bakery Contract Talks To Resume Here This Week

Union Representative Is Expected Today

Contract negotiations between Local 246, Bakery and Confectionery Workers International of America, AFL, and four local bakeries employing about 125 members of the union, are expected to be resumed this week, according to Charles W. Robinette, president of the local.

Contract talks between the union and Master Bakers broke down last month, when efforts to reach a joint contract failed. It was mutually agreed at the time that negotiations would be resumed on an individual basis by the four bakeries.

According to Robinette, the union's international representative, Wesley Reedy, Philadelphia, Pa., is expected to arrive here today and a meeting may be arranged tonight between the union's committee and one of the bakeries.

The contract between the employes and bakers expired May 1, last, but management agreed to make any contract signed retroactive to that date, and employes have continued at work. The union sought, in previous talks, a 30 cent wage increase, union shop, job classifications, paid holidays, and a 40 hour guaranteed work week. Bakeries involved are Schmidt's, Ort's, Community and McIntyre's.

Wage rates in the local bakeries vary from .60 cents an hour for unskilled workers to a maximum of $1.21 per hour for dough mixers, according to union officials. The union contends present wage rates are based on an out-dated apprentice system, and union proposals would bring them in line with rates in similar modern bakery plants.

Union officials are hopeful that negotiations with each bakery separately, will result in reaching a satisfactory agreement.

Local Men Confer With CAB Head

James M. Landis, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, advised Mayor Thomas S. Post and members of the Municipal Airport Commission at a conference last night in Baltimore regarding the best means of securing airline service for Cumberland, according to Mayor Post.

The major, T. Donald Shires, commission secretary, and Thomas Lohr Richards conferred with Landis following the latter's address at a meeting of the Maryland Historical Society, to which Richards belongs.

Landis advised that City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett appear at Middle Atlantic hearings, scheduled to begin in Washington July 7, to make an oral statement on behalf of airline service for Cumberland, which was previously disapproved by a CAB examiner.

He also urged the local group to collect all available information regarding the need for air service here, in preparation for the hearings on the applications of various airlines for service to Cumberland and other cities.

Accused Of Non-Support

Carl F. Williams, Wiley Ford, W. Va., was taken into custody at 10 o'clock last night and City Police said he was wanted in Ridgeley on a non-support charge. Officers James Brown and J. Carl Stouffer made the arrest. Williams later was released to Constable C. V. Barncord.

Angelus Bell Tolls At Unusual Hour

Attendants at St. Patrick's Catholic Church reported early this morning that the angelus bell was caused to toll at midnight either by a short circuit in the electrical system or by someone tampering with the switchbox.

Several persons called the church and the Times-News office when the bell rang at midnight. Ordinarily it tolls only at 6 a. m. and at noon.

Boy, 6, Lost 14 Hours, Found In Garrett County

Lad Is Located Sitting In Tree

A 14-hour search for a missing 6-year-old Garrett County boy ended at 4 a. m. yesterday when the lad was spotted unharmed and unafraid sitting in a tree in the Lost Land Run section by one member of a searching party.

The boy, Eugene Liller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eros Liller, of the Pleasant Valley section, walked off from a "pickup" ball game in the Tasker's Corner section about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon and roamed between four and five miles through a densely wooded area, State Trooper Glen D. Polk reported.

Deputy Sheriff Paul Fisher said the boy climbed the tree when it got dark and sat there until he was located by Reginald Ford, address not learned.

The boy, who had gone with his parents to visit a family by the name of Moon at Tasker's Corner, told Ford, according to Deputy Paul Fisher, of Garrett County, that he was going to see an uncle when he walked off from the ball game.

Liller's parents and the Moon family started a search for the boy when his absence was noticed at the ball game being played in a nearby field.

After a search of the barn and other outbuildings on the Moon farm, neighbors were notified and a searching party was organized, working until about 6 p. m. Sunday when Elmer Upole, senior forest supervisor in Garrett County was notified along with the sheriff's office and Oakland firemen.

Some 50 to 60 men scouring the area were handicapped by the network of dirt roads and numerous crossroads, both Trooper Polk and Deputy Fisher said, but they continued to look for the boy until about midnight when a majority of them stopped to await daylight.

Meanwhile, arrangements were made with a Fayette County detective for use of a bloodhound yesterday morning.

However, some searchers continued to use their automobiles to patrol the roads and Ford spotted the boy about 4 a. m.

Services Are Held For Dr. Franklin

Services for Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, 50, city and county health officer, who died Sunday night at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Baltimore, where he had been a patient for five weeks, were held yesterday afternoon from the chapel of William J. Tickner and Sons Funeral Home, Baltimore. Rev. David C.
